Temperatures To Yo-Yo In Air Clash

By BON SUDLOW

Soggy snowflakes gave Greater Victoria up to a one-inch blanket of slush this morning and more is expected tonight and Tuesday.

Two Killed In Storm Accidents

Accidents attributed to ice and slush claimed two lives on Vancouver Island over the weekend.

Constable Reginald Williams, 21, of Portage La Prairie, Man., died Saturday when his patrol car plunged into the icy waters of Sooke Harbor.

And logger Gordon Wilson, of Cumberland, was killed while changing the wheel on a car about 1½ miles south of Union Bay.

Const. Williams was trapped in his car when it slid off the icy Government Wharf into 10 feet of water.

It was about 10:15 p.m. when he drove on to the wharf on a routine patrol.

He went along the narrow ramp and was turning in a parking area at the end when his car went out of control and fell 18 feet into the water.

Local fisherman Gunnar Jacobsen said he saw the rear of the car disappearing over the side.

GAVE ALARM

After giving the alarm he rowed out in his skiff to the point where the car went down.

Within 10 minutes police had a wrecker on the scene. Using a hook to fasten on to the sunk car's back bumper, the rescue team had the con-

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Victoria continues to be on the fringe of a struggle between warm air from the Pacific and Arctic air from the north and east.

This will cause the mercury to yo-yo as the air masses battle it out.

For example, the temperature early this morning was 38 degrees, but plummeted to freezing at noon.

"Our temperatures are still well below normal. It's milder (than last week), yet it's cool."

Heavier snow crept as close as the northern end of the Saanich peninsula which reported a total of five inches today and the Malahat which received another two inches.

WINTER STARTS

Winter, incidentally, officially began at 11:50 a.m. when the sun reached its farthest point south of the equator.

Today is the shortest day of the year. The sun rose at 8:03 a.m. and sunset was scheduled for 4:21 p.m.

Today's wet snowstorm was caused by moist air from the Pacific bound for the U.S. coast. As it passed over, cooler air was drawn down from the north.

This is expected to continue and temperatures for tonight and Tuesday are forecast to range between 33 and 42 degrees.

GALE-FORCE

Winds will come from the east with gusts up to a gale-force 35 m.p.h.

Road conditions here were regarded as treacherous over the weekend as melting snow glazed pavement on local streets when it re-froze.

Greater Victoria police departments reported 35 minor accidents, mostly due to slip-

$500,000 HAUL

Bandits Raid Armored Car

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—Three bandits wearing Halloween masks tied up three priests in a church rectory today and then took more than $500,000 from a bank armored truck that stopped to pick up Sunday collections.

It took just about 15 minutes for fast moving bandits to execute the holdup.

F. Raymond Peterson, board chairman of the First National Bank of Passaic County, said $511,000 was taken from the truck and $1,100 from a safe in the rectory.

The robbery, completed minutes before a funeral mass was to begin in the huge church, was pulled off with all the daring of the 1930 Brink's Robbery in Boston, in which $12 million in cash was taken and the 1962 Plymouth, Mass., robbery of a mail truck which netted $1.5 million.

DOUBLE LOAD

A bank spokesman said the amount taken today was about twice as much as the truck normally carries. He said this was because of the short work week brought on by the Christmas holidays, thus necessitating earlier deliveries to branch banks.

The spokesman said the truck had left the bank's main office en route to make three church pickups and three cash deliveries to branch banks.

"The truck makes different runs, at different times to avoid just something like this. But apparently somebody had been pretty smart in this thing," the spokesman said.

The stop at the rectory of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church was the first of the day. It was just 1½ miles from the bank.

A priest in an upstairs room of the rectory said he heard a fellow clergyman screaming while the robbery was in progress, but paid no attention because "I thought he was fooling... he's always singing out loud."

Small Miracles Brighten Season

By MARGE GILROY

Miracles still happen. And there is probably one woman who has witnessed more miracles than any other single person.

She is Dr. Lotta Hitschmannova, director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

On a recent visit here she referred to the rebirth of Europe through the Marshall Plan, the economic expansion of Europe through the Common Market, the Far Eastern revolution in Japan and the improved living standards in India in spite of an increasing number of new mouths to feed each year, all as miracles.

But the miracles were not all of this magnitude.

Another centred around a two-wheeled wooden cart.

A man and a wife in Korea were unemployed. They had no money and no hope of ever earning any money to buy food for their family. In fact they had no hope at all, until one day the USC bought them an ordinary wooden cart.

SELL COAL

Today they push the cart through the streets from dawn to dusk, selling brown coal to those who can afford it. They are earning a living. They are eating, and they have hope.

Ship Grounds In Aleutians, 40 Men Lost

Three Ride Battered U.S. Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—A cracked and imperilled American freighter wallowed helplessly in the stormy Atlantic today, with the captain and two crew members still aboard.

The 7,600-ton freighter, the Smith Voyager, was listing to starboard at about 35 degrees.

Except for the master, Capt. Frederick W. Mohle, 59, and the other two men, the crew abandoned her Sunday. Another ship picked up 34 men, and the bodies of four others who died in the operation.

One man, of the crew of 42, was unaccounted for.

The rescue ship, the German freighter Mathilde Bolten, steamed toward Puerto Rico, reporting that some of the survivors urgently needed medical care.

Meanwhile, the 311-foot coast guard cutter Rockaway radioed that it had reached the stricken vessel, cracked amidship and drifting without power about 780 miles east southeast of Bermuda.

The cutter radioed, "standing by for improvement in the seas, with plans to put aboard boarding party if feasible."

High winds and waves of 15 to 20 feet blocked any direct contact with the crippled vessel.

THREE STILL ABOARD

However, signals determined that the three men still were aboard the ship.

There was no radio communications with them.

As to why the captain, a New York veteran of 40 years at sea, had stayed aboard, along with the two others, at the time of the abandonment, there was no definite explanation.

The 450-foot freighter, carrying 10,000 tons of grain, was bound from The Bahamas to Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, when slipping cargo burst her seams.

The break in No. 4 hold, just aft the midship deckhouse, was reported to be taking water, and causing the extreme list in the ship. Her decks were awash.

Her main steam joint also was broken, leaving her without power.

As to whether she would sink, a coast guard spokesman said, "It's hard to say. She's been afloat for 24 hours now."

Four of the survivors taken aboard the German ship were reported injured. Extent of the injuries was not learned. The Mathilde Bolten has no doctor aboard.

Through a vast computer system which keeps track of ships at sea and their complements, the coast guard was attempting to find one with a doctor and set up a rendezvous with the Mathilde Bolten. The latter was expected to reach San Juan by Wednesday evening.

Seas in the area were reported at up to 15 feet with winds at 25 to 30 knots.

The Norwegian vessel Hoegh Fulmar, out of Oslo, stood by the crippled freighter awaiting the cutter Rockaway.

Carrying Cargo From Vancouver

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A Liberian freighter bound from Vancouver to Japan with 30 to 40 men aboard has run aground and all aboard are feared to have perished.

The U.S. Coast Guard station here said today a U.S. Navy plane from Adak sighted the "badly battered" freighter aground on Ulak Island, about 130 miles west of Adak in the Aleutians.

There was no sign of survivors, the aircraft reported during the flight over the smashed ship.

The ship was identified as the San Patrick, a 251-foot converted tanker registered to Manor Investment Company of Liberia. She was carrying a load of wheat and cattle feed to Yokohama.

Winds of 30 to 40 knots and heavy rains lashed the area, kicking up waves 20 to 30 feet tall.

THREE DISTRESS CALLS

The coast guard said the ship sent three SOS calls, the first picked up at 10:40 p.m. PST Thursday.

The call was also heard by a Japanese carrier, the Petso Maru, which radioed she was in the area and en route to the scene.

The San Patrick reported she was "grounded by the bow" and gave her position as off Amatignak Island, approximately 12 miles south-southwest of Ulak.

The navy search plane located the San Patrick at 2 p.m. Sunday. Despite the high seas and limited visibility, surface and aircraft searched the area principally to the northwest of Ulak, where the lifeboats could have been carried by the seas and wind.

The group of islands around Ulak were scanned but no signs of life were found. The San Patrick carried four lifeboats, one powered.

(The 10,702-ton vessel arrived off Victoria Dec. 9 to drop pilot and proceeded on her ill-fated voyage.)

Joe Doesn't Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Mystery was compounded by further mystery today in the case of the missing Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, boss of the underworld Cosa Nostra clan.

Bonanno failed to make an appearance as advertised today to go before a racket-investigating grand jury.

Tot Tests Car Skill; Two Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Robert Brooks, 32, was proud of his seven-year-old son's ability to drive a car.

On Sunday, therefore, he took the rest of his family to the Hialeah Race Track parking lot to watch the boy demonstrate. Police Sgt. Robert Frost said.

The boy, whose name was withheld, was driving around the huge parking lot when the car picked up speed sharply, apparently spun out of control and headed toward Brooks and his eight-year-old daughter, Deborah, Frost said.

Brooks jumped toward Deborah, apparently trying to knock her out of the car's path. He was too late. The car crushed him to death, and Deborah died four hours later in hospital.

36 Killed As Trains Hit in Fog

VILLAHERMOSA, Mexico (AP)—A speeding freight train rammed into the back of a halted passenger train in dense fog near here Sunday, killing 36 persons and injuring 75. Three of the injured were American tourists.

Nils Werner of Alhambra, Calif., was reported in critical condition. His right arm had been amputated and he was in danger of losing a leg.

The accident occurred at the mountain village of Tacotalpa, 45 miles south of this capital of Tabasco State in southeastern Mexico. The area is about 600 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Authorities blamed the wreck on the fog and lack of attention on the part of the engineer of the freight train. A member of the freight train crew said the engineer had apparently been dozing and did not see the stopped train until too late. The engineer fled from the scene.

GUTTY SWEDE WINS

He's a Creampuff Champ, But Unbeaten at Eatin'

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) A local "world champion" was crowned here Sunday after a savage scrap in the ancient and manly Nordic art of feasting on outsize holiday meals.

The battle of gluttons at a Goteborg restaurant was fought out by two reputed local gourmands.

Still champion is Sten-Ake Ceredhoek, 52. He felled his opponent in the final round by partaking of 8.92 pounds of food from a Christmas table of some 60 courses.

The young challenger, Ake

Eriksson, 33, stayed at a consumption of 8.90 pounds.

The combatants were weighed before and after the siege of the smorgasbord, under supervision of the Goteborg Professional Eating Commission. Champion Ceredhoek, weighed in at 233.20 pounds, while the challenger registered 229.68.

The bout lasted two hours, until defending champion Ceredhoek felled his opponent for a TKO with 2½ ounces of pastepuffs and jam.

As the bell went for round five, the challenger stayed in his corner complaining about stomach pains. Both fighters had passed the 8½-pound mark.

But the eating game is a tough business and valiant Eriksson ground his teeth and decided to hang on, weakly taking some coffee. The champion saw the opening and moved in for the kill. He delivered a decisive blow by ordering pastepuff twists with jam with his coffee. The challenger turned green and crumpled before this unbeatable combination.

Following is an abbreviated list of the main courses:

Four different kinds of herring (one with mustard); rolled ox meat; salted salmon; smoked eel; halibut; matured raw in the earth; fish mayonnaise; smoked whitefish; whitefish roe eggs; smoked reindeer steak; lightly salted spareribs; pork back stuffed with plums; smoked pork loin; cured ham; salted

pig's head; pressed calf's brain; baked liverpaste; aspic of shrimps; cold roast beef; German liverwurst; herring salad; cold duck; cold turkey; wood grouse; woodcock; galantine of cock; cold ox fillet; baked game pie; cold reindeer back; chicken chandroid; stuffed goose; cold creamed turbot; cold rolls of brill; cold salmon; jellyed trout; mousse of lobster; gratin of herring; "Jansson's temptation" (very salty anchovies with fine-cut potatoes, oven-baked); salmon pudding; "minced lindstrom" (small ham burgers with chopped beets); bread dipped in hot grease; sausage pie; kidney saute; small cocktail sausages with scrambled eggs; meatballs; red cabbage; assorted cheeses and fruits; raisins and nuts.

Seems a lot o' folks will be glad t' drink in th' beauty in McPherson Theatre but not t' drink in th' theatre.

'Tain't snow, 'tain't rain, 'tain't ours.

If you're driven t' drink, don't drive away from it.

REUNITED in East Berlin by brief opening of the Communist wall, a brother and sister tenderly embrace. West Berliners are allowed to visit relatives and friends behind the Iron Curtain during the Christmas holidays. (AP Wirephoto)

SPLIT LIKELY

Balcer Awaits Que. Caucus

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Quebec Conservative chieftain Leon Balcer said today he would make a final decision on whether to break away from his party following a mid-January caucus of his Quebec colleagues.

Flanked by one of his staunch supporters, Paul Martineau (Pontiac-Temiscamingue), Balcer told a news conference he was "seriously considering" sitting as an independent.

The decision would come before Parliament re-opens Feb. 16 after his Quebec colleagues had been consulted, he said, adding that reaction in his constituency over the weekend had been favorable.

Martineau, while not going as far as Balcer, said that any decision taken by the Quebec leader would cause him and others to reassess their position.

"We all recognize Mr. Balcer as the Quebec leader," he said. "Many if not most will be greatly interested in his decision."

At the same time that the two men were speaking to newsmen, Diefenbaker was declining any direct comment on the reports of Balcer's move which were publicized over the weekend.

He said he had not been informed of the split and had not spoken recently to either Balcer or Martineau.

Diefenbaker did go out of his way to stress that Balcer was not the deputy leader of the Conservative party.

"There is not, nor has there ever been a deputy leader and it would take a change in the constitution of the Conservative Party for such a position," Diefenbaker said.

Balcer himself refused to comment on anything involving Diefenbaker.

He also would not elaborate on his reasons for considering a break which he described as a "very serious decision and not one to be taken lightly."

He had no comment when asked if he would enter any future Conservative leadership convention, and said he had not been approached and was not interested in joining any other political party.

The move would mean that Balcer would for the time being divorce himself from the body of the Conservative party.

In his own words he would be an "Independent Independent" and not an Independent-Conservative like Douglas Harkness.

He could take three other of the 10 Quebec Tories with him. Martineau would be a leading prospect and possibly Remi Paul (Berthier-Maskinonge-Delaunay) and Gerard Girouard (Lafayette).

Burnham Pledges Ruthless Stance

GEORGETOWN (Reuters)—British Guiana's new premier, Forbes Burnham, pledged Saturday night that his government will stamp out "firmly and ruthlessly" any attempt to disrupt calm and steady progress in this British colony.

Broadcasting for the first time as premier, Burnham charged the previous government of Cheddi Jagan with nepotism and corruption.

"Changes are necessary and changes will be made; but no one who is honest and possessed of ability need have the least apprehension."

Jagan said Sunday the new Burnham government is totally unacceptable.

He said it was "the bastard premature child of colonialism," put into office nearly a year before his own term had expired.

TEMPERATURES

perry streets Saturday and Sunday.

Weekend air traffic out of Patricia Bay Airport was halted and up-Island bus schedules disrupted.

B.C. Ferries, however, remained on schedule.

But the remainder of Vancouver Island is still snow-bound, experiencing slippery streets, clogged highways, power cut-offs and sub-or near-freezing temperatures.

The Alberni-Tofino Road Saturday night claimed a dozen autos until they could be freed by graders Sunday morning.

The road was covered by two feet of snow and forced passengers of three cars to sleep in them.

Duncan roads were covered by slush early today, but it began slowing heavily later. Snow had reached 16.5 inches over the weekend but had melted to four inches this morning.

PHONES OUT

Snow-laden trees falling on power lines cut telephone service in the Cowichan Valley and power breaks were reported at Lake Cowichan, Thetis Island and Ganges.

Nanaimo this morning experienced a mixture of rain and snow, but graders had dumped piles up to five feet on the road-sides. Eighteen inches remained on the ground.

Skiing was halted at Green Mountain because the access road was clogged.

Temperature in the Alberni was above freezing today with three inches of snow on the ground. It was banked up to three feet along the roads.

Port Alberni was the only major up-Island community to escape a rash of auto accidents. Only one minor mishap was reported over the weekend.

Weekend rain in the Comox Valley brought the snowfall total down to 10 inches from two feet but low temperatures overnight left roads covered with ice.

Campbell River this morning reported a total of 18 inches and below-freezing temperatures.

Ship Crew Dies

TOKYO (AP)—The entire 33-man crew of the Japanese trawler Uji Maru, 535 tons, is presumed to have died in a shipwreck off the coast of West Africa, the ship's owners announced today.

Observers said there were indications that Khan might not have fully agreed with the action carried out by the young officers.

Khan outlined the main provisions of the new move in a telephone conversation with Taylor. But American officials were not sure of Khan's role, if any, in the coup.

Sources said American officials have also refused to accept the position where the legitimate civilian government has responsibility to run the country with the armed forces looking over its shoulder and holding the real power.

At present the U.S. mission in Saigon was reserving its position concerning what pressures—if any—it may use to force a backdown by the generals.

The possibility of some kind of threat or ultimatum was not ruled out by reliable sources, but none has so far been made.

CALGARIANS FEEL CHILL

CALGARY (CP)—An early-morning low of 25 degrees below zero today gave Calgary its coldest Dec. 21. The earlier mark was in Dec. 21, 1924, when the thermometer dipped to 17 degrees below.

Immigrants 'Illegally Jailed'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada said today that Giuseppe and Rocco Violi, 24-year-old Italian immigrant twins, have been held illegally in Montreal's Bordeaux jail for eight months under a warrant issued by Immigration Minister Tremblay.

The court in a 6-to-3 decision granted an appeal by the Violi brothers for a court ruling quashing deportation orders issued against them some two years ago. Its ruling reversed a decision by the Quebec Appeal Court.

"The appeal is allowed, the detention of Rocco and Giuseppe Violi declared illegal and it is directed that they be released, from detention forthwith," the court's majority judgment said.

Giuseppe and Rocco, whose appeal was argued in the Supreme Court by Montreal lawyer A. H. J. Zaitlin, entered Canada as landed immigrants Dec. 28, 1959. Giuseppe was convicted in Montreal Dec. 22, 1961, for failing to stop his automobile at the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a fine. Rocco was convicted July 20, 1960, of causing bodily harm with a knife and was sentenced to jail for six months.

As a result of these convictions, Giuseppe was ordered deported Oct. 16, 1962, and Rocco Feb. 1, 1961. Their appeals to the immigration appeal board were dismissed.

On Dec. 10, 1962, Giuseppe received a letter from the immigration department saying his deportation would be suspended for six months provided no unfavorable report was received during this period. A second letter dated May 28, 1963, informed him he no longer had to report to immigration officials.

Rocco received a letter from the department Feb. 24, 1961, that deportation proceedings against him had been deferred for a year to give him a chance to rehabilitate himself.

On March 31, 1964, Giuseppe and Rocco were arrested in Montreal and placed in Bordeaux Jail. They received letters from the immigration department saying their cases had been reviewed and it had been decided to carry out the deportation orders.

"The question in issue is whether, following the expiration of those stipulated periods, the minister can thereafter hold the deportation orders in suspense and require their enforcement at any time he chooses, at his own discretion," Mr. Justice Martland said. "I do not think that he can."

Production Resumes At GM Plants

TORONTO (CP)—An 18-day strike at five General Motors of Canada Limited plants in Ontario ended today when about 23,500 employees returned to work after accepting a new three-year contract Saturday.

Membership meetings Saturday in the five centres involved approved the new contract, providing an estimated increase of about 59 cents an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

The package is the biggest ever achieved by the union in a single agreement in Canada.

The agreement could set the pattern in negotiations at Ford of Canada and Chrysler of Canada, covering 16,000 workers.

stable out within 15 minutes of the accident.

Police said the seat belt was unfastened.

Attempts to revive him by artificial respiration failed and he was dead on arrival at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Const. Williams had joined the Sooke detachment only two weeks ago after completing recruit training at RCMP training depot in Regina.

He leaves his parents, two brothers and a sister in Portage La Prairie.

TIRE BLOWS

Around the same time, Wilson was driving with four other loggers from Alberni to Cumberland when a rear tire blew about 1½ miles south of Union Bay.

Wilson jacked up the car and was changing the wheel when another car, also containing five loggers, was in collision from behind.

He was killed instantly.

No one else was seriously injured.

At the time there was about two inches of slush and snow on the road.

Cumberland RCMP said today the snow had prevented Wilson moving the car off the road to change the tire.

Driver of the second car, Jack McKay, about 36, also of Cumberland, tried to swerve out of the way but skidded and glanced the rear end of Wilson's car. All the men worked at Effingham Inlet.

Wilson leaves a wife and one child in Cumberland; his parents and brother Douglas in Courtenay.

Swimmers Injured In Crash

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP)—Five members of a British Columbia amateur swimming team and their chaperon were hurt, one critically, when their car skidded on an icy road and crashed into a guardrail 10 miles east of here Sunday.

The most seriously hurt, Jerry A. MacDonald, 12, of Coquitlam, was flown in a private plane to New Westminster for treatment at the Royal Columbian Hospital.

Hospital attendants here said the youth, who won two first-place ribbons in the annual Port Angeles invitational diving meet Saturday night, suffered a fractured skull, broken pelvis, both legs broken and cuts and bruises.

The other did not require hospital treatment. They were identified as chaperon Irene M. MacDonald, 30, of Vancouver; Wendy V. Arnold, 16, of White Rock; Elizabeth H. Black, 17, Jerry W. Fitzpatrick, 17, and John S. Sutton, 11, all of Vancouver.

EXPLOSION KILLS 57

LIMA (CP)—An explosion in a U.S.-operated coal mine in central Peru Sunday killed 57 miners and injured 34 others.

It was the worst mine disaster in Peru's history. Reports from the mine, high in the Andes Mountains near Cerro de Pasco, 125 miles northeast of Lima, said methane gas and coal dust exploded.

ACCUSED of plotting overthrow of the Communist Chinese ruler is Peking's hand-picked ruler of Tibet, the Panchen Lama, who has been purged as acting chairman of region committee.

Protests Racial Policy

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—African and Communist delegates staged a mass walkout from the General Assembly today when South African Foreign Minister Hildard Mueller was called to speak.

The walkout began when Mueller stepped up to the rostrum.

Many Asian delegates joined the walkout but some Asians stayed in their places, as did western European and Latin American delegates.

The demonstration was in protest against South Africa's racial policies.

In his speech Mueller told the assembly South Africa is prepared for any attempt by the UN to impose sanctions.

Mueller delivered a wide-ranging defence of his government's racial policies in his 30-minute speech, although 73 delegates were absent at the time.

'Report Forced Letter'

Dief Probing Pearson Move

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker suggested today that contents of a secret RCMP report on bribery allegations against a ministerial aide may have prompted Prime Minister Pearson to file his controversial statement with the Dorion inquiry last week.

There had to be "a most unusual reason" for Mr. Pearson telling the inquiry that he knew of the bribery allegations Sept. 2 and not Nov. 22 as he had told the Commons previously, the Conservative leader said.

Mr. Diefenbaker, speaking to reporters at a press conference, said:

"Certainly at that time he knew Chief Justice Dorion had stated the RCMP report could be produced.

"In the report was a . . . Mr. Diefenbaker stopped abruptly at that point and after a pause added:

"I don't know what was in it." Then he went on to say that a "most unusual reason" for the prime minister's letter must have been connected with the RCMP report.

Mr. Diefenbaker volunteered the remarks without questions from reporters.

He said the prime minister's letter to the Dorion inquiry "has no equivalent in Canadian history." Its reference to procedural difficulties making it impossible for a statement to be made in the house was most improper.

"He must have known that statement was far removed from the facts of parliamentary life," he added.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had found no precedent for Parliament refusing to accept a prime minister's word as it had done on Dec. 17. That was the day Mr. Pearson explained his Dorion letter to the Commons and a motion was made to have a committee investigate the matter.

Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled the New Democrat motion out of order, and his decision was sustained by a 122-to-105 vote.

Husband Has That Big Look

LONDON (UPI)—A science journal today told the story of a husband who, separated from his pregnant wife, took on the appearance of pregnancy himself—a large tumour.

The journal Discovery said it happened to a soldier who became so worried about his wife that his abdomen swelled up and stayed that way for months—for no physical cause—until his wife had her baby.

Prof. William T. Threlkorn, author of the article in Discovery, said one husband in nine suffers from some sort of minor illness, without any physical cause, during his wife's pregnancy.

It said some husbands have morning sickness. Others have toothaches.

Threlkorn suggested one reason for this is that the husband may take on some symptoms of pregnancy as punishment because he feels he has put his wife in danger. Or because he is envious of his wife's child-bearing role.

THIS EXTINCT FISH PROVING PLENTIFUL

TANANARIVE, Madagascar (Reuters) — Another coelacanth, a fish once believed extinct for 50,000,000 years, has been caught in the channel between the Comoro Islands and Mozambique.

The fish was caught by a Comoro islander from Matsumudu and bought by an American scientist for 50,000 Malagasy francs (about $210).

The coelacanthidae, a family of bony fishes belonging to the sub-class crossopterygii, were unknown to scientists except as fossils until one was caught just before Christmas, 1938, off East London, South Africa.

Christmas supplies dropped over Arctic

AIR DROP COMPLETED

Good Weather Aids Santa

EDMONTON (CP) — Helped by good flying weather, the RCAF Sunday completed its annual Christmas supply to Arctic settlements and weather stations after three days of flying—one of the fastest cleanups in the 10-year history of the operation.

Blowing snow Saturday and Sunday washed out a scheduled landing on the ice runway at Mould Bay, a weather station 1,500 miles northeast of Edmonton, but two other ice runway landings and the dropping of supplies by parachute at 18 other points were carried out on schedule by a giant C130 Hercules.

Christmas mail and parcels—including 30 cases of canned beer—were left at Resolute Bay for pickup later this week by another RCAF aircraft on a regular Arctic run into Mould Bay. Resolute Bay, centre of a joint Canada-United States weather operation, is 400 miles south-east of Mould Bay.

The Hercules, from 435 transport squadron at RCAF Station Naino near Edmonton, covered more than 7,300 miles in about 30 hours of flying.

The good weather was the most unusual aspect of the mission, said Flt. Lt. Roy Nurse, 39, a veteran of 10 years of Arctic flying who was captain of the Hercules. "Everything worked for us."

But there were some close calls. A sudden surge of blowing snow Sunday at the United States Air Force base at Thule, Greenland, reduced visibility to

CATTLE SUFFER ON RANGES

25 Dead Across U.S. As Winter 'Debuts'

CHICAGO (AP)—Fresh snow, rain and freezing temperatures stung the northeastern and northwestern United States as winter made its official debut today.

At least 25 deaths were attributed to violent storms that followed a coast-to-coast cold wave.

With eight inches of new snow today, portions of the Montana-North Dakota area were still digging out from the storms in an effort to save thousands of stranded cattle and sheep.

Hundreds of head of cattle suffocated as ice formed on their nostrils and mouths. North Dakota Governor William Guy called a meeting with civil defence, national guard and highway department officials to determine what can be done to help the snowed-in ranchers. Some portions of the state were declared disaster areas.

Lightning, thunder, hail, snow and gusty winds struck sections of Montana as cold arctic air met with warmer Pacific air. Officials said it would take weeks to open country routes although trunk highways were passable.

The air force planned to airlift 65 tons of hay to stranded cattle and sheep.

The agricultural stabilization and conservation service estimates that freezing weather and lack of forage caused the loss of 20,000 cattle and 26,000 sheep valued at $3,400,000.

Heavy rains struck northern California and gale warnings were posted along the northern coast. Heavy snow was expected in the northern and central Sierras where traveller warnings were issued.

10 TRAFFIC DEATHS

More than an inch of rain fell on Los Angeles County, contributing to 10 traffic fatalities, authorities said, snow in New Mexico was blamed for one traffic death and a plane crash in which one man was seriously injured.

On the east coast, central and southern New England were struck by four inches of snow as temperatures dropped near zero in northern Maine. In northern New York State, temperatures fell close to zero and fresh snow covered the area. New York City received its first measurable snow of the season Sunday—3.25 inches.

Judge Overturns Libel Suit Award

OKANOGAN, Wash. (AP)—A jury verdict which gave former Washington state representative John Goldmark $40,000 in a libel judgment was overturned Friday.

Goldmark and his wife, Sally, contended in the three-month trial that they were libeled by being linked to communism during the 1962 primary campaign in which Goldmark was defeated for the Democratic nomination to the state House of Representatives.

Admit Rebels to Gov't Tshombe Regime Told

BRUSSELS (AP)—The United States is pressing Premier Moise Tshombe to make peace with the Congo rebels and admit some to his government, well-informed Belgian sources said Saturday.

They said Washington is also urging Belgium to grant The Congo more aid.

This, they said, explains why Tshombe was rushed here Friday for unexpected talks with the Belgian foreign minister, Paul-Henri Spaak, and why the U.S. ambassador to Belgium flew here from emergency consultations in Washington.

The best solution to The Congo's bloody rebellion would be a reconciliation with the rebels, whose leaders would enter Tshombe's government, they added. This is also a pet project of Spaak's.

Tshombe, concluding a west European trip, had no plans to come to Brussels before returning to Leopoldville.

He was in Berlin Friday when it was announced that he was flying to Brussels by U.S. Air Force plane.

"He did not want to come," a good Belgian source said. "He only came at U.S. insistence."

Longest But Not Strongest

THE LONGEST SESSION IN the history of the Canadian Parliament has ended, leaving a most unsatisfactory situation in Ottawa.

The session was long, not because of the volume of work accomplished, but because wasteful, windy hours of obstruction prevented Parliament from getting on with pressing business. Now adjournment finds only a few concrete measures under way, the main job yet to be done, a background of bitterness and recrimination for the resumption next February, and a cloud of suspicion hanging over the behavior of certain government members.

Only part of this situation can be blamed on the government. While ostensibly Prime Minister Pearson is in charge of the country's affairs, it cannot be forgotten that he leads only a minority government — in other words, at least part of the opposition forces must support him if any legislation is to be passed.

Leading the main opposition party is a master of the art of heckling, delaying and political manoeuvring, a man dedicated to the task of making the government look inept and so enhancing his own chances of returning to power. Mr. Diefenbaker must bear a large part of the burden of guilt for Parliament's poor harvest of legislation during the fall months.

On the positive side, there are some forward steps to record. The basis for a national pension has been laid, the Great Lakes seamen's union issue has been clarified and put at least temporarily to rest, the country's financial picture has been considerably restored, a start has been made on the nation's rail reorganization, patriation of the constitution has been put in motion, considerable advance has been made in federal-provincial relations and the country has a flag after 100 years, although still with dissent. Canada regained prestige by its Cyprus action, and the problem of defence services was tackled head-on.

Above all, Mr. Pearson recognized the vital threat that faced Confederation as a result of Quebec's surging racial interests and took preliminary steps — although highly controversial — to meet this serious situation. That, at least, is a positive gain.

The perspective of history will show that while there has been recurrent bumbling and fumbling in many government quarters so far as administration and execution are concerned, there was never any doubt as to the basic political philosophy of Mr. Pearson, of his sincerity in seeking to preserve national unity, of his recognition that a new and perhaps revolutionary approach to Canada's nationhood was necessary if Canada were to be saved from fragmentation.

Naturally, such fundamental changes in thinking did not come easily to the country; they brought their own measure of disruption in trying to avoid a more serious schism. And the problem has only just been tackled, of course; the great task of construction still lies ahead.

It is unfortunate and deplorable that the session should have ended with the actions of government officials under judicial investigation. The guilt or innocence of those involved has yet to be determined, but Mr. Pearson has been badly served by those who failed to satisfy the almost equally imperative duty of a public figure — to avoid not only wrongdoing but even the appearance of it.

The past session has set a record, but not in accomplishment. May we hope that this deficiency will be corrected and members return determined to redeem their political competence in the next session, and that the vital issues which confront this country will be made paramount to any other consideration.

Why Not Everybody's Canal?

JUST SHORT OF A YEAR AGO blood was shed and men died in riots that marked clashes between Americans in the Canal Zone and citizens of Panama.

A number of explanations can be given for the unfortunate trouble at the "Big Ditch". Now President Johnson has indicated the desire of the United States to create a new ocean-level water passage between the Atlantic and the Pacific through the isthmus. This, it is suggested, would lead to the elimination of American claims of perpetual rights to the Panama Canal Zone and thereby remove a source of contention between the two countries.

Construction of a new canal has been declared a feasible engineering project if nuclear blasting is permitted for excavation. The undertaking, whatever plan became acceptable, would still be immensely expensive — but, in this day of huge outlays on space experiments, perhaps comparatively less costly than it was once considered.

Given agreement between owners of the real estate and the party or parties prepared to finance the job, it could be done.

A significant question remains.

Would it, in the long run, be in the best interests of the two principal parties or of the world for any one country to undertake a project of this nature within the territory of another? Would not the problems that became explosively evident both in the Suez crisis and in the Panama disturbances re-emerge in the years ahead if a single nation built the canal and assumed proprietorship over it?

For the sake of the increasing commerce of the world a new water passage between the two oceans somewhere through the isthmus seems essential within the next decade or two. But while consideration is being given to the practical planning, would it not be wise to expand political thinking on such a project to place it under the authority of a world body? And this despite the natural wish of any one power to have full control for military purposes?

In this time of intense nationalisms, why risk the possibility of future hostilities between one country and another when all nations might be drawn into a co-operative and mutually advantageous effort with guaranteed freedom of use for all?

Beautification Plus

THE FEDERAL-PROVINCIAL plan for relocating the pioneer Crow's Nest Pass coal mining towns of Michel and Natal, announced recently by Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell, seems to have two main purposes. One is to improve the scenic impression which is given to tourists entering the province through the southeastern gateway; the second is to rehabilitate a very badly run-down residential area.

Both of these aims are admirable on the surface but the project does raise some questions relative to the whole field of urban renewal, or "slum clearance" as it is more popularly called, since the funds for the project would be provided 75 per cent by the federal government and 25 per cent by the province.

So far as beautification of the area is concerned, the desired effect could be achieved simply by moving a relatively small section of highway to by-pass Michel-Natal with its run-down homes, colliery works and slag heaps. This is a works project which is of no concern to Ottawa and calls for no spending of federal funds.

The whole plan, therefore, must rest on the eligibility of the area for public funds under federal urban renewal legislation and, despite the visual impression which is given to the traveller passing through Michel-Natal, there are some grounds to question this eligibility.

Broadly speaking a slum area would be defined as one where persons in poor economic circumstances live in sub-standard housing conditions and are unable, themselves, to improve their situation. But Michel-Natal is a prosperous community where full employment at good wages prevails.

The coal company wants the land in both townsites for expansion purposes and several years ago initiated a model townsite three miles away with lots offered to company employees at $1 each, along with low-cost financing for house building.

Few people took up the company offer and so it is now proposed that public funds be used to effect the removal from the old to the new townsite, a desirable move perhaps, but not necessarily one which merits a high priority under slum clearance legislation.

While the project is still in the early planning stages federal and provincial officials should take a hard look at a scheme which would solve the housing problems of people well able to pay their own way, and the land utilization problems of a private company, at public expense.

By CHARLES BARTLETT

'Let's Talk About You'

ONE amusing anachronism that the visitor encounters in the USSR is the contradiction between the anxiety of Soviet journalists to gossip about American politicians and their flat disinclination to discuss their own leaders.

"Will Lyndon-Johnson and Robert Kennedy get along better now?" is the frequent opener in a series of questions which reveal widespread fascination with the personal nuances of American politics. In his turn at the visitor asks, "Will Kossygin and Brezhnev compete? What sort of men are they?" There is a silence — then the subject is changed or a vague answer drifts back.

Privacy Prized

No Soviet journalist will be drawn into that line of inquiry. Occasionally one of them will declare that this interest in personalities is a flagrant weakness of the American press and that Russian politicians prize their privacy and are left to enjoy it because Russian newspapermen do not intrude upon them.

The latter is certainly true. All top Soviet officials are assigned limousines hung with heavy curtains that obscure the rear seats. Over 30 of these prestige cars were parked in the Kremlin courtyard on the night the Supreme Soviet convened. The comradely spirit often moves officials to ride in front with their chauffeurs so these curtains are not important in themselves. But they symbolize the insulation which enfolds the modern Soviet leader.

The men who hold the destiny of this nation live and work, plot and plan, rise and fall almost totally out of public view. They are accountable within the party apparatus and often the accounting is strict. But the press functions as their ally. Pravda's editors would consider it inappropriate to publish even the names of their wives or the numbers of their children.

Want More Democracy

Most thoughtful Russian citizens do not hide their deep desire to infuse more democracy into their system. This is why Nikita Khrushchev, even as his arteries hardened his authoritarian tendencies, continued to talk of "collective leadership" and "inner party democracy." This is why many express strong sentiment to make a genuine parliamentary device of the Supreme Soviet.

One man, Comrade Belyak of Central Russia, did speak out against government policies during the three-day session of this stolid body. This was a start and the deputies maintain they already exert leverage in the committee reviews that precede the session. But the political leaders are still a long way from being obliged to live with their critics.

No Criticism of Leaders

The editors and columnists maintain there is much criticism in the press and that they enjoy total freedom in preparing their articles. But the criticism is always directed at the lower echelons, factory managements and city governments, and never at the top. The writers may write as they please but they freely acknowledge that they write as Communists intent upon building the strength of their party. This aim precludes criticism or even comment upon the key figures.

The Central Committee created a new committee 18 months ago to co-ordinate all publishing activities within Russia. The personable minister of this committee, P. K. Romanov, embodies total respect for the principle that the essential aim of the printed word must be party-building.

Romanov can enforce this philosophy because he and his editors have the final word on every book, some 41,000 titles during 1964, that is published in the Soviet Union. He disallows "negative" books like "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich" by Alexander Solzhenitsyn. "What is the use of publishing books like that?" Romanov asks. "We must publish books that will help us."

Sign of Restlessness

It is hard to believe that this philosophy will prevail indefinitely. The struggle by the editors of a few magazines like Novy Mir, which is controlled by the Union of Writers and not by Romanov, to portray life in real colors is one sign of restlessness. Another sign is the eagerness of the journalists to gossip about American politicians.

The key reasons for past restrictions no longer exist in party dogma. Coercion and suppression have been declared officially unnecessary because the exploiting classes have been eliminated and the state is unified around the workers. "The Communist Party is removing all obstacles in the way of progress of Soviet society," Pravda said last week in a significant assertion that the primary aim must now be to increase "the participation of all citizens" in the activities of the state.

This participation will not be possible as long as Soviet political writers shrink from all discussion of the merits and demerits of their politicians. A leader who goes uncriticized is apt, as Messrs. Stalin and Khrushchev demonstrated, to go sour. (Copyright 1964 Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

When Is a Combine Not ...?

MR. FAVREAU'S vague intimations that the government is studying a new approach to the combines problem have persuaded newspapermen close to the financial community that the country is at last to be made safe for "beneficial" mergers. The theory currently being propounded for the benefit of weary industrialists (weary, that is to say, of price competition) is that the government finds itself confronted with an unsatisfactory, unworkable and discriminatory law. The solution, according to Mr. Favreau's hopeful interpreters, will be found in a break with the old method of criminal prosecution, penalties and dissolutions and resort to the British practice of legalizing mergers.

As commonly happens when the combines law is under discussion, efforts are being made to depict the Canadian manufacturer as a poor, harried, second-class citizen singled out by government for discriminatory treatment. It is, for example pointed out that associations of manufacturers are barred from combining to set prices although the Combines Act does not apply to such other groups as doctors, dentists and architects.

There are, of course, difficulties involving provincial jurisdiction. No one, apparently, is suggesting that the problem be tackled in such a way as to extend competition into provincial fields. It may be felt that no good would come of an unseemingly wrangle between manufacturers and, say, dentists or architects. The idea is, on the contrary, that the law being imperfect, the law should go.

Fines Tax Deductible

Curiously, it is being argued at the same time that the act ought not to be retained on the statute books because convicted manufacturers are entitled to deduct fines from their taxes. Evidently there are limits to the cruelty of anti-business governments. One would suppose that the simplest solution here would be an amendment to the income tax act but this idea is foreign to the argument now being made.

There is no doubt that the protection of the consumer against the suppression of competition is one of the most difficult subjects of legislation. But if the act is so difficult as to be ineffective, how are we to account for the persistence of those groups of manufacturers who have campaigned with such vigor over so many years to get rid of it? And why, in these circumstances, have Mr. Favreau's recent statements been greeted with such approval by business editors?

In any event, an important change is said to be in the offing. Mr. Arthur Brydon, writing in the Globe and Mail, has this to say about it:

"Permissive legislation has proved effective in Britain. The proposal is to follow the U.K. example. No general and complicated rules would be laid down in advance but, where a merger or agreement was proposed, the persons involved would be required to clear it with the federal government before it took place. Each case would be judged on individual merit. The basis of judgment would be the same—whether the merger would or could result in undue restriction of trade."

Elsewhere Mr. Brydon says: "Such things as public utilities, marketing boards, telephone companies and others would come under the act if not regulated by government. The proposal now is to allow private monopoly situations to come into being provided they do not lead to reprehensible acts restricting trade unduly."

If these passages correctly interpret the intentions of government, various questions are clearly in order.

Business Regulation

Do businessmen wish to be regulated in their activities as utilities are? The outstanding example of government regulation is provided by the railways. They have been regulated in the public interest for a great many years because they originally constituted natural monopolies. But the C.P.R. is apparently strong in the view that it should be permitted to escape from this situation and to secure new freedom to compete against the rival transportation interests which have emerged in recent years.

From the standpoint of the restrictive trade practices commission what possible advantage can there be in jumping from the frying pan into the fire? In combine cases it is now necessary to prove conspiracy to set prices, not to demonstrate in court that an actual enhancement of prices has occurred. The courts have held that they cannot be asked to decide what prices would have been in the absence of combination; to do that, it would be necessary to turn back the clock and measure the results of the play of forces in a hypothetical competition situation. The position now is that the public has a right to free competition and that, if this has been interfered with, an offence has been committed.

But what will be required of government in the new situation? The commission will have to read the future to decide whether a proposed merger is meritorious or not. Obviously, it will not be able to stop at that point because its reading of company intentions may be wrong. Therefore, it will have to keep a continuing watch over the business of the merger to ascertain whether reprehensible acts are in fact committed. If such acts occur, what is the commission to do?

A merger cannot very well combine with itself and therefore documentary proof of the offence may be difficult to obtain. How will it prove an offence by reference to prices when, as the courts have held in combine cases, it is not possible without turning back the clock to establish a measuring stick?

Supervising Mergers

No doubt it would be "easier," as Mr. Brydon suggests, for the government "to supervise the formation of mergers" than to undertake the complicated task of dissolving them. But supervising them after formation would be a much more difficult, and probably impossible, task.

Mr. Favreau has said enough to guarantee him a very, very attentive business audience. But he has not said enough to clarify the intentions of the government in respect to combines legislation.

Unfortunately, he touched only briefly on the matter at a time when the House was more immediately concerned with other matters affecting the department of justice. There has been no subsequent opportunity, because of the parliamentary situation, to return to the subject and the absence of clarification has obviously encouraged high expectations on the part of those businessmen who have long felt that what's good for mergers should be good for the country.

As Our Readers See It

Let's Have Some Action

I desire to call your attention to the dangerous crossing at Glanford and Pat Bay Highway for pedestrians going to visit their loved ones at Royal Oak Private Hospital. Many residents in this area wait as long as 15 to 20 minutes at times, when traffic is heavy, in wind and rain, to cross northbound, southbound and three lanes from Glanford, in order to cross safely.

There is no adequate shelter provided. Question: Are there no service clubs in Greater Victoria or advertising firms that could help to do something along this line?

Now I read in our paper where bus fares are to be increased. I have suggested that the Carey bus make a loop from Judith to Pat Bay Highway or Millar. Beckwith bus do same. With a new municipal council let's get some action.

GEO. E. BENNETT.

One-Way Streets

Under the caption "The City's Changing Face" (Dec. 14th) it was stated "the downtown congestion is as great as it ever was."

Don't blame the city's growth. Place the blame upon procrastination! At least 10 years of it!

To aid the downtown merchant the city fathers build parkades surrounded by congested approaches. Then they spend equally enormous funds to speed traffic away from the congestion — and the merchants whose tax dollars kept the city centre alive during the "bad years."

Common sense tells us that the fair solution to the problem lies in the institution of a well-planned system of one-way streets, sensibly regulated to smooth out traffic flow to effectively eliminate congestion. Thus the buying power of the motoring public would be more evenly distributed.

It does not take 10 years to work out such a plan. Why then is Victoria unique among cities its size with its outdated traffic system, annoying to the motorist, harassing to the pedestrian, dangerous to both?

R. GRANT.

Enjoyable Election

May I use your columns to express warmest thanks to those who voted for me in the recent Saanich election?

One of the factors that made this an exceptionally enjoyable election for me, even though only my first municipal campaign, was the friendly assistance given by so many people, all of whom I wish to thank now also.

"Congratulations are due to those elected. May they have the strength and vision needed to lead Saanich toward true progress in the year ahead."

PAT THOMAS.
1964 Saanich Council candidate,
1422 Wende Road.

Thanks Voters

I would be most grateful for the use of your correspondence column to thank those voters who supported my first attempt for councillor in Saanich on December 12.

WILLIAM A. (SANDY) NOEL,

'This Type of Prejudice'

Mr. Tony Emery, in his columns of December 5 and 12, seems to visualize scientists as evil men in white coats developing rockets, bombs, and other gadgets to bedevil mankind. However, he is magnanimous enough to permit science courses on a "restricted basis" in his "genuine liberal arts university."

This type of prejudice is a result of an inability to distinguish between the actual nature of science and its resultant technology. Scientists are certainly among the first to recognize the danger inherent in the cultural lag between 20th century technology and the development of human relationships. We cannot meet this problem, however, by closing our eyes to the 20th century in the hope that it will go away. If the sciences and the humanities cannot reach some common ground in these days of mass education and communication, there may not be any erudite newspaper columns, pretty pictures, or civilization.

In spite of any medieval definition of the word "liberal," therefore, it seems that the "genuine liberal arts university" has an obligation to provide the best possible background in basic science for the general student. This cannot be done without laboratories, which, unfortunately, cost money.

Mr. Emery's comments on art and wine drinking are most interesting, but let's leave science education to those schooled in the theory and philosophy of this subject.

JOHN HALL,
4086 Monarch Place.

Consideration

I am wondering if you would be good enough to put a short note of thanks in your paper for me.

I have been somewhat handicapped most of this year, and our bus drivers have gone out of their way, to help me. One day a police officer saw me across a busy intersection.

It's amazing how considerate members of the general public are, when they notice one is not 100 per cent. Some would open doors for me, store clerks would fetch a chair, and on the whole, I feel I have been shown enough kindness to at least say "Thank you" and Season's Greetings to a great many people.

OLD AGE PENSIONER.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

There are people in Victoria who run their lives so efficiently they do all the right things at the right time.

Christmas cards, for instance! Their lists were made out last January when they were disposing of 1963 cards. They chose this year's cards at half-price sales in that same month. If they didn't, then they were in town, bright and early in September, to make a choice as soon as the new cards were on display.

They earmarked a day, or a couple of evenings, in early November, and addressed their cards. They even tucked gay little notes in with greetings for many of their friends.

Another afternoon took care of stamping and of tying the cards in neat bundles that were stacked in a safe place ready to mail on dates decided by postal authorities.

These are the cards we get early enough to place on the mantel with our Christmas decorations; the cards we have time to read and admire before the great rush starts.

Each year, I plan to follow the example of those people who run their lives so efficiently, but somehow I never seem to get organized.

I decide to dispose of previous year's cards in January, but before I know it I'm just getting rid of them in September.

I say I'll make a list of names and addresses very early, but you don't make a list until you get down to checking the old cards. I make a resolution to pick up cards at the New Year's sales but its October before I even think of that resolution again.

Only around the beginning of December do I really seem to wake up to the fact that Christmas is coming.

Then, when I go looking for cards, I find the best ones have been picked up by those people who run their lives so efficiently.

As for addressing, writing notes, stamping and bundling, I do get it done but it's a very slow process.

I didn't finish cards for the British Isles, this year, until the night they were supposed to be mailed. Eastern Canada ones were the same way. California? I repeated the process. Sunday, I did Vancouver and Seattle and today I finished mailing the local ones. So, no doubt, as in former years, all my greetings will arrive after Christmas.

Mind you, there is something to be said for this dilly-dallying. It gives you a chance to open all those cards that come in the early mails and, if you find you have forgotten anyone, to add names to your list.

You may run out of cards as you go along (I always seem to buy short), but you can still dash to a store and pick up another box or two from those that are left.

I had to do some of this last-minute scrambling on Saturday.

While I was holding my place against the push and shove of the crowd, I felt an elbow in my back.

A shoulder crashed into my side and someone wiggled into a position beside me at the card counter.

There was a mutter of words in my ear. The only ones I could distinguish were: "... had to have more cards." It was a woman I'd certainly place amongst the people who run their lives efficiently.

I knew her well enough to realize her Christmas cards must have been ready for weeks and that they should all have been in the mail before Saturday.

"What are you doing here?" I asked her. "Oh!" she moaned, "I opened some cards that came this morning and there, staring me in the face, were six friends I'd forgotten. I don't know how I did it!"

She was still poking frantically among the boxes and muttering to herself when I slipped quietly away.

It would seem that Christmas being Christmas, even the most efficient among us have their troubles.

Oh, well! What's a late greeting between friends!

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

There was too much of everything but calm and purpose for anyone to put events in politics of last week into any pattern.

A prime minister has misled the Commons, although he said it was not deliberately done. It seems clear that most of the Opposition do not believe him.

The flag turmoil has reached a legislative conclusion after such a profusion of latter-day voting and switching in argument that no one is quite certain what partisan advantages may ensue.

The revelations of the Dorion inquiry rock and shake so much that one wonders how any recommendations which may follow can ever be a counter-balance.

The members are exhausted, the staffs are groggy, and the ministry is in dreadful disarray. Only the loyalty of the Liberals to their leader seems certain, and even this is associated with a growing readiness, even a wish, to have a major shakeup in the cabinet and some kind of new creed for the party.

It is only a few weeks ago that I was pontificating on the moral tone of federal politicians to the effect that the standards were high, corruption was non-existent, and patronage declining.

While it may seem at present that I was somewhat innocent and naive, I stand by the earlier assertions.

There are some indefinite areas where responsibility is uncertain and so-called "political influence" can enter into administrative decisions.

Obviously, the work of the immigration branch is one such area; the apportionment of legal work to lawyers outside the government is another. They need clearing up and such results may flow from the Dorion inquiry.

Aside from restructuring his cabinet, it would seem that the major problem facing Mr. Pearson in the brief recess is a clear definition of the "New Politics."

This requires much more than a code of ethics for ministers. There must be a reform of Parliament of a major kind, even beyond the recommendations of the house committee on procedure.

The prime minister will have to make some sacrifices in the traditional means of party control and obedience to achieve such reform. For example, if committees are to get more power, if the sessions are to have a regular schedule, government members will have to be more free agents than they have been.

The significance of "want of confidence" motions will have to be altered.

At present there are too many opportunities for them and the ritual of Parliament centres on them. In any effective "new" politics there has to be fewer occasions for them and, as some compensation to the Opposition, a better chance to believe that criticism and suggestions will have consequences within the legislative process and not be more ploys in the long game of electioneering.

The best indicator this House has had on whether John Diefenbaker's status in the country has altered was given by the leader of the Opposition himself, when he failed to take the lead on the question of how and why the prime minister misled the House on the date and nature of his information regarding the alleged bribery charges.

This was not an oversight or a sudden softness on Mr. Diefenbaker's part.

It was certainly the result of an assessment that he could or would be condemned for being overhasty and vengeful if he pushed the case. Such a decision reflects a consciousness that a large element in the country accepts the line that he has been too destructive and obstructive.

The week had its lighter moments. The one I most enjoyed came in the uproar and footrace which ensued early Tuesday morning when the Maple Leaf flag vote had been won. The French-Canadian members went wild and a clutch of Montreal Liberals scrambled into the lobby before the television cameras to flaunt the new flag and to sing O Canada.

Hardly any English-speaking MPs showed any inclination to linger around this centre-piece of enthusiasm.

NATO MEET ACCOMPLISHED LITTLE

Splits Remain in Western Alliance

By ROBERT H. ESTARROCK

PARIS—Despite the somewhat more cordial atmosphere of the NATO ministerial conference just concluded, the fundamental differences in the western alliance remain unbridged.

These differences are mainly between France and the United States, Britain and Germany over the American role in the alliance and the organization of some sort of allied nuclear force.

But there also are misgivings among some of the smaller NATO powers.

Little was accomplished on the record here to resolve the differences.

Indeed, the aim was to avoid frontal clashes, and it succeeded except for one unexpected German blast at France. Any possibilities of compromise usually are explored privately.

BETTER FEELING

Yet, the usual banalities about unity aside, unquestionably there is a slightly better feeling. To a considerable degree this results from a change of American tactics about the proposed multilateral nuclear force.

Simultaneously there is the part of a limited American understanding—though certainly not agreement on many issues—with French President de Gaulle. This coincides with expressions by some other NATO members who, though by no means hostile to the United States, want to assert more independence.

The principal exception to the improved atmosphere is in relations between Germany and France. French officials blame German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, whose domestic political troubles they are not at all willing to aggravate.

Among other things, they accuse Schroeder of having announced to the press that France had blocked a communication calling for a new initiative toward the Soviet Union on German reunification when in fact France had not yet replied.

RELiance ON U.S.

Notwithstanding some maladroitness German behavior, the real problem stems from Germany's reliance on the United States and wish to participate in the multilateral nuclear force.

Germany would gain a voice in Allied nuclear affairs by joining the projected 25-ship mixed-manned surface fleet armed with Polaris missiles.

Perhaps foolishly, after making substantial concessions on a Common Market grain price, the Germans hoped for a more relaxed French attitude toward their membership in the MLF. They were quickly disillusioned.

With the prospect of slightly more friendly relations between the United States and France, it would be well to dispel any similar illusions about what this may mean. De Gaulle still heartily resents what he regards as an American mortgage on European independence.

Co-operation on nuclear targeting is possible, but at this stage De Gaulle would reject any American help to the force de frappe or with nuclear technology. He wants the force all French.

Actually he remarked before the Chinese bomb that there were only two real nuclear powers—the United States and France. The Soviet Union stole nuclear secrets and Britain had American help.

IGNORANCE

The general's ignorance of scientific cross-fertilization seemingly is as profound as his conviction.

France will not approve the MLF or any variant such as an Atlantic nuclear force to which Britain proposes to commit her nuclear submarines and half her V-bombers. If Germany were to join either, this would ruin the chance of De Gaulle's version of European unity, and France would have to review her NATO position.

Nor does De Gaulle sympathize with the loose co-ordination of nuclear deterrents suggested by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak. Not until Europe is politically organized with her own nuclear deterrent does De Gaulle foresee an opportunity for equal co-operation with the United States.

Even on nonproliferation of nuclear weapons there is no real agreement. While not opposing such efforts, De Gaulle considers them unrealistic because, in the absence of comprehensive disarmament, every important nation soon will have nuclear weapons.

NO COMPROMISE

Thus it is clear that there is no compromise with France on the MLF. Events here have neither advanced nor retarded the multilateral force. Five interested powers—the United States, Britain, Germany, Italy and The Netherlands—will meet again in January to discuss next moves.

Initially what evolves will depend upon British ability to reach agreement with Germany. Perhaps the form and nomenclature will change, but obviously a very determined effort will be made to satisfy German wishes for equality without nuclear proliferation.

Although the American objective of meeting this problem has not changed, the hard-sell pressure is off. This was a timely response to the danger of an even more serious split in NATO.

HOME GARDEN

Bedraggled Plants? Don't Despair Yet

By HILDA BEASTALL

Those of us who have been tending fires in greenhouses at all hours of the past few nights will have perhaps a better idea of the penetration of the frost than will the "daylight only" gardeners.

When the cold is severe enough to give a sort of burning numbness on the cheekbones, and make the eyes feel swollen and hot—that is cold, I figure.

However, plants are tough. They have, ideally, been gradually hardened to the cooler weather and we can hope that permanent frost damage will be less than we fear at this moment.

Some nights the leaves of shrubs such as skimmia, laurel, the larger-leaved rhododendron and the evergreen Daphne laureola were looking black and limp but the lack of bright sunshine since will probably help to prevent permanent damage to a great extent.

We may have to forego some of the scented flowers we've been bragging about as being winter beauties. The skimmia, for instance, and even the tough laurustinus, may not open all their thousands of little blossoms.

Do not discard any at this time, regardless of appearance, even though leaves may drop from normally evergreen plants.

KILLS SOLDIER IN DUEL

Guard Shoots Way to West

VOHENSTRAUSS (AP) — A young Czech soldier fled to West Germany Sunday after killing another border guard on patrol with him.

The 19-year-old soldier escaped across the no man's land between Czechoslovakia and West Germany's Upper Palatinate.

The youth reported the shooting when he registered his flight with border police.

He said he first knocked out the other soldier when he tried to stop the escape. But the man came to before the soldier reached West German territory, and they exchanged pistol shots.

Czech authorities demanded that the soldier be returned to face a murder charge. He is being held by Bavarian authorities while a West German court investigates him.

MAY BE AWHILE — OUT TO LAUNCH

SEATTLE (AP) — The widow of a navy hero swung the bottle accurately, the band played Anchors Aweigh, but the destroyer escort Albert David just sat there dripping champagne.

Seventeen choruses later, the frozen grease on the ways let go and the ship slid into Puget Sound Saturday.

The ship was named for Lieut. Albert David, who was awarded a Medal of Honor for leading the boarding party that captured intact a German submarine in 1944.

STEP IN SPACE PROGRAM

New Probe Tests Radiation

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Explorer 25 satellite soared into orbit today to measure space radiation and the threat it poses to men and machinery flying deep into space.

The 101-pound windmill-shaped satellite shot aloft from aboard a towering Delta rocket.

The flight control centre announced an hour later that tracking information indicated all three stages of the booster had fired with precision.

Launch director Robert Gray said "everything seems to be working just as expected."

The Explorer experiments are designed to provide information on how high energy radiation particles become trapped in the earth's magnetic field to form the Van Allen Belt and the danger the belt poses to men and machinery flying future flights deep into space.

U.S. Sells Stock In Film Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—Acting Attorney-General Nicholas Katzenbach said Sunday the U.S. government will sell its 93.5 per cent stock interest in the General Aniline and Film Company in small packages "which will ensure widespread public distribution."

No individual investor will be permitted more than 1,000 shares, and no institutional investor may own more than 50,000 shares as the government ends 23 years of control over the firm it seized at the outbreak of the Second World War.

The bulk of the government's proceeds from the sale will go to the war claims fund, from which compensation is made to Americans who were injured or suffered losses at enemy hands during the Second World War.

The U.S. government seized 93.5 per cent stock control of the company in 1942 from Interhandel, a Swiss holding company, under the Trading With the Enemy Act. The U.S. claimed the shares were enemy assets and that Interhandel was merely a front for the great cartel of Nazi Germany, I. G. Farbenindustrie.

LONDON EXCHANGE

Rumors Grip Market; 'City' Buyers Wary

By FLORA LEWIS
The Washington Post

LONDON—The Bank of England stepped in last week to support all government stocks as gloomy rumors spread through the city of London's financial district.

It was clear that confidence in sterling and in economic prospects has not bounced back, despite massive international help last month and labor-management agreement on the principle of a price-wage policy tied to production.

The government's stock move was unprecedented. Gilt-edge stocks, which have been weak since the labor government took over last October, fell heavily Thursday.

At about midday, the bank sent its broker to the stock exchange with a list of prices at which the government was prepared to buy every one of its stocks quoted on the exchange. That bolstered the issues, but financial experts said it showed how far demoralization had gone among investors.

There were also reports that the bank had to spend money again to hold sterling above its fixed price floor. But the loss was relatively small, experts said.

RUMORS

The unhappy, flighty atmosphere of the financial district showed in a spate of rumors—some of them with no visible foundation. One was that another private banking house is about to collapse.

Last Thursday, a merchant bank established in 1828 and with a solid reputation went into voluntary liquidation. It was Knowles and Foster, and the loss involved was estimated at $6 to $9 million. There was no clear explanation for the failure, which shocked other financiers, but the general theory was that the bank had been badly hit by overseas creditors refusing to hold sterling.

Money that ought to be flowing into London is still just not showing up.

JITTERY CLIMATE

In the jittery climate, financiers were sensitive to everything, including a prediction by a private New York currency prognosticator, Franz Pick, that bank rates here would go up to 3 per cent and there would be another sterling crisis in a few months.

Experts analyzed the troubles of gilt-edged stocks as primarily the result of an "investment paralysis" because of uncertainties about the government's tax intentions.

Wheat Board Member To Retire Dec 31

OTTAWA (CP)—Earle Robertson, 66, will retire Dec. 31 as commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, the trade department has announced.

Mr. Robertson, who was born on a farm in Wentworth County, Ont., has been active in the grain business since 1916 when he joined the Winnipeg office of Alberta Pacific Grain Company Limited. He joined the wheat board in 1953.

Cookie Was Cool But Not Mr. Kemp

COOKIE GILCHRIST... held to modest gains

Bench-Warmer Leads Buffalo Into Playoffs

Associated Press
Coach Sid Gilman, whose San Diego Chargers have lost two games since they won the Western Conference title, has a realistic assessment of his prospects for the American Football League's championship game against Buffalo Bills next Saturday.

"We'll try to contain Cookie Gilchrist the best we know how. If we don't, they'll beat us."

Boston Patriots have news for Gilman. He might succeed in outling up Gilchrist and still lose.

'ASSED 'EM DIZZY

Cookie, the AFL's leading ground-gainer this season with 31 yards on 230 carries, was held to a relatively modest 52 yards by the Pats Sunday in their battle with Buffalo for eastern honors. But quarterback Jack Kemp, a bench warmer only a week ago, passed them dizzy and the Bills won 24-14.

Meanwhile Oakland Raiders made amends for a losing season by coming from behind twice to nail San Diego 21-10. In two other games that didn't affect the standings, Kansas City Chiefs walloped New York Jets 24-7 and Houston Oilers overpowered Denver Broncos 34-15.

KEMP IS WHOLE SHOW

Kemp, who has given way to young Darrell Lamonia in the late stages of recent games and sat one out entirely last week, was the whole show for the Bills Sunday, passing 57 yards to Elbert Dubenion for their first touchdown and sneaking across for the other two after setting them up with passes.

Boston's chances faded in the first quarter after they had narrowed the gap to 7-6 on Babe Parilli's 37-yard pass to Tony Romeo. Parilli tried another pass to Gino Cappelletti under the AFL's two-point conversion rule but it failed when Cappelletti slipped and fell on the snow-covered turf.

By halftime, the Bills had put the game out of reach with Kemp's first touchdown and a 12-yard field goal by Pete Gogolak.

LOS AVENGED

The victory avenged a 26-3 loss to Boston in a playoff for the division title last year and gave the Bills a 12-2-0 record this season against the Patriots' 10-3-1.

Clem Daniels rushed for 120 yards in Oakland's last-quarter comeback against the Chargers, which was climaxed by a 12-yard touchdown pass by Tom Flores to Billy Cannon. Mike Mercer's convert provided the winning margin.

George Blanda set season records for pass attempts, 505, and completions, 262, in the Oilers' victory and Chuck Hennigan caught eight for a season total of 101, another record.

Len Dawson tossed two touchdown passes for the Chiefs as they handed the Jets their seventh straight road defeat. Matt Snell ran for 103 yards for the losers to set a rookie rushing mark of 945 yards for the season.

'Dean of Pros' Dies at 87

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Charles Reynolds, once known as the dean of American professional golfers, died at his Columbia home Sunday. He was 87.

Reynolds began as a greenkeeper at the Swannanoa Club in Asheville, N.C., in 1908. He became club pro the next year.

In subsequent years he served as a pro in clubs at Rock Hill, Columbia and Philadelphia.

He laid out courses at Sumter, Latta, Hartsville, Darlington and Rock Hill in South Carolina.

Pursuit is one of the strong points of the Russian national hockey team. # Canucks Are Better, Still Bombed 4-1

WINNIPEG (CP)—Machine-like precision led Russia's national hockey team to a 4-1 victory and its third consecutive win against Canada's national team here Sunday.

The Canadians, beaten 4-0 and 6-1 last week, came up with their strongest game so far against the Russians matching the Soviets in all departments for the first two periods. But the Canadians fell behind because of individual mistakes which were quickly turned into goals by their opponents.

Russia led 2-1 after the first period and 3-1 after the second. Vyacheslav Starshinov led Russia with two goals. Viktor Jakushev and Anatole Firsov added one each. Reg Abbott scored Canada's lone marker, the first goal of the game.

Obviously weary, the Canadians were still able to make several dangerous rushes in the final period and forced Viktor Kormovalenko to make several good saves in the Soviet net. It was the first game that Kormovalenko has been seriously tested by the Canadians. He made 21 saves.

GOALIE BIG FACTOR

Ken Broderick, playing only his third game for Canada, made 23 saves and was a major factor in holding the score down.

Broderick, with centre Gary Dineen, joined the club Friday from the University of British Columbia. Both were members of Canada's 1964 Olympic team.

Coach Gord Simpson, in a post-game interview, said "there was a definite improvement" in his club since their first meeting with the Russians. "Basically," he said, "the trend is getting better and this is satisfying."

The Canadian squad played without their captain, 34-year-old Fred Dumore, who suffered a broken left collarbone Saturday during a practice scrimmage. He collided with a goalpost. It was not immediately known how long he would be sidelined.

Dineen and Broderick appeared to make a noticeable difference to the Canadians.

MADE NEW LINE

Simpson used Dineen on a line with Al Johnson, a former National League player, and Jim McKenzie.

The official attendance was announced as 9,924 but Percy Downton, manager of the arena, said "more than 10,000 people watched the game."

Two of the Canadian squad, centre Roger Bourbonnais and Broderick were to leave early today to bolster Edmonton Oil Kings of the Central Alberta League who will meet the Russians tonight in an exhibition game. The Russians final game of their current Canadian tour will be Dec. 23 when they meet the Western International League all-stars at Trail, B.C.

The Russians remain unbeaten in the eight-game tour with five wins and a tie.

SEATTLE RESTS HIGH ON TOTEM

By CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Totems gave themselves a 10-point margin atop Western Hockey League standings with weekend victories of 4-1 over Portland Buckaroos and 5-1 over Vancouver Canucks.

San Francisco Seals improved their fifth-place position with a 6-3 win over Victoria Maple Leafs and a 3-3 tie with Portland.

Totems, certain now to enter the second half of the season in first place, ran their undefeated string to four games with the pair of triumphs at home.

PAIR FOR BARLOW

Bob Barlow scored twice and Chuck Holmes and Moe Mantha once each in Saturday's win over second-place Portland. Arnie Schmutz converted a rebound for the only Portland goal.

Sunday night Totems got two goals from Bill MacFarland and others from Larry Hale, Don Ward and Guyle Fielder to swamp Vancouver. Only Howie Hughes replied for Canucks.

San Francisco and Portland fought through a wild third period and scoreless overtime to their 3-3 tie Sunday.

TEMPERS FLARED

The Seals were going uphill all night and their tempers flared in the last 10 minutes of regulation play. Two misconducts and a bench penalty were called against them.

Pat Stapleton, Gerry Goyer and Tom McVie were the scorers for Portland and Charlie Burns, Al Nicholson and Len Haley for San Francisco before a crowd of 5,326.

Buckaroos slipped 10 points off Seattle's league-leading pace but stayed securely second, three points ahead of Vancouver.

'GREAT COACH TODAY? YEAH, YESTERDAY TOO'

BOSTON (AP)—About an hour had elapsed since Buffalo had clinched the Eastern Division title in the American Football League and Lou Saban, the Bills' coach, was just about to leave his paper-littered cubicle in Fenway Park.

Suddenly, a hand shot out in congratulations from an official of the losing Boston team.

In a booming voice the Patriots' official said: "You were a great coach out there today."

"Baloney," came the quick retort from Saban, who was fired by the Patriots midway through the 1961 season before he went to Buffalo. "I was a great coach before I got here."

Leafs End Road Trip on Disastrous Note

were a disorganized crew when they returned to Frisco Saturday.

In that one they were bounced 6-3 as rookie goalie Gary Smith was tested with a barrage of 53 shots and San Francisco rookie George Swarbrick picked the night to come up with his first three-goal effort in professional hockey.

With veteran Al Miller back in the nets, the Leafs continued their killing schedule Sunday night and were in the battle until league-leading goal-producer Brian Smith gave the Blades a two-goal lead midway in the final period.

Miller twisted his knee in the final session and is a doubtful starter for Tuesday night's game at Memorial Arena in which the Victorians get another chance to knock over the Leafs.

Gary Smith stepped in for Miller and blocked seven shots in the closing stages, making it a total of 37 saves for the Victoria pair. Jack Norris turned aside 28 shots at the Los Angeles goal.

Blades collected one goal in each period and the winning and clinching markers came on spectacular efforts.

Harold White counted the winner on a blazing 35-foot slapshot and Smith was sent through by a brilliant pass from centre Norm Johnson.

Warren Hynes had scored the opener for the Blades and John Sleaver got his second goal in two nights to tie it up for Victoria at 13 minutes of the opening session.

At San Francisco Saturday, the Leafs yielded the first goal and then hustled back to force a 2-2 tie on Sleaver's tally.

Then the Victoria defence

began to crumble and the Leafs were in command the rest of the way. They hammered 24 shots at Gary Smith in the third period while the Leafs managed only six at chubby veteran Bobby Perrault.

Gary Dornhoefer, recently acquired from Boston Bruins, proved a capable playmaker as he set Swarbrick up for two of his three goals. Also scoring for the Leafs were Al Nicholson, Del Topoli and Wayne Connelly.

San Francisco veteran Len Haley, who notched the 500th point of a 12-year NHL career with an assist Saturday, ran his streak of collecting one or more points through 13 games.

Haley made it 14 games with a goal Sunday at Portland and he'll be trying to stretch the skin to 15 when the Leafs and Leafs tangle at Memorial Arena Tuesday at 8.

APPROVAL NEEDED

Christmas Mail Snags Pro Game

By The Canadian Press

The Russians may still get to play a professional hockey team before they leave North America—if the project isn't fouled up by red tape and the Christmas mail.

Unbeaten in five games since their arrival in Canada 10 days ago, the defending world and Olympic champions have expressed the desire to test their strength against professional opposition and the pros are willing.

Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, was the first to accept the Soviet challenge on behalf of Rochester Americans, the National Hockey League team's top farm club. Quebec Aces, Montreal Canadiens' No. 1 farm team, also are interested.

Viktor Kuznetsov, manager of the Russian team, raised the question after the speedy Soviet club won the first of three easy victories over the Canadian national squad in Toronto Dec. 13.

At that time, he stipulated that the game be played under international rules, which restrict bodychecking to a team's defending zone. Later he said the Russians would be willing to play under professional rules.

The hitch appeared to be an international rule prohibiting competition between amateur and professional teams.

AHEARNE GIVES OKAY

But J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said in London Sunday the IIHF probably would waive the rule if its North American executive approves.

Ahearne said he wrote North American Federation members three weeks ago but has received no reply.

In Winnipeg, Gordon Jukes, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said he hasn't heard from Ahearne.

He said the CAHA, as the international body's Canadian affiliate, has authority to permit the Canadian amateur team to play against professionals but that the IIHF as a whole would have to rule on an international match involving the Russians and a North American professional club.

Jukes also noted that the Russians' tight schedule offers little opportunity of scheduling another game even if permission is granted before their scheduled departure for home Dec. 31.

"However," said Jukes, "they could delay their departure for a few days in order to play a pro team if they did receive permission."

SURGICAL GLOVES

Colt Coach Is Trying Everything

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts are experimenting with surgical gloves for their ball handlers.

Cold weather in Cleveland, where the Browns and Colts meet for the National Football League championship Dec. 27, is behind the idea.

The only problem is, as any surgeon would know, that once a player puts them on he has to keep them on. It would be too difficult and time-consuming to keep putting them on and taking them off.

Whether the skin-tight rubber gloves would successfully combat finger-numbing cold remains to be seen. But the fact that it was tried this week shows that Colt coach Don Shula is leaving nothing undone to prepare for the title game.

"If it is so cold that we can't do anything with our bare hands," he said, "we will have nothing to lose using gloves."

Montreal Holds On But Hawks Pressing

TED LINDSAY
... nets two for Wings

By The Canadian Press
Weekend games in the National Hockey League jumbled standings near the top of the heap.

Montreal Canadiens still held on to first place with 34 points. But Chicago Black Hawks started nudging the Habs by defeating Montreal 6-3 Saturday night and winning again Sunday 3-2 over Boston Bruins.

That gave Chicago 15 games won this season, one ahead of the Canadiens; and it put the Hawks into a two-way tie with Detroit Red Wings, at 32 points each, in second place.

THREE FOR HULL
Bobby Hull scored three of the weekend goals for Chicago and assisted on two more. He now has a total of 28 goals in 28 games. Phil Esposito scored two, and Stan Mikita got four assists. It was Esposito's goal, on assists from Mikita and Pierre Pilote, that broke a 2-2 tie with Boston and gave Chicago the victory.

The Canadiens, after their loss to Chicago, moved down to New York where they edged out the Rangers 3-2 Sunday night.

For the Rangers, the weekend brought double defeat. On Saturday night, Toronto Maple Leafs scuttled them 6-3. New York now has been winless for six straight games.

For the Leafs, the weekend was a split. After taking the game from New York, they went on to lose Sunday night 3-1. Ted Lindsay, back from retirement, scored two goals against Toronto—his sixth and seventh since his return.

CHICAGO GETS FIGHT

The Bruins managed to hold on to their position in the cellar; but they gave Chicago a fight on Sunday night. After a first-period goal by Hull, Reg Fleming equalled the score early in the second. The Bruins held Chicago back until late in the stanza when Hull's brother, Dennis, scored for the Hawks. Johnny Bucyk matched the point in the third, but Esposito's won the game. It was the only weekend game for Boston.

In the Chicago-Montreal game Saturday, Bobby Hull and Ken Wharram scored two goals each. Singles came from Dennis Hull and Esposito. Bobby Rousseau, Dave Balon and Claude Larose mustered the goals for Montreal.

On Sunday night, Balon, Jean-Guy Talbot and Ralph Backstrom got the Montreal markers against New York. Rod Gilbert and Don Marshall scored for the Rangers.

ABOUT-FACE FOR LEAFS

Jean Ratelle, Camille Henry and Vic Hadfield scored for New York against a Toronto onslaught from Bob Pulford, Dave Keon, Frank Mahovlich, Tim Horton, Carl Brewer and George Armstrong.

The onslaught looked more like a retreat when the Leafs got to Detroit. Only Andy Bathgate scored for Toronto on Sunday night. Apart from the two by Lindsay, the Red Wings had a third by Gordie Howe.

In the penalty bracket, Bob Baun of the Leafs increased his lead for the season, adding 11 more minutes on the bench for a total of 93.

UBC Fails In Comeback

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia Braves relinquished an early 15-6 lead to lose 51-42 to a YMCA team in a young men's double elimination basketball tournament Saturday night.

The Y team went through the seven-team tournament without a defeat, winning three preliminary games. UBC lost one preliminary, and had to play another four.

NINE STRAIGHT DEFEATS

Resolutions Should Be On Cavalier Calendar

Teams in the Vancouver Island Hockey League are taking a rest from competition until Jan. 2 and that should be ample time for Dorman's Cavaliers to make a New Year's resolution or two before they swing back into action.

Cavaliers should be convinced a new outlook will be advisable in 1965.

The Victoria team has started nine times this season, and lost nine times. The latest defeat came Sunday at Memorial Arena, where the front doors were locked while Port Alberni was handing the Cavaliers a 16-2 thumping.

Orin Flory, Alvin Brooks and Tom Mullins each scored three goals for the Porters. Larry Meyers and Metro Kaplan-chuk counted for Cavaliers.

Nanaimo leads the league with 14 points, followed by Saanich Sawtooths (13) and Port Alberni (7).

Last-Rock Misses Ruin Consols Bids

Inches seem as big as miles today for Gar Taylor and Bob Gray.

Both watched probable victory slip away Sunday as they came up with narrow last-rock misses in the final round of club competitions which named representatives to the southern Vancouver Island zone curling playoffs.

Taylor was barely wide with a last-rock takeout attempt and lost an 11-9 decision to Don Moss in the "B" division final of the Victoria Curling Club double-knockout competition.

Gray was an inch or two heavy with his final rock and lost out on an extra end to Gordie Carmichael in a tussle for the "B" berth at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Moss and Tony Gutoski, the 1958 provincial champion, will represent the Victoria club in the south Island final and Carmichael will join Lyle Gordon in pecking the Esquimalt banner.

Duncan's representatives will be two-time provincial king Glen Harper and Mike Smith.

Still alive in "A" section at Allan's are quartets skipped by Jim Gallagher, Einar Hemstead and Vern Meyer. Retaining title hopes in "B" section are Roy Allan, Ray Paine and Ed Taylor; Gallagher and Hemstead matches are scheduled for Wednesday.

Taylor's loss to Moss was his second defeat in two nights, while a Consols berth was on the line, and it was second straight time he was unable to hold an early lead.

Clashing with Gutoski in the "A" final Saturday, Gar got away to a 4-2 lead in five ends and then saw Gutoski jump ahead by scoring three on the sixth.

Down 7-5 after 10 ends, Taylor got one back on the 11th but Gutoski had last rock on the final end and the veteran clinched things by making a last rock takeout for two more.

Gutoski, representing his club for the seventh time, was skipping for Jim Dickson, Dick Fisher and Stew Mason.

ISTANBUL INCIDENT

Fire, Panic Mark Stadium Opening

ISTANBUL (AP)—Soccer fans attending an inaugural game Sunday in a new stadium panicked when fire broke out in a snack bar. At least 50 persons were injured, police reported.

Istanbul's governor said the casualties might go as high as 100. Witnesses said more than 200 persons fell or were pushed from a height of 15 feet when an iron railing broke under the weight of the crowd.

Radio Istanbul broadcast for all off-duty doctors and nurses and blood donors to report. Ambulances carried the injured to emergency stations.

The accident occurred following dedication ceremonies at the 55,000-seat Ali Sami Yen Stadium just before a match between the Bulgarian and Turkish national teams.

Sunday at North Vancouver, the Athletics ran into a hot Vancouver Grocers squad and dropped a 70-68 decision, which enabled Bakers to grab a share of the league lead with Alberni.

PRICE SETS PACE

Pacing a free-wheeling Vancouver attack were Billy-Joe Price, Al Birtles and Rod Thomson, who scored 18, 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Neil Dirom, who managed only seven points in Saturday's victory, puffed 23 for Athletics in the Sunday tussle.

Ale is not another name for beer.

(It's brewed bottoms up.)

We know Ale is different from beer, because we brew both. Beer yeast works willingly at the bottom of the vat. But our stubborn Ale strain starts its career at the top. So we brew our Ale upside down—with a notable difference in flavour. Will you enjoy the difference? Only one way to prove it. Same way we brew it. Bottoms up.

Quebec Aces Lose To Reds

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces, riding high atop the American Hockey League's Eastern Division, came away from Providence Sunday night smarting under a 4-2 beating from the Reds. Sudden-death overtime saw Western Division leaders Rochester Americans edged 2-1 by Hershey Bears.

Elsewhere, Buffalo Bisons downed Baltimore Clippers 3-2 and Pittsburgh Hornets walloped lowly Cleveland Indians 7-3.

Pierre Brabant notched twice to help Providence, bottom of the Eastern Division, end a five-game losing streak. Jim Bartlett and Jeanot Gilbert completed the Reds' tally. Doug Harvey and Cleveland Morton replied for Quebec, both in the second.

Tulsa Hurricanes, led by passing wizard Jerry Rhome, clawed their way to a 14-7 victory Saturday over the tough Mississippi Rebels in the Bluebonnet Bowl game, a football contest that matched outstanding scoring ability against a sterling defence.

And at Atlantic City, N.J., in the first college bowl game ever played indoors, the speedy Utah Utes ripped to a 32-6 victory over less-agile West Virginia in the Liberty Bowl, played in spacious Convention Hall.

Rhome ignored a series of hard knocks from Mississippi defenders to upset the rough, rugged Rebels, who went into the contest 11-point favorites. The game was played in 40-degree weather before 50,000 fans in Houston.

Tulsa showed a stout defence after a shaky second quarter during which the southeastern conference Rebels drove 57 yards for a 7-0 lead. Thereafter Mississippi got inside the Tulsa 41-yard line only once.

LONG PASSES

Mississippi enjoyed the lead less than five minutes as Rhome using only one pass, directed a 72-yard surge to tie the score and then turned to long passes for the 74-yard go-ahead touchdown drive in the third quarter. Rhome tied the score 7-7 by plunging over from the one on fourth down.

Rhome's go-ahead pass was a 35-yarder to Eddie Fletcher.

Rhome's sparkling performance won him a unanimous vote of sports writers as the game's outstanding back. He completed 22 of 36 tosses for 252 yards and had only one throw intercepted. The outstanding line man award went to Willie Townes, 263-pound Tulsa tackle.

A Calgary youth, Bill Goods, was prominent in the Tulsa offensive backfield.

PLAYED ON SOD

The Liberty Bowl game was played on three inches of sod, placed over an inch of burlap on the concrete floor of the Convention Hall.

The dry footing was made to order for Ron Coleman, a five-foot-eight, 172-pound Utah tailback, who carried 15 times for 154 yards, picking his holes smartly behind crisp blocking. He had a touchdown run of 53 yards.

Coleman was picked as outstanding backfielder, while Milt

Oil Kings Bolstered By Alumni

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI) —

Edmonton Oil Kings will be bolstered by six ex-Oil Kings for their game tonight against the Russian national hockey squad.

This was confirmed Sunday by manager Leo Leclerc, who enlisted goalie Ken Broderick and centre Roger Bourbonnais of the Canadian national team and defenceman Jim Eagle, now attending University of Denver. Max Mestinske, Glen Sather and Bert Marshall will be flying in from Memphis, where they play in the Central Professional League. The latest addition is hard-rock defenceman Pat Quinn of Tulsa in the CPL.

Leclerc said he made the move because he realizes the current Oil Kings, in the midst of a rebuilding program, aren't strong enough to tackle the Russians.

"They would have killed us," he said. "But it will be a different story now, although we will still be underdogs. We may get licked, but the Russians will know they were in a game."

Coach Buster Brayshaw, asked what he planned to do to contain the Russians, replied: "Forecheck and hit them hard. I'm not going to send my players out there to play dirty, but forechecking and hitting in the opposition territory is okay by the book, and that's how we're going to play it."

Snow Lone Threat To Tree Tourney

While Vancouver golfers are glumly listening to forecasts of a white Christmas, Victoria fairway fiends are making plans for the annual Christmas Tree tournament.

The tree tourney, which has survived the elements since it was launched 11 years ago, is scheduled Saturday at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Don Ross, president of the Colwood club, says that snow is probably the only thing that will force cancellation of the event.

Colwood officials are prepared to make every reasonable effort to have the course in playable condition.

Gross and net titles will be at stake in the tourney, which has drawn an entry of 148, including 108 male swingers.

Mud Hens Accepted Into IL

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — The Toledo Mud Hens will replace the Richmond Virginians in the International League next season, it was announced by league president Tommy Richardson.

Richardson said that the triple A baseball league had voted to accept Toledo as an IL member beginning in 1965 after an investigation of that city's facilities by a special league committee composed of Hal Cooper of Columbus and Don Labruzzo of Syracuse.

"Our committee... inspected the park and facilities owned by the Lucas County Recreation Commission," said Richardson. He added that the Cooper-Labruzzo report "was favorable and we had a 100 per cent vote to accept Toledo, and the sale of the Richmond franchise to the Lucas County Recreation Commission."

Known Ways was a surprising second and Allegro Jeff third in the field of 13 two-year-olds foaled in Florida.

Time for the 1 1/16-mile race over a sloppy track was 1:44.

In a long stretch duel, Gummo edged Easy Line by a nose in winning the $33,550 Juvenile Championship at Bay Meadows in California.

A crowd of 15,550 watched Michael Silver's Gummo win his third straight victory and his fourth victory in seven starts.

Food Stall Met Challenge

The line-up at the city's free food stall was extra long on Saturday.

Mrs. E. E. Harper, convenor, said a total of 275 needy families received pre-Christmas hampers, an increase of about 75 over previous months.

Lay-offs at a number of city businesses were the reason, she said.

Most of the recipients were young men and women with three or four children.

Generous donations of food from Victorians enabled volunteer workers to provide adequate hampers.

They distributed more than 400 pounds of meat, half a ton of potatoes and other vegetables, 200 loaves of bread, some fruit cakes and eggs.

TWO TURKEYS

The stall received two turkeys. They were given to two European families facing employment difficulties.

The food was issued only to recipients who were issued cards by welfare workers.

"We would like to thank Victorians for their donations of food," said Mrs. Harper. "Donations just poured in—in the nick of time, because at first we thought we would run short of certain commodities."

She said it was so cold outside that recipients were asked to squeeze into the warmth of the stall building on Cormorant Street.

ICY-DIVE into Seine River in Paris by Mickey Hargita, former husband of Jayne Mansfield, saved life of 19-year-old girl who was treated for exposure after rescue.

DULL BUILDINGS HIT

MOSCOW (AP)—A group of Soviet architects protested Sunday against "the dismal and monotonous appearance of our apartment blocks."

Writing in the youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, the group sharply criticized the Spartan appearance of new buildings in Moscow.

They also complained about the poor quality of construction.

This Little Lady Has Lots of Class

I took out the cutest little trick last week.

She was the sort young men rave over, women admire and retired colonels discuss between sips of brandy at their favorite club.

Though somewhat flighty she was surprisingly easy to handle.

Neat, compact and decidedly versatile this little lady could well afford to turn up her nose at some of her less fortunate sisters.

Trim lines, sleek figure, beautiful finish and loads of class, she has only one drawback—she's expensive.

To be able to call a little lady like this your own will cost you exactly $3,985.

That is the price Rover is asking for its latest addition to the already bulging line of 1965 cars.

Meet the Rover 2000.

Sophisticated

This latest member of the Rover family has many of the traditional characteristics which have earned for the British company the distinction of being one of the leaders in sophistication and comfort.

Though unable to provide the luxury offered by its big brothers in Detroit or Windsor, the Rover 2000 is more than a match in every other field.

It has been said that a Rover driver never wants to go above 60 miles an hour.

But in this little job you will just be accelerating into third at that speed.

Rover's engineers have developed an entirely new engine for the 2000... a tough, four-cylinder, overhead camshaft power plant running smoothly on five large copper-lead-lined crankshaft bearings.

It puts out 90 bhp at 5,000 rpm, has a capacity of 1,978 cc and is 100 pounds lighter than any other Rover engine of comparable size.

Zippy

All this adds up to a zippy little motor which is more than adequate for the car into which it is slotted.

Makers claim a top speed of 105 in fourth.

SPCA Seeking Foreign Stamps In Fund Drive

Victoria SPCA is asking city residents to save the stamps off their Christmas parcels and mail.

The SPCA is selling the stamps to build an isolation building at its new shelter, 3150 Napier Street.

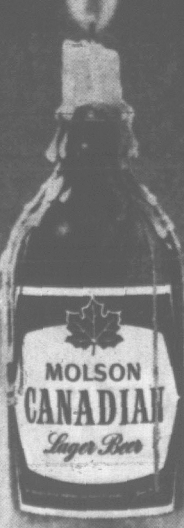

Mrs. V. E. Cowie, a spokesman for the SPCA, said they have received stamps from all over the world and are selling them to dealers as well as privately.

Stamps may be left at the animal shelter and the Book Exchange, 1000 Fort Street. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Cowie at 383-4221.

FARMER DIES AT AGE 194

JAKARTA (AP) — Antara, the Indonesian news agency, said Sunday Hadji Mohammad Rais, a farmer in North Sumatra, has died, aged 194. The agency said he is survived by his widow, 120, nine children and about 300 grandchildren.

Annapolis Officially Joins Fleet

HALIFAX (CP) — The Canadian Navy's newest and most modern warship, HMCS Annapolis, officially became a member of the fleet here Saturday at a colorful commissioning ceremony marked by traditional naval formalities.

The sleek 336-foot ship, whose keel was laid down at Halifax Shipyards Limited here in September, 1961, was launched in April of 1963. She was built at a cost of more than $35,000,000. She is the 20th destroyer escort built by Canadian yards for the navy since the Second World War.

The ceremony was the first commissioning of a new naval vessel to occur since integration of the Canadian armed forces began in August, and it was the first time an army officer had presided at such a function.

Li-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh, vice-chief of the defence staff, presided at the ceremonies, replacing Air Marshal F. R. Miller, chief of defence staff. Air Chief Marshal Miller was unable to attend the commissioning due to the pressure of his duties.

Drug Firm Listing Advocated

OTTAWA (CP) — A special Commons committee has recommended to the government that all drug manufacturers and drug distributors be placed under a form of federal registration.

It also asks that the staff of the federal food and drug directorate be doubled to end serious understaffing.

The food and drug committee said the registration of drug firms should be done as soon as possible. In the case of new companies, registration should be required before they place products on the market.

It noted that there now is no provision for the licensing or registration of firms.

"The committee feels this is unwise and could possibly lead to the production of unsafe drugs."

The committee's report said registration would be less complicated than licensing but could be made as effective through penalties for non-compliance.

Hydro Buys Used Bridge

VANCOUVER (CP) — A second-hand 1,200-foot bridge has been purchased by British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority for use near the Columbia River dam site at Mica Creek.

A spokesman for B.C. Hydro said the bridge has been bought from the federal Crown Assets Corporation for $84,000 and will be dismantled and moved to Revelstoke next summer.

The bridge was installed in 1959 across the South Saskatchewan River as part of an irrigation project.

CAIRO (UPI) — A U.S. consular official today reached the wreckage of a Texas Oil Company plane shot down by Russian-built Egyptian MIG jet fighters. The bodies of a Texan and a Scandinavian were found in the wreckage.

The incident appeared certain to worsen Egyptian-American relations, already strained by the burning in Cairo last month of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

The craft, a twin-engine C82 cargo plane owned by Mecom Oil Co. of Houston, was brought down near Alexandria Saturday morning while en route from Amman, Jordan, to Benghazi, Libya.

A Mecom spokesman identified the victims as Hoyt Williams, 44, of Texas, and Kejel Grupp, a Scandinavian.

The plane was brought down near the village of Ez Kom Azisa, 25 miles southwest of Alexandria. A consular official inspected the wreckage in a muddy flooded area. He found one of the flier's bodies badly burned. The other was recognizable.

Mystery surrounded the shooting. U.S. Embassy officials here avoided prejudging the facts, but observers said official Egyptian statements on the incident were inconsistent.

The semi-official Egyptian news agency Mena said two UAR fighters "were forced to shoot the plane" when it ignored a warning to land at Cairo airport.

According to Mena, the plane entered Egypt from Israel, started toward Cairo, then suddenly turned toward Alexandria. Mena said the MIGs "fired in the air four times" to warn the plane before bringing it down.

Gilbey's state
the correct garnish
for gin-and- tonic

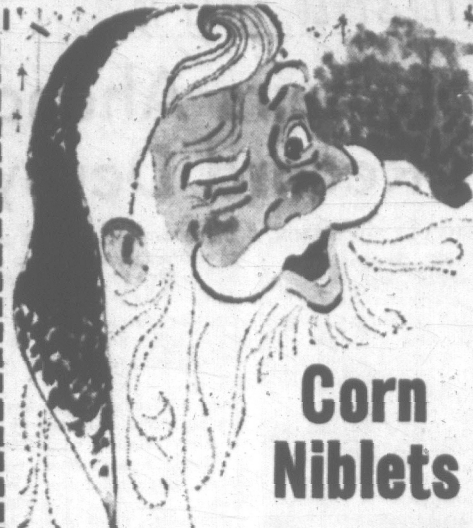

Some gins have rather strong flavouring. Others are utterly tasteless. Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance for a successful gin-and- tonic. A dry flavour that has been the international favourite since 1873. Quite a long time.

A lime slice sits handsomely on the edge of a gin-and- tonic. (Or it can be immersed). The lime adds colour for your eye, a touch of tartness to your drink.

BEATLE-STYLE, THAT IS

Longhairs Ahead
In Record Derby

By JACQUES ROUSSEAU

Roll Over Beethoven.
The Beatles and other mop-haired groups are bopping you two to one in the record shops.

Ludwig runs a definite good second in record popularity, a survey of downtown Victoria outlets reveals.

Sounds by such groups as "The Animals," "The Rolling Stones," "The Dave Clark Five" and of course "The Beatles" take preference in "musical" appreciation by Victoria's record buyers.

The manager of a local department store record shop feels the "yeah-yeah" fad is here to stay.

"It's well anchored," she says, "just as Elvis still sells after 10 years of success, the Beatles will hold on."

The groups' grip on the fans appears deep-rooted.

Eighteen year old Barry Spencer, a customer at one of the record stores, testifies "the kids will play a record on and on-and-on... until mother will scream to turn it off."

Indeed Barry says "I have played records continuously until the grooves were worn out. Then I go out and buy another copy."

BUY THEM ALL

A real fan will buy every record cut by his star.

As a matter of fact some fans appear to buy every record! Nineteen-year-old Eric Stadel, assistant manager of Kent's record shop, has a collection of 1,200 45s and 400 albums. This must be a record!

Some kids place orders by-the-box-full, 24 to 30 records at a time. Even at 95 cents a disc that is a lot of money.

Children's allowances must be going up when ten-year-olds can afford to spend five dollars a week on pop records.

How do you explain this fanatic appeal?

DAYDREAMS

Barry Spencer says "the kids daydream about the popularity, the success, the glamour which surrounds the stars. They identify with them."

The attraction to classical sound, on the other hand, appears to be purely esthetic.

The average customer here is older and more sophisticated.

Although some seem just as eccentric.

There is an elderly gentleman who looks over every groove in the record with a magnifying glass before he buys it.

And the connoisseur who puts on a special pair of pigskin gloves before handling any record.

Turntable fanatics are on pins and needles all the time in an effort to keep up with the latest releases of their idols.

One store has a score of order slips — some unheard — for a soon-to-be-released Beatles record.

And a Victoria doctor has a standing order with the store for every classical record that is issued, regardless of composer, composition or performer.

The Beatles bump Beethoven, yes, but there is certainly no lack of dedication on either side in this "longhair versus longhair" contest.

Counterfeit Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Real George Tasse and Dennis Delane were remanded on $5,000 bail each when they appeared in police court Friday charged with possession of counterfeit equipment. Deputy police chief John Fisk said later the two arrests have in no way solved a counterfeit $20 bill racket that has turned up $10,000 in bogus money in B.C., Washington and Idaho during the past three months.

Santa Leaves for the North Pole

Wednesday Night at 9 P.M. . . . Make Sure He Has You on His List . . .

Santa's off to the North Pole to make last minute preparations for his trip around the world on Christmas Eve. Make sure you've got your name on his list. Come down Wednesday and tell him how good you've been all year.

'Twas THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS AND SANTA SET SAIL

His Eyes, How They Twinkled—But His Tummy, How Queazy!

By TERRY IZZARD
Times Staff Reporter

Santa Claus donned his gum boots and a life jacket this weekend and took to the high seas.

Packing a kit bag and waterproof cape he boarded his boat in Oak Bay, looking every bit the sailing Santa. Unfortunately he forgot one thing... his sea-sick pills.

And before long Santa's "Ho, Ho, Ho's" changed to the more nautical sound of an amateur finding his sea legs.

Not that Santa was any exception.

Half the crew aboard the 56-foot Blue Fjord had their Christmas spirits dampened as they set sail in near-gale force winds early Saturday to take Christmas gifts to children on San Juan and the Gulf Islands. The trip gives children isolated on the islands a chance to see Santa.

16 Jaycees Aboard

Packed tightly below deck were enough toys and goodies to make the holds look like a January clearance sale.

Packed equally tightly were 16 Victoria Jaycees and a green-faced reporter... me.

As ashtrays and miscellaneous crockery shot across the hobbling cabin, Santa's reindeer clung to the spray-lashed superstructure. Defying all laws of nature they were still hanging on, along with a 15-foot Christmas tree, as the tiny craft hobbled into Roche Harbor on San Juan Island.

If King Neptune had visions of thwarting Santa, he must have been sadly disappointed.

As the colorfully lit ship approached the tiny jetty, his booming voice echoed merrily around the snow-clad hills.

Braved Snowstorm

There to meet him were 20 children who had braved a snowstorm and below-freezing temperatures to catch a glimpse of the man from the North Pole.

Their already glowing faces lit up brightly as parcels of Christmas toys were unloaded on the jetty.

Clowns, who earlier had suffered the same fate as Santa, pranced merrily up and down, warming even the coldest looking little bodies.

Already behind schedule, Santa's ship was soon setting sail again, this time headed for Friday Harbor on the island's east coast.

There, a 200-strong reception committee was already waiting on the wharf as the ship's tattered flags appeared over the horizon.

Mayor Jim Browne was first to welcome Santa ashore.

Mayor's Greetings

After a brief ceremony in which Jaycee president Don Paulin read greetings from Victoria mayor Richard B. Wilson and Chamber of Commerce president David Lawson, the children lined up to see what Santa would lift out of his sack.

Soon the ship was ploughing through the unsettled waters again.

On to Deer Harbor, Waldron Island, Bedwell Harbor and Ganges.

snow... wind... and enough friendship and Christmas cheer to make them all seem worthwhile.

At Deer Harbor only a handful of residents made it to the ship.

Everyone else was snowed in.

Gifts for the island's 20 children were left in the local store-cum-beer house.

At Waldron, all but five of the island's 30 inhabitants made it to the jetty. For some it had meant a three-mile trek through foot-thick snow.

Back to Canada

From there to Bedwell Harbor and back to Canadian waters.

By way of change, Santa found his supplies swelled with a food hamper from local residents.

At Ganges the Blue Fjord rendezvoused with her sister Santa ship manned by Bellingham Jaycees.

Parties from both ships paid a visit to the local hospital, leaving parcels with the six patients.

By Sunday the sun was out and Santa sailed into his first port of call on calm seas.

Waiting to meet the boat at Sibley Bay Indian Reserve was another Santa in his own right... Father Gerry Guillet.

Helping Hand

The young Catholic priest helped carry supplies and toys across the shallow waters in his own motor launch.

Young Indian children, numbed by cold, looked hopefully to Santa for warm clothes.

Many were dressed in cotton frocks, wearing no socks or thick boots.

Younger children cried as their limbs trembled involuntarily.

An already broken basement window in the tiny school-church had to be pushed in to make a grotto for Santa.

Water 1½ inches deep swirled around Santa's feet as he lined up the children in front of him.

One little fellow, no more than 18 months old, toddled by himself through the drifts, wearing his unfastened shoes on the wrong feet.

He took one look at Santa... and cried.

INDIANS AND NUNS on Kuper Island look hopefully to sea as the Santa Claus ship appears over the horizon. Loudspeakers on the mast played music which could be heard long before ship came in sight.

5% Salary Hike Given Teachers

An arbitration award handed down at the weekend gives 960 Greater Victoria school teachers a 5 per cent salary hike for 1965.

In one of the last salary agreement settlements to be decided in B.C. before a Dec. 31 deadline, a three-man board chaired by lawyer Gerald Sullivan of Victoria deliberated on material presented in hearings Friday.

The award, which is binding upon School District 61 board of trustees and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, makes the basic-qualified teacher's rate $3,150 taken on staff after Jan. 1.

BOUGHT $3,200

Teachers had sought $3,200 for this minimum and at one point trustees in negotiations had offered $3,090.

The award covers six categories through 14 years of experience for maximum rating, which will now be $9,570 for professionally-qualified teachers.

Teachers asked $9,730 for this top scale during negotiations.

Other samples of the new rates, with 1964 salaries in brackets, appear as follows:

Elementary basic, five years experience, $4,900 ($4,650); EB 10 years, $5,700 ($5,000); secondary basic, five years, $6,600 ($6,275); SB 10 years, $7,550 ($7,550); SB 13 years, $8,760 ($8,315).

Terms of the award also cover principals, vice-principals and supervisors' allowances and extra pay for heads of departments.

School board nominee was Kenneth Murphy and Mrs. Hazel Hodson was named to the board by teachers.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River closed all its island operations, putting 1,000 men out of work.

Operations that would normally continue through the Christmas period are expected to resume Tuesday. Some will not be reopened until after Christmas.

STRIPPERS NEARLY GOT THEIR MAN

Four thieves tried to take the clothes off a prominent RCMP figure in Victoria early Sunday morning.

Their victim was helpless. He was only a mannequin on display at the London Wax Museum.

But the caretaker of the place was no dummy. He spotted the thieves — two couples who had attended a dance earlier at the Crystal Garden — and they fled.

They got something for their trouble however. A transistor radio was later found to be missing from behind a counter in the museum.

2,500 Laid Off In Island Logging

Close to 2,500 loggers on Vancouver Island have been laid off because of last week's snowstorms, a union official said today.

Nearly 200 of them are on the lower island, members of Local 1-138 of the International Woodworkers of America, said secretary Ed. Haw.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River closed all its island operations, putting 1,000 men out of work.

Operations that would normally continue through the Christmas period are expected to resume Tuesday. Some will not be reopened until after Christmas.

Local mills which closed last week during the cold snap are open today, said Mr. Haw. Only a few are out of work due to a cut back in production because of the poor weather.

"DRASTIC EFFECT"

Today's wet weather, following last week's cold and snow, is having "a very drastic effect," said Jim Moffat, business agent here for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Roughly 300 carpenters engaged on outside work are unable to work and would remain so "as long as it pours this heavily."

The weather was having the same effect on laborers, although not as many are out of work.

Another Church Protest

Nearly 100 petitioners today joined in the outcry against proposed liquor sale in McPherson Civic Theatre.

Ninety-eight signatures, representing the congregation of Gordon United Church, appeared on a petition delivered to the city clerk's office.

It is the second United Church body to protest council action in making inquiries about getting a liquor licence for McPherson Playhouse. A third objection was made by members of the session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the WCTU also wrote condemning the idea.

Council is acting on an expression of opinion voiced by a large number of persons who returned copies of 5,000 questionnaires circulated this year.

Petitioners today declared: "We, the undersigned members of the congregation of Gordon United Church hereby register disapproval of any plans to establish an outlet in the McPherson Playhouse for the sale of alcoholic beverages, on the ground it is normally undesirable, socially unnecessary and may constitute a breach of faith with the late T. S. McPherson, by whose generosity the theatre has been provided."

Mr. Collin, an employee of Victoria Plywood, said he is staying temporarily with his brother-in-law, Orel Morneau, 2253 Bellamy.

He said his house and furniture was covered by insurance but he is not quite sure if his total loss will be recoverable.

The fire apparently started in the furnace of the one-storey home, he said. There is no basement to the house.

Mr. Collin, his wife, and two children arrived home to find firemen standing around the ruined house.

PRESENTS DAMAGED

Christmas presents bought by the Collins were slightly damaged by the fire but not destroyed. Their main worry is finding accommodation, said Mr. Collin.

"We need a place with furniture because our own stuff will have to be cleaned and repaired before we can use it," he said.

Volunteer firemen saved the house from total destruction but it is uninhabitable. The wall between the furnace room and the living room is burned out and there is a gaping hole in the roof.

Family at Party When Blaze Starts

A Langford family was made homeless by a fire that gutted their house while they were at a Christmas party Sunday evening.

Jean Collin said the fire did about $3,000 damage to his $6,000 home at 848 Orono.

Neighbors noticed smoke coming out the roof while the family was out. The neighbors called the fire department and managed to salvage some furniture by dragging it out to the street.

Sewer Study Signing Called Breakthrough

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today said a meeting will be held Jan. 7 of all Greater Victoria components to mark a "major breakthrough" towards establishment of a joint services board here.

He said the six municipalities and three unorganized areas involved would sign the documents to launch a $70,000 regional sewer study at the meeting in the Legislative Buildings.

"This will be the start of the joint services board — the first one in the province," he said.

FIRST ACTION

It will be the first formal action taken by representatives of the entire area on a single common project since the new municipal affairs minister proposed his "semi-metro" answer to the problems of metro government or amalgamation.

Last obstacle to the sewer study — which will define the area's needs for the next several decades — was hurdled when central Saanich agreed last week to pay its $5,000 share of the study. It had earlier indicated it could not pay that much.

MEANS A START

The signing of the study documents will mean the region has begun acting on a "semi-metro" basis even before the formal joint services board can be set up.

Mr. Campbell said the Jan. 7 meeting will be held in camera because he will outline various "elements" of the legislation that will be proposed by him to the coming legislative session to establish the statutory machinery for joint services boards in B.C.

He said a third item scheduled for the meeting will be discussion of the next step that should be taken in the Greater Victoria region.

NO SINGLE THREAD

"There have been suggestions from most of the components on what should be tackled next but there is no single thread that runs through them," he said. "They range all the way from parks and libraries to hospitals."

"The only thing that I can see that is an absolute requirement is a regional planning board. If a joint services board is to be formed here, that is something that must be done."

Mr. Campbell said this undoubtedly would involve expanding the existing Capital Region Planning Board to serve as the planning arm of the joint services board.

A Victoria Fish and Game Club general meeting, scheduled for tonight at the Goldstream Clubhouse, has been cancelled. Club official Gary Williams said snow piled up on the club grounds has made the driveway impassable.

B.C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said today no one from his department was sent to a meeting of agriculture ministers in Ottawa Friday to discuss farm labor mobility and other problems.

"We sent a brief with the Alberta delegation because our problems are the same as the ones in that province," he said.

The meeting was held to discuss updating existing federal-provincial arrangements to help mobility of both year-round and seasonal farm workers and discuss other problems affecting labor supply in rural areas.

Q. Could you tell me if there is a track and field club called the Vampires in Victoria? If so, what is the address? If not, could you give me the names of other track clubs in Victoria? P. A.

A. The Vampires disbanded two years ago. Other clubs are Victoria YMCA and the Canadian Legion's Junior Olympic training program which operates in the spring.

How Many Calories Will The Holidays Cost You?

You will hate me for this! It is really a bad time to write about calories. I fully agree that if you count them most of the time you can and should take a vacation from calorie counting during the holidays.

He Shoots, He Scores With Hockey Presents

By Penny Saver

Victorians seem to have welcomed the latest "pro" hockey team with their hearts—especially the youngsters. Early Saturday morning, the arena resounds with the screams of boys and the clash of sticks as they head across the blue line for a goal. What better way to say Merry Christmas to a junior hockey fan than to give him a gift that will heighten his delight in the "fastest game in the world".

One way to assure that your junior "Rocket Richard" will be warm and dry during those morning sessions on the ice is to get him a pair of hockey stockings. Penny discovered some of heavy-weight cotton knit that will absorb perspiration and also the dampness of the ice without shrinking.

There are two sizes—30 inches for the junior player and 36 inches for Dad. They are available in the Maple Leaf colors of blue and white and the Montreal Canadiens, blue, white and red. There are a few Boston and Detroit socks, too. Price is $2 a pair.

And, to keep these stockings in place, there are regulation garter belts selling at $1.35. Made of heavy tape with elasticized garters, they expand to fit any waistline. (If Mom is desperate, they're a good idea for holding up nylons, too!)

To protect a youngster from slashing sticks, flying pucks and the like, I found a hockey helmet of unbreakable plastic to guard against head blows. Slits on the top and sides allow air to circulate freely but are not large enough to be dangerous. They are adjustable to any head size and cost $2.

This store has all sorts of gift suggestions for hockey enthusiasts such as uniforms in all the major team colors, skates, sticks and pucks—even crests for team jackets.

Interested? Then call Penny at 382-3131.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

Herbert Sondheim

Under the skillful designing direction of Herbert Sondheim, this top-rated panel show gets off to a smooth start with long bodice darts tapered to a new slant to clinch the question of fit where it's most important. A choice of sleeve lengths and a neither-high-nor-low neckline promptly settle the problem of adapting the dress to all seasons, all climates. On the skirt issue, deep pleats flank a gentle front-paneled flare, providing the answer to an easy flattering silhouette. The self belt closes with smart grosgrain accents, polishing off a brilliant performance. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you. Suggested fabrics—lightweight wool, silk or rayon crepe, faille, shantung or linen.

DEAR ABBY...

Different Outlooks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter's mother-in-law invited my daughter and her family for Christmas dinner, which is no big deal, because she has a fine big home with plenty of help in the house and she won't have to stand in the kitchen and prepare it herself. Well, she told my daughter to "bring her mother." I don't care for second-hand invitations. I have a telephone and it wouldn't hurt this woman to pick up a phone and invite me herself. Just because I'm a poor widow and haven't a big splendid home to invite her back to is no reason for her to treat me like dirt. What do you think of a person who is this cruel and stuck up?

A POOR WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: I think you are looking for a reason to be "mad" at your daughter's mother-in-law. Be grateful that she asked your daughter to bring you. The woman may be guilty of thoughtlessness, but don't label her as cruel and a stuck up.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old girl and I have a problem. A girl friend of mine can attract boys very easily. She smokes, swears and wiggles. Her personality isn't too good and she isn't that pretty. I don't smoke, swear or wiggle. I have a pleasing personality and I'm fairly pretty. How can I attract a boy without really trying?

UNSUCCESSFUL BOY-SEEKER.

DEAR BOY-SEEKER: I don't recommend smoking, swearing or wiggling (at any age). You could work on developing your personality, but if you should happen to "attract" a boy at age 12, what on earth would you do with him?

DEAR ABBY: How does one tell a dear friend, who is also a handsome, well-groomed, refined gentleman that the next time he goes to his barber he should ask the barber to remove a large, unsightly black-head on his right cheek, near his nose? It detracts from his otherwise clean-looking appearance.

SAN CARLOS.

BRIDES for a free booklet on Canadian Wedding Etiquette
Phone EV 5-9645

DEAR SAN: I would never suggest that a barber remove anything from the face of a client. What appears to be a "blackhead" could be a mole, growth, discolored wart, or a number of other things which neither I nor a barber is qualified to diagnose. If the man is a "dear friend," tell him to see a dermatologist for a professional opinion.

Provide Bicycle To Save Family

The other day a bicycle was stolen in Korea and the theft pushed a man and his family to the edge of starvation. The family occupy a tiny mud hut in a slum in Seoul. The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada heard of the man's plight through their USC social team and provided a bicycle for him. USC headquarters is at 63 Sparks Street, Ottawa 4.

A Party They'll Always Remember

Government House rang with the sounds of youthful laughter on Saturday afternoon when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes held their annual Christmas party for the children of the Protestant Orphanage.

Also taking part in the joyous affair, were His Honor's and Mrs. Pearkes' two grandsons, Anthony and Timothy. Huge decorated Christmas trees, white wreaths backed with evergreen boughs and arrangements of deep red poinsettias were used in the decorations.

The children made themselves at home in the elegant ballroom before proceeding to the lower lounge where they were served a meal of chicken à la king, ice cream and Christmas cake.

Thoroughly enjoying himself, the Lieutenant-Governor helped the children pull fire-crackers and don paper hats and assisted with serving their drinks.

The tables were resplendent with arrangements of huge red and white chrysanthemums and red candles on gay seasonal table cloths.

Seated at the head table with His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes were Mrs. A. M. Ludgate, matron of the orphanage, and staff members, Mrs. O. Wiseman, the Misses Margaret Murphy, Winnie Warn, Trena Jensen and Irene Woods.

Climax of the party came with the arrival of Santa Claus. The ballroom took on the appearance of a typical Christmas morning as the boys and girls, eyes shining, each received a package from the rolynd visitor.

And, when the afternoon was over, each small guest departed, tired but happy, as they clutched their gifts tightly and said their "thank you's."

Their hosts appeared just as happy with the afternoon's success.

FIRST PUBLIC JOB

Lady Gaitskill Given UN Post

LONDON (UPI) — "I am absolutely thrilled," is Lady Dora Gaitskill's reaction to her appointment by the new Labor government to a United Nations post for Britain.

It is her first public job and she plans to leave for New York to take it over "immediately after Christmas." She will represent Britain as a member of its delegation concerned with human rights and social affairs.

Apart from expressing her pleasure with the appointment, Lady Gaitskill declines to discuss it, or herself. "Let me get on with it before I begin talking about it," she said. "I could not have hoped for a more interesting assignment, and I look forward to coming back to the House of Lords and being able to speak with a certain authority on the United Nations."

Lady Gaitskill always has been chary of interviews, including the days when her only role in British life was being the wife of Hugh Gaitskill, the man who, if he had lived, probably would now be Britain's prime minister.

Gaitskill died in January, 1963, with his hand in hers after a one-week losing battle with a severe virus infection. He was, at 56, head of the Labor party which is now in government under the leadership of his successor, Harold Wilson.

A year ago, Lady Gaitskill was made a life peer in recognition of her husband's public service. She became Baroness of Egremont.

Lady Gaitskill, now in her 50s, was born in Russia of middle-class Jewish parents and brought to England at the age of four. Her Lithuanian-born father, Leon Creditor, became editor of the only Yiddish language paper in Britain, The Jewish Voice.

where Wilson also lived before he moved into 10 Downing Street as prime minister.

With a passionate interest in politics, Dora Gaitskill joined the Labor party at the age of 16. She married Gaitskill in 1937 and they had two daughters.

One, Julia, 25, works for the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) and the younger daughter, Cressida, 21, was married last August to Canadian economist Gordon Wasserman. Lady Gaitskill also has a son by a previous marriage, Raymond Frost, whom she hopes to see during her U.S. visit. He works with the world bank in Washington.

As Mrs. Gaitskill she licked envelopes and canvassed on doorsteps for her husband, but avoided the limelight.

She still lives in Hampstead.

Hostesses Make Own Wreaths

During the Christmas season homes are open to everyone at all hours of the day. For this reason a colorful buffet is an easy way to entertain at holiday time. In addition, the buffet is a true symbol of hospitality.

A wonderful welcome for friends and neighbours would be a buffet of individual Christmas wreaths and hot chocolate. Christmas breads play an integral part in most holiday customs. Although they may take many different forms the home-baked goodness of the bread will please everyone from preschoolers to grandparents.

Butter provides the tender, rich goodness for the Christmas wreaths. Once the yeast dough is made, the children will enjoy helping to form the individual wreaths. After baking, frost each wreath with a creamy white frosting and decorate with bits of red and green cherries.

The Christmas wreaths made with real butter can be made ahead of the holiday without losing their perfect fresh flavour. They may be stored in the freezer. When cool, arrange them on waxed paper or cardboard. Place in a freezer bag and press out as much air as possible. Seal tightly, label and freeze. The wreaths will be ready at a moment's notice to serve the holiday callers.

CHRISTMAS WREATHS

Yield: 24 rolls.
Half cup butter, 2 packages dry yeast, 1/2 cup lukewarm water (110-115°F.), 1/2 cup milk,

Adults and youngsters alike will appreciate these cheery wreath goodies when they call during their holidays. Each delectable bite will prove as exciting as the gay appearance of the seasonal rolls.

1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon cardamom, 2 eggs, beaten, 4 to 4 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 cup currants, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts.

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Allow mixture to stand 5 to 10 minutes. Heat milk in a saucepan until simmering. Remove from heat. Add butter, sugar and salt, stirring until well blended. Cool to lukewarm and add yeast. Stir in 1 cup of flour and cardamom. Beat well. Combine beaten eggs with flour mixture. Add enough of the remaining flour, until you have an easily handled soft dough.

Turn dough onto a lightly floured pastry cloth or board. Allow dough to rest 5 to 10 minutes. Knead dough 8 to 10 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place dough in a lightly oiled bowl, and twirl to coat surface. Cover with a damp cloth and let rise in a warm place until dough is doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch down and let rise again until almost doubled, about 30 minutes. Add the currants and the walnuts, a small amount at a time, and knead until the fruit is evenly distributed throughout the dough. Divide dough in half. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll or pat out each half into 12 by 8 inch rectangle. Cut each half into 12 strips. Twist each strip and shape into a wreath. Place on baking sheets. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 10 minutes. Cool slightly and frost with creamy white frosting.

CREAMY WHITE FROSTING

Three-ounce package cream cheese, 2 cups sifted confectioners sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 to 2 teaspoons light cream. Soften cream cheese and add the sugar and vanilla. Add cream gradually. Beat well until smooth and good spreading consistency.

Poinsettias and Holly Decorate Church For Candlelight Ceremony Last Saturday

Arrangements of red and white poinsettias and holly lent a Christmas theme to Metropolitan United Church on Saturday evening when Marilyn Jean McKay became the bride of Albert Dewar Callahan.

Rev. E. Laura Butler officiated at the candlelight ceremony. Organist, Eric Boothroyd, played a medley of Christmas hymns during the ceremony and "Jesu Bambino" during the signing of the register.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard McKay, 3275 Norfolk Road. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Callahan of Prince George.

The bride wore an elegant Empire line gown of imported silk that was styled on princess lines. The bodice was fashioned with lily point sleeves and a portrait neckline highlighted with Guipure lace appliques. Matching appliques accented the detachable train. Her bouffant veil of French illusion net misted from a self-fabric rose and pearl headpiece. Pink rapture roses, stephanotis and miniature sprigs of glittered holly formed her cascade bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father. Identical A-line gowns of electric blue peau de sole topped with toning blue and emerald green redingotes were the choice of maid of honor, Miss Frances Boughey; bridesmatron, Mrs. C. Shaffer, and bridesmaid, Miss Eileen Jacobsen. Blue satin shoes and matching headpieces completed their ensembles. They carried bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and glittered holly.

Laurence Rooney was best man, and guests were ushered to their pews by Jack McKay, Montreal, P.Q., the bride's brother, and Frank Gregory.

A. C. Peck, Vancouver, proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at a reception in the Victoria Golf Club.

The head table was covered with a white damask cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with pale pink sweetheart roses. It was flanked by tall crystal vases of similar flowers. Completing the table decorations were white candles in crystal candelabra accented with Spanish brass.

After a honeymoon trip to Harrison Hot Springs, the couple will make their home in Richmond, B.C.

For travelling, the bride chose a pale pink wool crepe sheath dress topped with an imported double-breasted coat of emerald green.

VICTORIA WEST CEREMONY

Georgina Johnson Wears White Velvet Bridal Gown

Rev. P. V. Samson officiated at the recent ceremony in Victoria West United Church.

The Repairman Is a Woman

TORONTO (CP)—Tontonians putting in a call for gas stove repairs may find the serviceman is a woman in a trim suit and feminine hat and carrying the usual tool box.

Daphne Duncanson passed Ontario government examinations qualifying her to repair stoves and has been answering calls for Consumer's Gas Company for nine months.

Part of her job is to talk while she works, explaining to the housewife what she can do to operate her stove properly.

Before taking technical training, Miss Duncanson used to travel with servicemen to talk to women while the men worked. But she says women listen to her more readily now that she is doing the repairs.

She is also beginning a training program for two more girls to do similar jobs.

Georgina Johnson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Bray of Victoria, and John Leonard King, son of Mrs. H. Shea, Victoria, and the late David King.

The bride wore a full-skirted gown of white velvet with white accessories and a headpiece of seed pearls and crystals. Only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, pink roses and mauve heather.

Only attendant, Mrs. A. Bray, wore a gown of turquoise blue chiffon with accessories in tone and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Clifford Gissing was best man and ushering guests were Jim Petne and Cecil King.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the lace-covered bride's table at a reception that followed in the couple's new home on Pine Street. Walter Hayes proposed the toast to the bride.

The honeymoon was spent in the United States and on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Amos, 2540 Prior Street, will mark their golden wedding anniversary on Boxing Day. The couple was married in Regina, Sask., in 1914 and have lived in Victoria since 1946. To celebrate the anniversary, the couple will receive guests at a reception in the home of their daughter, Mrs. D. Condon, at 1354 Harrison Street. The affair will be from 2 to 5 p.m.

PARENTS ARE IMPERFECT

Marriage Preparations Begin When Child Is Still in Cradle

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preparing children for marriage isn't something properly done on the eve of their wedding day—and with the gift of a book on budgets or baking.

You start preparing them the minute they start becoming aware of the home life around them, the people in that home and the way one family member acts toward another—starting with ma and pa.

This means, in effect, that preparation for marriage begins when the child's in the cradle.

W. Clark Ellzey, acting chairman of the Family Life Education Department at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., makes these points in a new book—“Preparing Your Children for Marriage.”

He maintains that preparation for marriage is a continuous process from birth until wedding day and that perhaps 90 per cent of this preparation actually takes place through children's observations of parental attitudes and behavior in married life.

“As parents,” Prof. Ellzey says, “we help our children and we hinder them as they struggle to become responsibly independent, to acquire respect for authority, to secure status feeling, to discover the joys of giving, to develop a capacity for life . . .”

But as parents, he explains, we are imperfect.

“Our own marriages may be a long way from ideal,” he said, “we may not show all the characteristics of success and happiness. We may be grown up in some respects and immature in others. We may be strong in some ways, but weak in others.”

The ideals of perfect marriage, meanwhile, are what we must struggle to reach—and show the children.

“Ideals are like stars,” Prof. Ellzey said. “Men have found their way by them all across the ages, but no one has reached one yet.”

The marks of a successful and happy marriage cited by the author include:

—Responsible independence. The husband and wife's need and independence is complementary and contributes to the enrichment and the fulfillment of their life. They know about hygiene and about taking care of their physical needs. They carry their share of the work around the house. They pick up after themselves; they are alert to the work that needs doing. They do their share.

AUTHORITY RESPECTED

—Respect for authority. The attitude of the married pair toward authority seems to be a deliberate choice to relate rather than submission or rebellion. As we help our young people to grow up and learn to respect authority, we are preparing them for marriage.

—Sufficient status feeling. The marital partners like themselves as well as one another. They do not think they are perfect. They are aware of ways in which they wish they were different. They are not completely satisfied. But they have, in the main, accepted themselves and have an adequate regard for themselves.

—Joys of giving. People in the happiest marriages seem able to respond to each other's needs because it is easy for them to give.

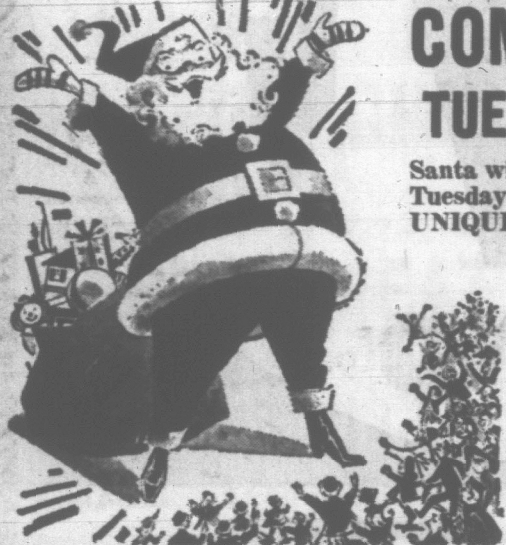

In addition, the happy and successful marriages are marked by a man and a wife who have developed a capacity to love, who have cultivated a competent conscience, who have learned to work and play, who have mastered the management of money.

Last-Minute Christmas Ideas That Can Be Made in Minutes

Make a felt skirt for any round table in your home, end tables, coffee table or your dining room table. They are so elegant and glamorous and so easy to do.

1. Measure the width of the table, divide in half and add to this measurement, the length from the edge of table to the floor. You will need twice this amount for a circular skirt (usually, you will need felt 72 inches wide).

2. Finish the lower edge with ball fringe, holly leaves, or whatever. Some of the exclusive shops have them for around $60, yours can be made for under $10.

While you're at it, make covers for table linens. Take a piece of blue felt (blue keeps white linens from getting yellow), cut corners off and fold sides toward the centre, then fold the bottom up and the top down. Your favorite linens will be kept clean and lovely and ready to use. Finish by adding a monogram out of pre-embroidered initials.

2. Finish the lower edge with ball fringe, holly leaves, or whatever. Some of the exclusive shops have them for around $60, yours can be made for under $10.

'One Late Night a Year'

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Muscovites were told Saturday they can dance and revel until 5 a.m. on New Year's Day—but they are still expected to go to bed early for the rest of the year.

There have been rumors that dining until dawn may be revived now that former premier Nikita Khrushchev has gone, Khrushchev, who believed in early nights, decreed that restaurants must stop serving at 11 p.m.

The rumors appeared to be scotched at a Moscow city council press conference Saturday, when Leonid Deribin, a deputy mayor, told questioners: "We don't think a Soviet person should spend all night in a restaurant."

The press conference, to describe how Moscow will celebrate the New Year, disclosed there will be places for 500,000 people in Moscow's restaurants on New Year's Eve. Officials estimate that 2,000,000 bottles of wine and liquor will be consumed during the two-day New Year holiday.

SNOW SCOOTER DRIVER CARRIED TOO BIG LOAD

SVEG, Sweden (AP) — For the first time Sweden has fined a man for drunken driving on a snow scooter. The driver was arrested by police when returning from a reindeer butchering party in the Lap village of Braendansen with a sleigh hooked to his scooter and himself hooked by what a test showed was excessive alcohol. The fine added up to about $500.

France Honors War Hero

PARIS (AP) — The ashes of Resistance hero Jean Moulin were entombed in the Pantheon Saturday in ceremonies watched by President de Gaulle and thousands of Parisians.

Moulin died 21 years ago at the hands of German torturers. De Gaulle bowed to Moulin's coffin, a simple box stamped by his killers with the number 3857, before it was moved from the steps of the left bank monument to a simple scaffold under the dome. There it joined some of the giants of French history—Victor Hugo, Voltaire, Rousseau.

Moulin tried unsuccessfully to commit suicide early in the Second World War to escape what he thought was pending German torture. He later escaped to England and was parachuted back into France to unify the Resistance movement, a job he carried out before his arrest.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD—New York City politicians should brace themselves for a big scandal. The State Investigation Commission is about to unveil some extremely lurid charges against a recently front-paged Gotham power. They've had their eyes on his wheeling and dealing for some time, and think this is about the time to expose him as a crook with very important connections. . . . Shirley MacLaine has checked into the Sherry Netherland for conferences with Darryl Zanuck on the subject of his problems with Notre Dame, although it's difficult to imagine how an actress can help him with the lawsuit over a film. After all, she didn't write the script, she just said the lines that were given to her.

Johnny Broderick, the fabulous Broadway detective who kept mobsters in line during the twenties and thirties, is seriously ill at his Upstate farm. He was the inspiration for at least half a dozen movies. . . . Some bookies are now giving odds that the Lingo-Clay rematch will never happen. . . . Macabre coincidence: Just when Marion Brando's ex-wife, Anna Kashfi, was making headlines by attempting suicide, Pina Pellicer, Marlon's screen "discovery" of "One-Eyed Jacks" killed herself, at the age of 29, in Mexico. . . .

The lowdown on the Cuban situation: The reason we haven't invaded and knocked out the Castro gang is that he has booby-trapped the island with a network of heavy bombs that can all be exploded from a single switch in his Havana office. He has warned that if things get too hot, he will literally blow up the island and take thousands and thousands of innocent people with him. (Of course, if he started fooling around with all his missiles, millions and millions of Yankees up here could be killed, but he's counting on Uncle Sam to be scared by his threats.)

Meanwhile, interested citizens might well ask the State Dept. why we are not permitted to travel to Cuba, but "Che" Guevara, Castro's right hand man, is allowed to come to the United States, and is even protected by masses of policemen at a cost of thousands and thousands of dollars to the taxpayers.

Some of the cops shielding Guevara from the wrath of his own countrymen were on overtime, because the city doesn't really have enough officers for that sort of nonsense. There were even armed policemen crouched in the grid above the lights while he did a television show. For the record: "Che" wasn't brave enough to face a powder puff in the hands of a TV union makeup man; he ducked, although he was perspiring so profusely he needed a "powdering down" desperately.

Those around the show got the impression that he wanted to look as sweaty and dirty as possible to "identify" with the working classes—rather than the bosses, of which he is one.

MGM's fast-moving producer Marty Ransohoff has three hot films in various stages of production—"Flight of the Sandpiper" in Paris, and "The Loved One" and "Cincinnati Kid" in Hollywood—and has been winging back and forth between Europe and the West Coast keeping close tabs on all of them. His transportation problems have inspired him with a wild new time-saving idea which will make big trade news if he can swing it. He plans to buy a jet plane fully equipped to screen rushes, so he can do part of his work en route to anywhere. . . . Chief Federal Marshal James McShane is now the leading contender for the lucrative post of commissioner of baseball, which Fredrick will vacate early in 1965. McShane probably knows more about the game than any of the figurehead-type politicians who have been considered and rejected.

Billy Rose, a pretty tough cookie when it comes to entertainment, showed up at the screening of "Marriage, Italian Style" and actually had tears in his eyes when it was over. (He jokingly explained that he cried because it wasn't his picture—but nobody bought that.) Sophia Loren's performance probably did it, and probably will win her another Academy Award. It's the best film she's ever made. When I visited her on the set in Rome last June, she told me she thought it was going to be a better picture than "Two Women," and she was right.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and at the second question, a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Dennis Regulinski, age 10, of Flushing, N.Y., for his question:

How Can They Tell Where to Drill for Oil?

A little more than 100 years ago, oil became an important mineral, and the search began for more and more supplies. The first discoveries were near the surface where oil and gas seeped above the ground. But it soon was discovered that the large reservoirs of petroleum were stored deep in the crust of the earth. Nowadays, oilmen explore three factors before they waste half a million dollars drilling for petroleum.

They survey the past geological history of the area, back through millions of years. They explore the types of rock far below the surface. As far as possible they examine the formation of the rocky layers of the earth's crust. A likely place

Use Dynamite

Oilmen drill in areas once flooded by ancient seas. They take aerial pictures and examine the humps and bumps of the surface over a wide area. They look for dense domes of rock that may rest above deeper layers of sandstone. They use a gravimeter instrument to discover differences of slope and density in the buried layers. They use a magnetometer to detect hard layers of magnetic fire-formed rocks. In the most exciting part of the survey, buried dynamite is exploded to create a small, man-made earthquake. Its trembling vibrations are recorded on a seismograph, giving a picture of the different types of buried rock.

A sensible oilman does a lot of exploring before he starts drilling for petroleum. He studies the past geological history of the region and uses different instruments to learn about the nature and structure of the rocky layers below the surface. But even when all the conditions suggest that oil could and should be buried below, there may be none. Perhaps the petroleum never formed in this spot, or perhaps it seeped away.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Jeffery Williams, age 11, of Gibsland, La., for his question:

How many miles wide is our galaxy?

When we look up at the glimmering Milky Way, we are gazing at the vast system of stars—called the galaxy. It is estimated that this enormous pinwheel contains 100 million stars more or less like our sun, which is big enough to swallow our world more than a billion times. All these stars are separated by wide reaches of space.

The nearest star to our sun is more than 25 million miles away. If we try to write down the staggering distances of space in ordinary miles, the figures soon run off the page. Astronomers use larger units to measure the sky. One in the light year, which is equal to 5880 thousand - million miles. The diameter of our galaxy is estimated to be 80,000 light years—and each of these light years equals a little less than 6 trillion ordinary miles.

CALL FOR BIDS AUTHORIZED

Spring Start Planned For Cowichan Hospital

DUNCAN — Claude Green, chairman of the Cowichan and District Hospital Association, said Saturday it is hoped to start building the new $3,650,000 hospital here in the spring.

Authority to call for tenders was granted Thursday Mr. Green told the annual banquet. He said bids would be in by the end of February.

After that they would be checked by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service before the health minister gave the local board permission to award the contract.

Referring to delays in granting authority to call for tenders, Mr. Green stated: "When we heard last week Health Minister Martin was on vacation we thought we were going to get the run-around again."

H. J. Bruch, MLA for Esquimalt, said he believed the government had come to recognize there must be some dispersal of hospitals outside the big centres. Mr. Bruch said: "You may yet set a lead in this direction."

Tofino Still On Emergency Water Supply

TOFINO—Engineers are still working today to try and restore the main water supply to the 500 residents in this west coast village.

The supply was cut off Friday when 700 feet of main pipeline froze and burst.

The supply comes from Meares Island two miles away, and much of the pipeline is exposed on high ground.

While engineers try to repair the pipe, an emergency supply is being provided from a creek about 1,000 yards from Tofino. Water from the creek is pumped into a 50,000-gallon storage tank.

Meanwhile, rationing is in force and water is cut off between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. The nightly shut-down is to ensure adequate water is on hand for fire protection in the village.

The creek was the former village water main.

N. Saanich Hearing Planned for January

THREATENING CHARGES LAID

PORT ALBERNI—Hee Man Low was remanded to Jan. 4 to consider plea after appearing in magistrate's court on two charges of threatening to kill Mong Foon.

Both men reside in this district. Magistrate W. E. MacLeod set bail at $3,000.

Arbitration For Teacher Pay Dispute

NANAIMO — Salary negotiation between Nanaimo teachers and school trustees were due to go to compulsory arbitration today.

The hearing was to be held in the city hall council chamber.

Teachers are seeking a 9 per cent general wage increase, having stepped down from their original request for an 11 per cent increase.

Negotiations were settled last year with a 3.1 per cent salary hike.

The non-teaching staff employees have been given a general wage increase of 5 per cent.

Representing the teachers will be R. J. McMasters.

James Campbell of Ganges will represent the school board.

The appointment of Mr. Campbell was upheld by the court recently after being contested by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Sometimes a sled pulled by reindeer just isn't good enough even for Santa.

That's when he goes modern and takes a helicopter. He will do this Boxing Day when he pays a visit to Indian children at Alert Bay.

Starting from RCAF station Comox, Santa will first fly to the station at Holberg in the north to pick up gifts.

The Christmas presents have been prepared by station personnel who have adopted the 72 Indian children at St. Michael's residential school in Alert Bay.

Comox airmen will play Santa to underprivileged children in the Courtenay-Comox area.

They have also sent a cheque to a Victoria orphanage.

Remember when Bonded Stock came in that plain old bottle?

Well it doesn't anymore. That fine old bottle has launched its last sip. We've designed a new container for Gooderham's Bonded Stock. Tall and refined with classic lines. (Our whisky's now in the best shape ever). And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. To make every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though. Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock Whisky, so does the rest of the country.

Gooderham's have been distilling fine whiskies since 1832

Deportation Said Cover For Payoff

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says Onofrio Minaudo claims his deportation to Italy from Canada last March was a government attempt to cover up a payoff he made to "somebody powerful enough to push the immigration department around."

The report from Custonaci, northwest Sicily, where Minaudo lives, says the former resident of Windsor, Ont., Detroit and Cuba declined to name names and reveal the amount he says he paid because he still hopes to return to Canada.

The Telegram quotes Minaudo saying: "Whether I paid a member of Parliament or a government official, and I'm not saying which it was, certainly it was somebody powerful enough to push the immigration department around."

The alleged payoff took place in 1960.

Minaudo is quoted as saying he wrote External Affairs Minister Paul Martin several months ago about re-entering Canada but never received a reply.

UBC Eliminates Congregation Fall Ceremony

The University of British Columbia has eliminated its autumn congregation and may add a third day to spring congregation in 1965.

UBC's registrar, J. E. A. Parnall, said the university senate voted to eliminate the fall congregation because of disruption to regularly scheduled laboratories and classes during the fall term.

A third day may be added to spring congregation in 1965, he said, depending on deliberations of a special committee established by senate to consider ways of shortening the congregation ceremony.

He said that if no suitable way can be found to shorten the ceremony, a third day will be added to the ceremony.

Mr. Parnall said the UBC senate will continue to approve degrees in the fall for those students who complete their degree work over the summer.

FORMAL MEET
"Only the formal ceremony of granting degrees will be postponed until the following spring," he said.

Students such as teachers, doctors and engineers who require possession of a degree for professional purposes will not be affected by the postponement of the ceremony, Mr. Parnall said.

The university will be prepared to certify that such students have been awarded their degree by the senate, he said.

Russian Navy Bids For World Supremacy

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Navy is bidding strongly to challenge United States naval supremacy, a leading authority on world sea power reported Tuesday.

The naval manual Jane's Fighting Ships said the Soviet Union is modernizing and strengthening its navy "and developing a maritime strategy as a major factor of her overseas power."

Chemical War Alleged

TOKYO (AP)—The pro-Communist Pathet Lao has charged noxious chemicals were scattered over areas of Laos it controls, poisoning more than 100 people, the New China news agency said Saturday. It said six of the people were seriously affected by the chemicals air-dropped by "U.S. imperialism and its lackeys."

U.S. Lowers Demand

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United States has lowered its demands—by about $9,400,000—in a bid to settle the Soviet Union's unpaid United Nations peacekeeping assessments. Its new position is that the Russians can gain the right to vote in the General Assembly in 1965 by pledging around $17,000,000.

Welensky to Visit Victoria Relatives

Sir Roy Welensky, former prime minister of the now defunct Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, will visit Victoria sometime next March.

He is scheduled to make a speaking tour of Canada and the United States in the spring.

In Victoria, he will visit his sister-in-law, Mrs. D. J. Hopkins, 157 Cambridge, and his niece, Mrs. R. J. Bower, 4613 Rockland.

Mrs. Hopkins said Sir Roy "has thought" of retiring in Victoria but doubted he would because of the different climate, ill health and the fact his family is in Africa.

She imagined he would be

MAO ... wants to write

Mao May Step Down As Leader

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communist circles in Peking believe Mao Tse-tung may resign as chairman of the Chinese Communist party, a prominent Hong Kong Chinese reported today on his return from China.

The source, who declined to be identified by name, said Mao would remain the dominant figure in the party even if he resigns.

He said Mao's resignation may be announced at China's third National People's Congress, now in session in Peking. The informant said Peking Communist circles report Mao, who will be 71 Dec. 26, wants to devote more time to writing, particularly on the Chinese-Soviet ideological dispute.

LAMONTAGNE SAYS

Cash Lack Prevented Furniture Payments

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Lamontagne told the Commons last week he waited two years before making payments on $6,000 worth of furniture simply because he could not afford it earlier.

He denied that the furniture was a gift from firms once operated in Montreal by Max and Adolph Sefkind, or that the Sefkind brothers obtained favors or contracts from the government.

Mr. Lamontagne said he bought furniture in the spring of 1962 from the now-bankrupt Futurama Furniture store in Montreal. He said he was not an MP then, but a $12,000-a-year assistant in the office of then opposition leader Pearson.

He was prevented from paying for the furniture immediately because he made a $3,000 loan in May, 1963, to a relative who was sick and wanted to buy a house.

He bought more furniture in December, 1963, for a new apartment he was renting in Montreal. He said he now has paid back about half his debt to a bank collecting sums owing to the bankrupt Sefkind firms and is paying the balance on monthly terms.

The minister denied having taken part in any fraudulent activity. He closed with a word of advice for other MPs and ministers: "If you ever buy furniture, pay cash."

In his brief statement to the House, Immigration Minister Tremblay reviewed his dealings with the Futurama Company.

He said there were four deliveries of furniture—Nov. 15, 1963; Nov. 28, 1963; Dec. 19, 1963; and Jan. 10, 1964—but the order he had made in the summer of 1963 still was incomplete when an account was received. That was on Feb. 19, when the company had been declared bankrupt and the Bank of Montreal was collecting its accounts.

Mr. Tremblay said he sent the bank a payment of $3,341.69 Feb. 23.

He said at no time did he "have the impression of benefiting unduly" from the company.

He denied the "malevolent" interpretation on his actions which had been put in some quarters.

Youths Form Group To Learn Violence

TORONTO (UPI)—The Canada Youth Corps, a far-right group, has circulated an appeal for youths to train in the use of explosives and weapons.

A single sheet of paper calls on youths between the ages of 14 and 18 to join the corps to learn "propaganda, infiltration of subversive organizations; scouting, self defence and survival techniques; demonstrations in breaking up meetings; use of weapons and marksmanship; preparation of basic explosives in demolitions."

a known disseminator of racist literature.

The group said it had "founded a youth corps with the guts to stand up to the destroyers of our society," and invited interested youths to meet at the Social Credit Action party headquarters.

Carmichael, a coin and stamp dealer, denied he was involved in the movement or that he had any ties with Stanley. "They'll do anything for publicity," he said.

Carmichael broke away from the Social Credit party and formed Social Credit Action in the 1963 Ontario general election party, and David Stanley,

U.S. Arrests Cuban As Narcotics Kingpin

MIAMI (AP)—Two expensively-dressed Cubans were handcuffed Saturday as they stepped from a plane here and United States federal narcotics agents think they now have the kingpin in one of the largest narcotics rings in the U.S.

Narcotics agents, who secretly flew with the pair from Honduras, took the two men into custody. With the arrests, nine of the 11 accused of being part of the ring are in custody.

The men arrested were Alberto Maurice, 36, and Vincente Casas, 44.

U.S. narcotics officers said the ring was one of the largest narcotics operations seen in the U.S. in years. He said the ring was conducting a multi-million-dollar business in New York and westward as far as Chicago and Cleveland.

Personal Income Hits $3.6 Billion Record

Personal income jumped this year by some $250 million to reach an all-time high of $3.6 billion, according to the annual summary of economic activity in British Columbia released last week.

The provincial Bureau of Economics and Statistics figure and graph-filled report said this amounted to an increase in personal income from $1,957 last year to $2,068 for every man, woman and child in the province this year.

$83 AVERAGE
During the past year the industrial wage composite statistics showed the average B.C. worker's pay packet swelled by $3.08 to $93.60 a week.

The pages of statistics showed moderate to sharp advances in a large variety of economic yardsticks:

Population rose by 43,000 to an estimated 1,738,000;
Building permits soared from $270 million to $350 million;
Manufacturing revenues rose $200 million to $2.6 billion;
Registration of motor vehicles increased from $75,000 to 705,000;

Value of forest products rose by $30 million to $300 million; And tourist traffic showed an increase of 60,000 to 565,000 cars coming into the province.

Brawling at Rally

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—A political rally erupted into a chair-swinging, shoe-throwing, rock-throwing brawl Saturday night. Police broke it up by charging into the crowd with batons. The fighting broke out at a rally for Miss Fatima Jinnah, candidate opposing President Mohammed Ayub Khan in Pakistan's national election.

Two Flee From Ship

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Two Bulgarian refugees leaped from a Bulgarian cruise ship into the icy Bosphorus Sunday to seek asylum in Turkey, police reported. It was the third time in less than two months Bulgarian refugees had jumped from the Bulgarian liner Nesebar as she crossed the Bosphorus.

HUSBAND STILL MISSING

Canadian Woman Outlines Three Congo Terror Days

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—The wife of a missing Canadian missionary tearfully told Sunday how she was held with 27 other hostages in a single room for three days by rebel Congolese when news of the Belgian paratroop landing on Stanleyville Nov. 24 reached them.

Then when government planes bombed the village near their mission station, the white hostages were dragged out and marched naked to be shot. But some of the group split up and were saved.

Mrs. Dolena Burk, 54, of Calgary and Toronto was among 14 missionaries rescued Saturday by white-led Congolese government forces. Her husband, Rev. Chester Burk of the Un evangelized Fields Mission, was among the missing. Mrs. Burk said she believed he was killed.

The refugees said that 30 white hostages, all missionaries and their families, are believed to have been killed by the rebels.

They include 15 Britons, eight Dutch, four Belgians, an American, an Australian and Mr. Burk.

Rescued with Mrs. Burk were two Britons and 11 Italian nuns. They were brought to Stanleyville by helicopter and flown to Leopoldville aboard a U.S. transport.

They had been held prisoner for three weeks at Bafwasende Mission Station in the north-eastern Congo about 150 miles northeast of Stanleyville.

Sixteen others were missing from Banalia, 82 miles north of Stanleyville. The refugees said piles of blood-stained clothing had been found near Banalia, raising fears that the whites there had been executed.

Refugees said the mercenaries found children's clothes, the habits of a nun and a priest and splashes of blood on the slope leading up to Banalia's ferryboat.

Mrs. Burk said the Simbas became furious when Bafwasende was bombed. "They dragged us out of the house and said 'we will have to kill all of you'."

The rebels then divided the group into two sections. Her husband, four Britons, an Australian and eight Dutch priests were led away.

PAIR FLEE EXPLOSION ON TUGBOAT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A tug exploded and burned in Vancouver Harbor Sunday minutes after its two occupants leaped overboard.

The 32-foot Lordel, with 300 gallons of fuel aboard, burned to the waterline while firemen spent two hours trying to control the blaze.

Skipper Jim Boyd and Rene Beaulieu jumped from the boat after Boyd saw flames coming from the engine and tried unsuccessfully to douse them with an extinguisher.

The boat was owned by Sydney Salvage and Contractors of North Vancouver.

BENNETT MUM

Which Flag To Win Lead Role?

Reporters last week ran up a hypothetical maple leaf flag but it took Premier W. A. C. Bennett a long time to bring himself to salute.

Adding contrast was his quick praise of the Red Ensign and Union Jack.

The premier was asked at a press conference if the new Canadian flag will be flown before Christmas at the Legislative Buildings.

At first the premier hedged and said the Queen had not approved the new color yet so the question was academic.

NEW POLES

Pressed for his views, he finally said new poles probably would be added to the battery at the front and rear steps of the Buildings to add the new flag to the present array of Red Ensign, Union Jack and Provincial flag.

But he would not say which flag would be flown from the main flagpole at the Cenotaph corner.

He added a promise that a provincial order-in-council would be made "so that the Red Ensign and Union Jack may be flown on all suitable occasions along with the maple leaf and provincial flags."

Pharmacists Warn East On Alcohol

MONTREAL (CP)—The College of Pharmacists of the province of Quebec has issued a bulletin warning the public that consumption of alcohol available in a drug store can cause blindness and even death.

The warning came as a province-wide strike of Quebec Liquor Board employees went into its 15th day.

The college's message said that none of the alcohols sold in pharmacies are designed for drinking.

Castro Makes Season Brighter For Shoppers in Cuban Stores

HAVANA (AP)—Cubans seem to be enjoying a gay and better Christmas season than last year, thanks to significant government efforts to improve their lot.

Havana's downtown streets are clogged with shoppers. Lines outside stores, the usual sight in past years under the Communist government, have disappeared.

The government has imported thousands of tons of Spanish candy, olives and nuts, Algerian grapes, dates and wines; Bulgarian apples and cheeses and other novelties normally unavailable.

It also has granted extra food quotas for the holiday—including three-quarters of a pound of meat a person, an ounce of coffee, a pound of rice, a half-pound of black beans and one-half pound of olive oil.

Consumer goods are plentiful, mostly coming from China and other Red bloc countries.

RESTRICT SALES

But strict rationing on consumer sales limits purchases of electrical appliances to one for each family which did not buy one last Christmas.

The less austere Christmas has markedly lifted spirits.

Political slogans have largely vanished from store windows and other places which normally give them prominent display. But radio stations, newspapers and other publications are emphasizing the sixth anniversary of the victory of Castro's revolution, on Jan. 1.

Gone from Cuba are any religious signs of Christmas, as well as Santa Claus, who has been denounced by Cuban newspapers as an "imperialist symbol."

Philippine Trial Asked For Sentries

MANILA (UPI)—The United States will be asked to let Philippine courts try U.S. sentries who shot and killed two Filipino intruders, it was announced today.

Foreign Secretary Mauro Mendez said his office was preparing a note for the approval of President Diosdado Macapagal which would ask the United States to waive jurisdiction.

Airman LC. Larry D. Cole, of Marshall, Mich., is being held on a charge of unpremeditated murder in connection with the slaying of Rogelio Balagtas on Nov. 25 at the Crow Valley gunnery range of Clark Air Force base.

Balagtas and the second slain Filipino both allegedly had intruded into restricted areas of American military installations.

Two marines, Cpl. James A. Edwards of Sebastopol, Calif., and Cpl. James B. Thomas of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, have been restricted in connection with the second shooting at the Subic Bay naval base.

In another development, a provincial official was reported to have asked the national government to declare U.S. Ambassador William M. Blair Jr. persona non grata and seek his recall to the United States.

Some reports suggested that Blair had concocted a bomb plot incident to counteract the effect of the shootings.

500 Baby Teeth Sent to Toronto For Research

VICTORIA mothers have collected 500 teeth from their children in a program to assist Canadian dental research.

The teeth, collected by Victoria branch of the Voice of Women, are sent to Dr. A. M. Hunt, director of research at the University of Toronto faculty of dentistry.

The university collaborates with the Ontario Research Foundation to determine the amount of strontium 90 which accumulates in children's teeth.

A badge with the words "I gave my tooth to science" is given to each donor.

More baby teeth are needed. They can be sent to Voice of Women, Box 21, Victoria.

Judgment Set

MONTREAL (CP)—Judgment will be given Jan. 15 on the merits of a writ of habeas corpus in the extradition case of Lucien Rivard, which has given rise to attempted bribery allegations against a federal official.

Three other men involved in the case will appear in court the same day to have a final date set for a hearing on the habeas corpus writs issued to them.

Cubans Shoot Three As Spies for CIA

MIAMI (AP)—Three agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency were executed by a firing squad for "crimes against the nation's integrity and stability," Havana Radio said today.

Other agents were sentenced to prison terms of one to 30 years, the radio said. It did not say how many others were involved.

The Miami-monitored broadcast identified the U.S. agents shot to death as Ricardo Ulloa Olivera, Daniel Montero Camaller and Desiderio Valladares. Ulloa and Montero were formerly in the Cuban militia, the radio said. It said Valladares was one of the leaders in what it called a "CIA network of espionage named the Western Unique Front."

NEED FOR MANDATE

Early U.K. Vote Speculation High

By DOUG MARSHALL
LONDON (CP)—Rumors of a snap spring election and a change in Conservative leadership are adding an edge of uncertainty and excitement to Christmas celebrations in political circles here.

The basis for the speculation is anxiety about Britain's financial position. Despite the recent international rescue operation, a crisis of confidence in the stability of the pound sterling has demoralized London's financial district.

As an alternative to devaluation, Prime Minister Wilson may be forced to call a spring election in hopes of securing an increased majority.

If the Labor Party can return to power with a stronger mandate, some government strategists think, then big business will be forced to settle down and live with it as best it can.

The gloom in financial circles has deepened because the pressure on the pound is no longer coming from abroad. Financial observers say it is British businessmen who are selling pounds and buying dollars for delivery in the future.

The worst blow to business morale came Thursday when the government broker was forced to step in and buy up British government securities in an effort to prevent blue-chip prices sagging.

Meanwhile there are strong signs that the Conservatives are having their own local crisis of confidence, both over their leader, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and their internal party organization.

Some of the young men in the Tory establishment are believed to want Douglas-Home to quit and a new man to find his feet before Wilson announces an election.

Criticism of Douglas-Home's leadership is based on the inability of the Opposition front bench to provide initiative and drive and its failure to match government speakers in the heat of debate.

Even Conservatives who decline to support demands for a new leader say the party at least needs a new look.

Fern Leaf Or Kiwi N.Z. Dilemma

AUCKLAND (CP)—Canada's flag controversy is matched by an argument on a far lighter note over a New Zealand national emblem.

There is little dispute about the New Zealand flag—a Union Jack in the top left corner, with the four stars of the southern cross on a blue ground. But sports teams and others have been disputing whether the traditional silver fern is a suitable national badge.

Some athletes returning from the Olympic Games at Tokyo say the fern leaf spray in silver was not understood by other teams and they have urged the adoption instead of the kiwi, a New Zealand native bird.

The kiwi is certainly a zoological curiosity—a small creature without wings and covered with brown hair rather than feathers. But it is rare, active only at night, and is not a particularly attractive or endearing bird.

Many New Zealanders are puzzled by the great popularity the kiwi has acquired as a national symbol. There is a growing tendency for New Zealanders to refer to themselves as kiwis and several previous suggestions have been made that the kiwi be adopted as a national emblem for sports teams, on coats-of-arms and the like.

SUGGEST SHEEP

Opponents of the idea claim that the kiwi would take more explaining than a fern leaf, which is at least a naturally graceful and attractive emblem. They suggest that if any creature is to be chosen as a national emblem it should be a sheep, since sheep form the basis of two major New Zealand exports—wool and meat. New Zealand prosperity is often said to ride on the sheep's back.

The issue has even been laid before the government in a question in Parliament as to whether an inquiry should be held into the desirability of changing from a fern leaf to a kiwi as a symbol of New Zealand.

The minister of internal affairs, D. C. Seath, said the silver fern symbol had been worn by most New Zealand representative teams at home and abroad for many years and had won wide recognition.

They were at liberty to change it if they wanted to, Seath said, but the fact that they had not done so was evidence of its acceptance.

Temperatures To Yo-Yo In Air Crash

By RON SUDLOW

Soggy snowflakes gave Greater Victoria up to a one-inch blanket of slush this morning and more is expected tonight and Thursday.

Two Killed In Storm Accidents

Accidents attributed to ice and slush claimed two lives on Vancouver Island over the weekend.

Constable Reginald Williams, 21, of Portage La Prairie, Man., died Saturday when his patrol car plunged into the icy waters of Sooke Harbor.

And logger Gordon Wilson, of Cumberland, was killed while changing the wheel on a car about 1½ miles south of Union Bay.

Const. Williams was trapped in his car when it slid off the icy Government Wharf into 10 feet of water.

It was about 10:15 p.m. when he drove on to the wharf on a routine patrol.

He went onto the narrow ramp and was turning in a parking area at the end when his car went out of control and fell 18 feet into the water.

Local fisherman Gunnar Jacobsen said he saw the rear of the car disappearing over the side.

GAVE ALARM

After giving the alarm he rowed out in his skiff to the point where the car went down.

Within 10 minutes police had a wrecker on the scene. Using a hook to fasten on to the sunk car's back bumper, the rescue team had the con-

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Victoria continues to be on the fringe of a struggle between warm air from the Pacific and Arctic air from the north and east.

This will cause the mercury to yo-yo as the air masses battle it out.

For example, the temperature early this morning was 38 degrees, but plummeted to freezing at noon.

"Our temperatures are still well below normal. It's milder (than last week), yet it's cool."

Heavier snow crept as close as the northern end of the Saanich peninsula which reported a total of five inches today and the Malahat which received another two inches.

WINTER STARTS

Winter, incidentally, officially began at 11:50 a.m. when the sun reached its farthest point south of the equator.

Today is the shortest day of the year. The sun rose at 8:03 a.m. and sunset was scheduled for 4:21 p.m.

Today's wet snowstorm was caused by moist air from the Pacific bound for the U.S. coast. As it passed over, cooler air was drawn down from the north.

This is expected to continue and temperatures for tonight and Tuesday are forecast to range between 33 and 42 degrees.

GALE-FORCE

Winds will come from the east with gusts up to a gale-force 35 m.p.h.

Road conditions here were regarded as treacherous over the weekend as melting snow glazed pavement on local streets when it re-froze.

Greater Victoria police departments reported 35 minor accidents, mostly due to slip-

Bandits Raid Armored Car

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—Three bandits wearing Halloween masks tied up three priests in a church rectory today and then took more than $500,000 from a bank armored truck that stopped to pick up Sunday collections.

It took just about 15 minutes for fast moving bandits to execute the holdup.

F. Raymond Peterson, board chairman of the First National Bank of Passaic County, said $511,000 was taken from the truck and $1,100 from a safe in the rectory.

The robbery, completed minutes before a funeral mass was to begin in the huge church, was pulled off with all the daring of the 1950 Brink's Robbery in Boston in which $12 million in cash was taken and the 1962 Plymouth, Mass., robbery of a mail truck which netted $1.5 million.

DOUBLE LOAD

A bank spokesman said the amount taken today was about twice as much as the truck normally carries. He said this was because of the short work week brought on by the Christmas holidays, thus necessitating earlier deliveries to branch banks.

The spokesman said the truck had left the bank's main office en route to make three church pickups and three cash deliveries to branch banks.

"The truck makes different runs, at different times to avoid just something like this. But apparently somebody had been pretty smart in this thing," the spokesman said.

The stop at the rectory of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church was the first of the day. It was just 1½ miles from the bank.

A priest in an upstairs room of the rectory said he heard a fellow clergyman screaming while the robbery was in progress, but paid no attention because "I thought he was fooling... he's always singing out loud."

KOREANS HELPED

Small Miracles Brighten Season

By MARGE GILROY

Miracles still happen. And there is probably one woman who has witnessed more miracles than any other single person.

She is Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

On a recent visit here she referred to the rebirth of Europe through the Marshall Plan, the economic expansion of Europe through the Common Market, the Far Eastern revolution in Japan and the improved living standards in India in spite of an increasing number of new mouths to feed each year, all as miracles.

But the miracles were not all of this magnitude.

Another centred around a two-wheeled wooden cart.

A man and a wife in Korea were unemployed. They had no money and no hope of ever earning any money to buy food for their family. In fact they had no hope at all, until one day the USC bought them an ordinary wooden cart.

SELL COAL

Today they push the cart through the streets from dawn to dusk, selling brown coal to those who can afford it. They are earning a living. They are eating, and they have hope.

Ship Grounds In Aleutians, 40 Men Lost

Three Ride Battered U.S. Ship

Carrying Cargo From Vancouver

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A Liberian freighter bound from Vancouver to Japan with 30 to 40 men aboard ran aground and all aboard are feared to have perished.

The U.S. Coast Guard station here said today a U.S. Navy plane from Adak sighted the "badly battered" freighter aground on Ulak Island, about 120 miles west of Adak in the Aleutians.

There was no sign of survivors, the aircraft reported during the flight over the smashed ship.

The ship was identified as the San Patrick, a 251-foot converted tanker registered to Manor Investment Company of Liberia. She was carrying a load of wheat and cattle feed to Yokohama.

Winds of 30 to 40 knots and heavy rains lashed the area, kicking up waves 20 to 30 feet tall.

THREE DISTRESS CALLS

The coast guard said the ship sent three SOS calls, the first picked up at 10:40 p.m. PST Thursday.

The call was also heard by a Japanese ore carrier, the Petsoho Maru, which radioed she was in the area and en route to the scene.

The San Patrick reported she was "grounded by the bow" and gave her position as off Amatignak Island, approximately 12 miles south-southwest of Ulak.

The navy search plane located the San Patrick at 2 p.m. Sunday. Despite the high seas and limited visibility, surface and aircraft searched the area principally to the northwest of Ulak, where the lifeboats could have been carried by the seas and wind.

The group of islands around Ulak were scanned but no signs of life were found.

The San Patrick carried four lifeboats, one powered.

(The 10,702-ton vessel arrived off Victoria Dec. 9 to drop pilot and proceeded on her ill-fated voyage.)

Joe Doesn't Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Mystery was compounded by further mystery today in the case of the missing Joseph (Joe Banana) Bonanno, boss of the underworld Cosa Nostra clan.

Bonanno failed to make an appearance as advertised today to go before a racket-investigating grand jury.

Tot Tests Car Skill; Two Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Robert Brooks, 32, was proud of his seven-year-old son's ability to drive a car.

On Sunday, therefore, he took the rest of his family to the Hialeah Race Track parking lot to watch the boy demonstrate. Police Sgt. Robert Frost said.

The boy, whose name was withheld, was driving around the huge parking lot when the car picked up speed sharply, apparently spun out of control and headed toward Brooks and his eight-year-old daughter, Deborah, Frost said.

Brooks jumped toward Deborah, apparently trying to knock her out of the car's path. He was too late. The car crashed him to death, and Deborah died four hours later in hospital.

36 Killed As Trains Hit in Fog

VILLAHERMOSA, Mexico (AP)—A speeding freight train rammed into the back of a halted passenger train in dense fog near here Sunday, killing 36 persons and injuring 75. Three of the injured were American tourists.

Nils Werner of Alhambra, Calif., was reported in critical condition. His right arm had been amputated and he was in danger of losing a leg.

The accident occurred at the mountain village of Tacotalpa, 45 miles south of this capital of Tabasco State in southeastern Mexico. The area is about 600 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Authorities blamed the wreck on the fog and lack of attention on the part of the engineer of the freight train. A member of the freight train crew said the engineer had apparently been dozing and did not see the stopped train until too late. The engineer fled from the scene.

GUTTY SWEDE WINS

He's a Creampuff Champ, But Unbeaten at Eatin'

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—A local "world champion" was crowned here Sunday after a savage scrap in the ancient and manly Nordic art of feasting on outside holiday meals.

The battle of gluttons at a Goteborg restaurant was fought out by two reputed local gourmands.

Still champion is Sten-Ake Ceredhoek, 52. He felled his opponent in the final round by partaking of 8.92 pounds of food from a Christmas table of some 60 courses.

The young challenger, Ake

Eriksson, 33, stayed at a consumption of 8.90 pounds.

The combatants were weighed before and after the siege of the smorgasbord, under supervision of the Goteborg Professional Eating Commission. Champion Ceredhoek, weighed in at 233.20 pounds, while the challenger registered 229.68.

The bout lasted two hours, until defending champion Ceredhoek felled his opponent for a TKO with 2½ ounces of pastepuffs and jam.

As the bell went for round five, the challenger stayed in his corner complaining about stomach pains. Both fighters had passed the 8½-pound mark.

But the eating game is a tough business and valiant Eriksson ground his teeth and decided to hang on, weakly taking some coffee. The champion saw the opening and moved in for the kill. He delivered a decisive blow by ordering pastepuff twists with jam with his coffee. The challenger turned green and crumpled before this unbeatable combination.

Following is an abbreviated list of the main courses:

Four different kinds of herring (one with mustard); rolled ox meat; salted salmon; smoked eel; halibut matured raw in the earth; fish mayonnaise; smoked whitefish; whitefish roe eggs; smoked reindeer steak; lightly salted spareribs; pork back stuffed with plums; smoked pork loin; cured ham; salted

pig's head; pressed calf's brain; baked liverpaste; aspic of shrimps; cold roast beef; German liverwurst; herring salad; cold duck; cold turkey; wood grouse; woodcock; galantine of cock; cold ox fillet; baked game pie; cold reindeer back; chicken chaudiroid; stuffed goose; cold creamed turbot; cold rolls of brill; cold salmon; jellyed trout; mousse of lobster; gratin of herring; "Jansson's temptation" (very salty anchovies with fine-cut potatoes, oven-baked); salmon pudding; "minced lindstrom" (small hamburgers with chopped beets); bread dipped in hot grease; sausage pie; kidney saute; small cocktail sausages with scrambled eggs; meatballs; red cabbage; assorted cheeses and fruits; raisins and nuts.

'T'WAS THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS AND SANTA SET SAIL

His Eyes, How They Twinkled—But His Tummy, How Queazy!

By TERRY IZZARD
Times Staff Reporter

Santa Claus donned his gum boots and life jacket this weekend and took to the high seas.

Packing a kit bag and waterproof cape, he boarded his boat in Oak Bay, looking every bit the sailing Santa.

Unfortunately he forgot one thing... his sea-sickness pills.

And before long Santa's "Ho, Ho, Hos" changed to the more nautical sound of an amateur finding his sea legs.

Not that Santa was any exception. Half the crew aboard the 56-foot Blue Fjord had their Christmas spirits dampened as they set sail in near-gale force winds early Saturday to take Christmas gifts to children on San Juan and the Gulf Islands. The trip gives children isolated on the islands a chance to see Santa.

16 Jaycees Aboard

Packed tightly below deck were enough toys and goodies to make the holds look like a January clearance sale.

Packed equally tightly were 16 Victoria Jaycees and a green-faced reporter... me.

As ashtrays and miscellaneous crockery shot across the bobbing cabin, Santa's reindeer clung to the spray-lashed superstructure. Defying all laws of nature they were still hanging on, along with a 15-foot Christmas tree, as the tiny craft hobbled into Roche Harbor on San Juan Island.

If King Neptune had visions of thwarting Santa, he must have been sadly disappointed.

As the colorfully lit ship approached the tiny jetty, his booming voice echoed merrily around the snow-clad hills.

Braved Snowstorm

There to meet him were 20 children who had braved a snowstorm and below-freezing temperatures to catch a glimpse of the man from the North Pole.

Their already glowing faces lit up brightly as parcels of Christmas toys were unloaded on the jetty.

Clowns, who earlier had suffered the same fate as Santa, pranced merrily up and down, warming even the coldest looking little bodies.

Already behind schedule, Santa's ship was soon setting sail again, this time headed for Friday Harbor on the island's east coast.

There, a 200-strong reception committee was already waiting on the wharf as the ship's tattered flags appeared over the horizon.

Mayor Jim Browne was first to welcome Santa ashore.

Mayor's Greetings

After a brief ceremony in which Jaycees president Don Paulin read greetings from Victoria mayor Richard B. Wilson and Chamber of Commerce president David Lawson, the children lined up to see what Santa would lift out of his sack.

Soon the ship was ploughing through the unsettled waters again.

On to Deer Harbor, Waldron Island, Bedwell Harbor and Ganges.

Everywhere the story was the same.

Parka-clad children...

snow... wind... and enough friendship and Christmas cheer to make them all seem worthwhile.

At Deer Harbor only a handful of residents made it to the ship.

Everyone else was snowed in.

Gifts for the island's 20 children were left in the local store-cum-beer house.

At Waldron, all but five of the island's 30 inhabitants made it to the jetty. For some it had meant a three-mile trek through foot-thick snow.

Back to Canada

From there to Bedwell Harbor and back to Canadian waters.

By way of change, Santa

found his supplies swelled with a food hamper from local residents.

At Ganges the Blue Fjord rendezvoused with her sister Santa ship manned by Bellingham Jaycees.

Parties from both ships paid a visit to the local hospital, leaving parcels with the six patients.

By Sunday the sun was out

and Santa sailed into his first port of call on calm seas.

Waiting to meet the boat at Sibley Bay Indian Reserve was another Santa in his own right... Father Gerry Gullet.

Helping Hand

The young Catholic priest helped carry supplies and toys across the shallow waters in his own motor launch.

Young Indian children, numbed by cold, looked hopefully to Santa for warm clothes.

Many were dressed in cotton frocks, wearing no socks or thick boots.

Younger children cried as their limbs trembled involuntarily.

An already broken basement window in the tiny school-church had to be pushed in to make a grotto for Santa.

Water 1½ inches deep swirled around Santa's feet as he lined up the children in front of him.

One little fellow, no more than 18 months old, toddled by himself through the drifts, wearing his unfashionable shoes on the wrong feet.

He took one look at Santa... and cried.

For him and many others like him the best Christmas present of all is still to come.

Boxes of clothing were unloaded by Father Gullet at the next stop on Kuper Island.

The clothes will be sorted and distributed by the Father during the next week.

Fifty people, including nuns from Kuper Island Indian residential school, welcomed the ship at this stop.

From Reserve

Most of them were from the Indian reserve three miles away on the other side of the island.

They joined in singing The First Noel as the ship sailed away.

Vesuvius Bay was next, a new stop for the Santa ship, followed by Maple Bay, where welfare children from

Duncan were waiting to welcome Santa.

Poor Santa's face turned a brighter red than usual as his pants fell down when he jumped ashore.

A few "Ho Ho Hos" soon remedied the situation as the last of the gifts were handed out.

The rain was beginning to beat on the decking as skipper Korrie Norgaard sailed his ship into Shoal Harbor near Sidney.

Only one little boy turned up on the landing to greet Santa, who was already dressing ready for his trip home.

The youngster got quite a shock to see a thinner-than-average Santa climbing over the ship rail to greet him.

And he'll really have something to tell the boys back home today.

For as Santa went to shake his little hand, his large red pants once more hit the deck.

INDIANS AND NUNS on Kuper Island look hopefully to sea as the Santa Claus ship appears over the horizon. Loudspeakers on the mast played music which could be heard long before ship came in sight.

5% Salary Hike Given Teachers

An arbitration award handed down at the weekend gives 960 Greater Victoria school teachers a 5 per cent salary hike for 1965.

In one of the last salary agreement settlements to be decided in B.C. before a Dec. 31 deadline, a three-man board chaired by lawyer Gerald Sullivan of Victoria deliberated on material presented in hearings Friday.

The award, which is binding upon School District 61 board of trustees and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, makes the basically-qualified teacher's rate $3,150 if taken on staff after Jan. 1.

BOUGHT $3,200

Teachers had sought $3,200 for this minimum and at one point trustees in negotiations had offered $3,090.

The award covers six categories through 14 years of experience for maximum rating, which will now be $9,370 for professionally qualified teachers.

Teachers asked $9,730 for this top scale during negotiations.

Other samples of the new rates, with 1964 salaries in brackets, appear as follows:

Elementary basic, five years experience, $4,900 ($4,650); EB 10 years, $5,700 ($5,000); secondary basic, five years, $6,600 ($6,275); SB 10 years, $7,950 ($7,550); SB 13 years, $8,760 ($8,315).

Terms of the award also cover principals, vice-principals and supervisors' allowances and extra pay for heads of departments.

School board nominee was Kenneth Murphy and Mrs. Hazel Hodson was named to the board by teachers.

2,500 Laid Off In Island Logging

Close to 2,500 loggers on Vancouver Island have been laid off because of last week's snowstorms, a union official said today.

Nearly 200 of them are on the lower island, members of Local 1-118 of the International Woodworkers of America, said secretary Ed. Haw.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River closed all its island operations, putting 1,000 men out of work.

Operations that would normally continue through the Christmas period are expected to resume Tuesday. Some will not be reopened until after Christmas.

Local mills which closed last week during the cold snap are open today, said Mr. Haw. Only a few are out of work due to a cut back in production because of the poor weather.

"DRASTIC EFFECT"

Today's wet weather, following last week's cold and snow, is having "a very drastic effect," said Jim Moffat, business agent here for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Roughly 300 carpenters engaged on outside work are unable to work and would remain so "as long as it pours this heavily."

The weather was having the same effect on laborers, although not as many are out of work.

In addition to the 300, there were 75 carpenters and seven apprentices unemployed because of lack of work.

40-50 OUT

Mr. Moffat anticipated a pickup next month but thought 40 to 50 would be out of work all winter.

Local shipyards reported only a few layoffs—half a dozen at one yard—because of today's wet snow.

STRIPPERS NEARLY GOT THEIR MAN

Four thieves tried to take the clothes off a prominent RCMP figure in Victoria early Sunday morning.

Their victim was helpless. He was only a mannequin on display at the London Wax Museum.

But the caretaker of the place was no dummy. He spotted the thieves—two couples who had attended a dance earlier at the Crystal Garden—and they fled.

They got something for their trouble however. A transistor radio was later found to be missing from behind a counter in the museum.

Another Church Protest

Nearly 100 petitioners today joined in the outcry against proposed liquor sale in McPherson Civic Theatre.

Ninety-eight signatures, representing the congregation of Gordon United Church, appeared on a petition delivered to the city clerk's office.

It is the second United Church body to protest council action in making inquiries about getting a liquor licence for McPherson Playhouse. A third objection was made by members of the session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the WCTU also wrote condemning the idea.

Council is acting on an expression of opinion voiced by a large number of persons who returned copies of 5,000 questionnaires circulated this year.

Petitioners today declared:

"We, the undersigned members of the congregation of Gordon United Church hereby register disapproval of any plans to establish an outlet in the McPherson Playhouse for the sale of alcoholic beverages, on the ground it is normally undesirable, socially unnecessary and may constitute a breach of faith with the late T. S. McPherson, by whose generosity the theatre has been provided."

Business was heaviest in thawing out pipes rather than repairing cracked ones.

One car wash company said business today is "terrible." Only eight or 10 cars came in this morning compared with an average of at least 30.

PRESENTS DAMAGED

Christmas presents bought by the Collins were slightly damaged by the fire but not destroyed. Their main worry is finding accommodation, said Mr. Collin.

"We need a place with furniture because our own stuff will have to be cleaned and repaired before we can use it," he said.

SPLIT DECISION GIVEN IN RESTAURANT FIGHT

A Vancouver man who said he tried to stop several youths from using bad language in a city restaurant early last Saturday ended up being charged with causing a disturbance.

But Emil Dosen, 2145 East 11th Ave., Vancouver, escaped any punishment when he pleaded guilty today to the offence.

The youths involved were less lucky. Helge Isdahl, 2618 Roseberry, was fined $50. Paul Tucker, 2601 Burdick, was fined $25.

Police found Isdahl and Dosen fighting when they arrived at Paul's Restaurant Drive-In. The fight had been going on for five minutes and Crown prosecutor Peter Birckett said, it alarmed the patrons in the cafe.

Dosen told Magistrate William Ostler that he had been in the booth next to where Isdahl and Tucker were sitting. He said they were shouting about how much they could drink and using foul language. He told them to stop and was hit several times.

Dosen said Isdahl tried to kick him.

The magistrate asked Isdahl, "What Dosen says is correct, isn't it?"

Isdahl replied, "Not all of it. The language wasn't loud."

The magistrate said he believed "every word" that Dosen said and he suspended sentence on him.

Date Set Jan. 5 For Hankinson Preliminary

A date will be set Jan. 5 for the preliminary hearing of two charges against former city car dealer George K. Hankinson.

He is charged with unlawfully conferring benefits on G. E. P. Jones, suspended chairman of the B.C. purchasing commission.

The charges allege that the benefits were given at a time when Pacific Chrysler, the company at one time operated by Mr. Hankinson, was doing business with the government.

Mr. Jones is charged with accepting the benefits and his trial is under way.

Lawyers for both sides agreed in city court this morning to set the date for Mr. Hankinson's hearing on Jan. 5.

$3,000 Damage As Fire Guts Langford Home

Family at Party When Blaze Starts

A Langford family was made homeless by a fire that gutted their house while they were at a Christmas party Sunday evening.

Jean Collin said the fire did about $3,000 damage to his $6,000 home at 818 Orono.

Neighbors noticed smoke coming out the roof while the family was out. The neighbors called the fire department and managed to salvage some furniture by dragging it out to the street.

Volunteer firemen saved the house from total destruction but it is uninhabitable. The wall between the furnace room and the living room is burned out and there is a gaping hole in the roof.

Mr. Collin, an employee of Victoria Plywood, said he is staying temporarily with his brother-in-law, Orel Morneau, 2233 Bellamy.

He said his house and furniture was covered by insurance but he is not quite sure if his total loss will be recoverable.

The fire apparently started in the furnace of the one-story home, he said. There is no basement to the house.

Mr. Collin, his wife, and two children arrived home to find firemen standing around the ruined house.

PRESENTS DAMAGED

Christmas presents bought by the Collins were slightly damaged by the fire but not destroyed. Their main worry is finding accommodation, said Mr. Collin.

"We need a place with furniture because our own stuff will have to be cleaned and repaired before we can use it," he said.

Sewer Study Signing Called Breakthrough

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today said a meeting will be held Jan. 7 of all Greater Victoria components to mark a "major breakthrough" towards establishment of a joint services board here.

He said the six municipalities and three unorganized areas involved would sign the documents to launch a $70,000 regional sewer study at the meeting in the Legislative Buildings.

"This will be the start of the joint services board—the first one in the province," he said.

FIRST ACTION

It will be the first formal action taken by representatives of the entire area on a single common project since the new municipal affairs minister proposed his "semi-metro" answer to the problems of metro government or amalgamation.

Last obstacle to the sewer study—which will define the area's needs for the next several decades—was hurdled when central Saanich agreed last week to pay its $5,000 share of the study. It had earlier indicated it could not pay that much.

MEANS A START

The signing of the study documents will mean the region has begun acting on a "semi-metro" basis even before the formal joint services board can be set up.

Mr. Campbell said the Jan. 7 meeting will be held in camera because he will outline various "elements" of the legislation that will be proposed by him to the coming legislative session to establish the statutory machinery for joint services boards in B.C.

He said a third item scheduled for the meeting will be discussion of the next step that should be taken in the Greater Victoria region.

NO SINGLE THREAD

"There have been suggestions from most of the components on what should be tackled next but there is no single thread that runs through them," he said. "They range all the way from parks and libraries to hospitals."

"The only thing that I can see that is an absolute requirement is a regional planning board. If a joint services board is to be formed here, that is something that must be done."

Mr. Campbell said this undoubtedly would involve expanding the existing Capital Region Planning Board to serve as the planning arm of the joint services board.

Topics of Day

Negotiations for purchase and restoration of Craigflower Manor as an historic site are still in the early stages but there is hope that it will be accomplished by next summer.

Both the provincial and federal governments are involved in the proposal and it will require assent of both legislative bodies.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace today said the project would include purchase of some surrounding property to prevent the 110-year-old farmhouse from being hemmed in by commercial development.

A 26-year-old man escaped serious injury when his car went out of control on Douglas Street Sunday evening, crashed into a motel and then went on fire.

Clement Thibault, 210 Olsen, was at first feared to be seriously hurt but he was discharged from hospital after being detained overnight.

Police said his car crashed into the Thunderbird Motel, 600 Douglas, shortly after 7:30 Sunday evening. A small fire that broke out after the accident was quickly extinguished.

Hugh McDonald, 1960 Fort, is reported today in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Thirty Grade 5 students at George Jay elementary school have given $32 to Goodwill Enterprises as a Christmas present.

The money was raised through candy and white elephant sales and a self-denial fund.

A Victoria Fish and Game Club general meeting, scheduled for tonight at the Goldstream Clubhouse, has been cancelled.

Club official Gary Williams said snow piled up on the club grounds has made the driveway impassable.

B.C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said today no one from his department was sent to a meeting of agriculture ministers in Ottawa Friday to discuss farm labor mobility and other problems.

"We sent a brief with the Alberta delegation because our problems are the same as the ones in that province," he said.

The meeting was held to discuss updating existing federal-provincial arrangements to help mobility of both year-round and seasonal farm workers and discuss other problems affecting labor supply in rural areas.

Drug Firm Listing Advocated

OTTAWA (CP)—A special Commons committee has recommended to the government that all drug manufacturers and drug distributors be placed under a form of federal registration.

It also asks that the staff of the federal food and drug directorate be doubled to end serious understaffing.

The food and drug committee said the registration of drug firms should be done as soon as possible. In the case of new companies, registration should be required before they place products on the market.

It noted that there now is no provision for the licensing or registration of firms.

"The committee feels this is unwise and could possibly lead to the production of unsafe drugs."

The committee's report said registration would be less complicated than licensing but could be made as effective through penalties for non-compliance.

Hydro Buys Used Bridge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second-hand 1,200-foot bridge has been purchased by British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority for use near the Columbia River dam site at Mica Creek.

A spokesman for B.C. Hydro said the bridge has been bought from the federal Crown Assets Corporation for $84,000 and will be dismantled and moved to Revelstoke next summer.

The bridge was installed in 1959 across the South Saskatchewan River as part of an irrigation project.

CAIRO (UPI)—A U.S. consular official today reached the wreckage of a Texas Oil Company plane shot down by Russian-built Egyptian MIG jet fighters. The bodies of a Texan and a Scandinavian were found in the wreckage.

The incident appeared certain to worsen Egyptian-American relations, already strained by the burning in Cairo last month of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

The craft, a twin-engine C82 cargo plane owned by Mecon Oil Co. of Houston, was brought down near Alexandria Saturday morning while en route from Amman, Jordan, to Benghazi, Libya.

A Mecon spokesman identified the victims as Hoyt Williams, 44, of Texas, and Kejel Grupp, a Scandinavian.

The plane was brought down near the village of Ez Kom Azisa, 25 miles southwest of Alexandria. A consular official inspected the wreckage in a muddy flooded area. He found one of the fliers' bodies badly burned. The other was recognizable.

Mystery surrounded the shooting. U.S. Embassy officials have avoided prejudging the facts, but observers said official Egyptian statements on the incident were inconsistent.

The semi-official Egyptian news agency Mena said two U.A.R. fighters "were forced to shoot the plane" when it ignored a warning to land at Cairo airport.

According to Mena, the plane entered Egypt from Israel, started toward Cairo, then suddenly turned toward Alexandria. Mena said the MIGs "fired in the air four times" to warn the plane before bringing it down.

Annapolis Officially Joins Fleet

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Navy's newest and most modern warship, HMCS Annapolis, officially became a member of the fleet here Saturday at a colorful commissioning ceremony marked by traditional naval formalities.

The sleek 336-foot ship, whose keel was laid down at Halifax Shipyards Limited here in September, 1961, was launched in April of 1963. She was built at a cost of more than $35,000,000. She is the 20th destroyer escort built by Canadian yards for the navy since the Second World War.

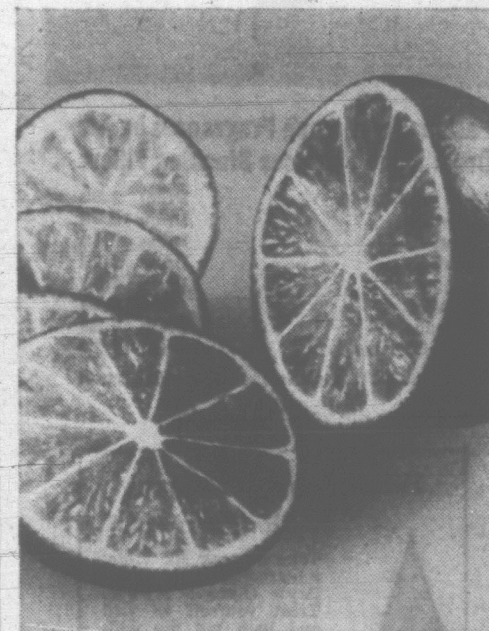

The ceremony was the first commissioning of a new naval vessel to occur since integration of the Canadian armed forces began in August, and it was the first time an army officer had presided at such a function.

Lt.-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh, vice-chief of the defence staff, presided at the ceremonies, replacing Air Marshal F. R. Miller, chief of defence staff. Air Chief Marshal Miller was unable to attend the commissioning due to the pressure of his duties.

'Twas The Week Before Christmas And Santa Set Sail

His Eyes, How They Twinkled—But His Tummy, How Queasy!

By TERRY IZZARD
Times Staff Reporter

Santa Claus donned his gum boots and life jacket this weekend and took to the high seas.

Packing a kit bag and waterproof cape he boarded his boat in Oak Bay, looking every bit the sailing Santa.

Unfortunately he forgot one thing... his sea-sick pills.

And before long Santa's "Ho, Ho, Hos" changed to the more nautical sound of an amateur finding his sea legs.

Not that Santa was any exception.

Half the crew aboard the 56-foot Blue Fjord had their Christmas spirits dampened as they set sail in near-gale force winds early Saturday to take Christmas gifts to children on San Juan and the Gulf Islands. The trip gives children isolated on the islands a chance to see Santa.

16 Jaycees Aboard

Packed tightly below deck were enough toys and goodies to make the holds look like a January clearance sale.

Packed equally tightly were 16 Victoria Jaycees and a green-faced reporter... me.

As ashtrays and miscellaneous crockery shot across the bobbing cabin, Santa's reindeer clung to the spray-lashed superstructure. Defying all laws of nature they were still hanging on, along with a 15-foot Christmas tree, as the tiny craft hobbled into Roche Harbor on San Juan Island.

If King Neptune had visions of thwarting Santa, he must have been sadly disappointed.

As the colorfully lit ship approached the tiny jetty, his booming voice echoed merrily around the snow-clad hills.

Braved Snowstorm

There to meet him were 20 children who had braved a snowstorm and below-freezing temperatures to catch a glimpse of the man from the North Pole.

Their already glowing faces lit up brightly as parcels of Christmas toys were unloaded on the jetty.

Clowns, who earlier had suffered the same fate as Santa, pranced merrily up and down, warming even the coldest looking little bodies.

Already behind schedule, Santa's ship was soon setting sail again, this time headed for Friday Harbor on the island's east coast.

There, a 200-strong reception committee was already waiting on the wharf as the ship's tattered flags appeared over the horizon.

Mayor Jim Browne was first to welcome Santa ashore.

Mayor's Greetings

After a brief ceremony in which Jaycee president Don Paulin read greetings from Victoria mayor Richard B. Wilson and Chamber of Commerce president David Lawson, the children lined up to see what Santa would lift out of his sack.

Soon the ship was ploughing through the unsettled waters again.

On to Deer Harbor, Waldron Island, Bedwell Harbor and Ganges.

Everywhere the story was the same.

Parka-clad children...

snow... wind... and enough friendship and Christmas cheer to make them all seem worthwhile.

At Deer Harbor only a handful of residents made it to the ship.

Everyone else was snowed in.

Gifts for the island's 20 children were left in the local store-cum-beer house.

At Waldron, all but five of the island's 30 inhabitants made it to the jetty. For some it had meant a three-mile trek through foot-thick snow.

Back to Canada

From there to Bedwell Harbor and back to Canadian waters.

By way of change, Santa

found his supplies swelled with a food hamper from local residents.

At Ganges the Blue Fjord rendezvoused with her sister Santa ship manned by Bellingham Jaycees.

Parties from both ships paid a visit to the local hospital, leaving parcels with the six patients.

By Sunday the sun was out

and Santa sailed into his first port of call on calm seas.

Waiting to meet the boat at Sibbell Bay Indian Reserve was another Santa in his own right... Father Gerry Guillett.

Helping Hand

The young Catholic priest helped carry supplies and toys across the shallow waters in his own motor launch.

Young Indian children, numbed by cold, looked hopefully to Santa for warm clothes.

Many were dressed in cotton frocks, wearing no socks or thick boots.

Younger children cried as their limbs trembled involuntarily.

An already broken basement window in the tiny school-church had to be pushed in to make a grotto for Santa.

Water 1½ inches deep swirled around Santa's feet as he lined up the children in front of him.

One little fellow, no more than 18 months old, toddled by himself through the drifts, wearing his unfastened shoes on the wrong feet.

He took one look at Santa... and cried.

For him and many others like him the best Christmas present of all is still to come.

Boxes of clothing were unloaded by Father Guillett at the next stop on Kuper Island.

The clothes will be sorted and distributed by the Father during the next week.

Fifty people, including nuns from Kuper Island Indian residential school, welcomed the ship at this stop.

From Reserve

Most of them were from the Indian reserve three miles away on the other side of the island.

They joined in singing The First Noel as the ship sailed away.

Vesuvius Bay was next, a new stop for the Santa ship, followed by Maple Bay, where welfare children from

Duncan were waiting to welcome Santa.

Poor Santa's face turned a brighter red than usual as his pants fell down when he jumped ashore.

A few "Ho Ho Hos" soon remedied the situation as the last of the gifts were handed out.

The rain was beginning to beat on the decking as skipper Korrie Norgaard sailed his ship into Shoal Harbor near Sidney.

Only one little boy turned up on the landing to greet Santa, who was already dressing ready for his trip home.

The youngster got quite a shock to see a thinner-than-average Santa climbing over the ship rail to greet him.

And he'll really have something to tell the boys back home today.

For as Santa went to shake his little hand, his large red pants once more hit the deck.

INDIANS AND NUNS on Kuper Island look hopefully to sea as the Santa Claus ship appears over

5% Salary Hike Given Teachers

An arbitration award handed down at the weekend gives 960 Greater Victoria school teachers a 5 per cent salary hike for 1965.

In one of the last salary agreement settlements to be decided in B.C. before a Dec. 31 deadline, a three-man board chaired by lawyer Gerald Sullivan of Victoria deliberated on material presented in hearings Friday.

The award, which is binding upon School District 61 board of trustees and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, makes the basically-qualified teacher's rate $3,150 if taken on staff after Jan. 1.

SOUGHT $3,200

Teachers had sought $3,200 for this minimum and at one point trustees in negotiations had offered $3,080.

The award covers six categories through 14 years of experience for maximum rating, which will now be $9,570 for professionally qualified teachers.

Teachers asked $9,730 for this top scale during negotiations.

Other samples of the new rates, with 1964 salaries in brackets, appear as follows:

Elementary basic, five years experience, $4,900 ($4,650); EB 10 years, $5,700 ($5,450); secondary basic, five years, $6,600 ($6,350); SB 10 years, $7,550 ($7,300); SB 13 years, $8,760 ($8,510).

Terms of the award also cover principals, vice-principals and supervisors' allowances and extra pay for heads of departments.

School board nominee was Kenneth Murphy and Mrs. Hazel Hodson was named to the board by teachers.

2,500 Laid Off In Island Logging

Close to 2,500 loggers on Vancouver Island have been laid off because of last week's snowstorms, a union official said today.

Nearly 200 of them are on the lower island, members of Local 1-118 of the International Woodworkers of America, said secretary Ed. Haw.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River closed all its island operations, putting 1,000 men out of work.

Operations that would normally continue through the Christmas period are expected to resume Tuesday. Some will not be reopened until after Christmas.

Local mills which closed last week during the cold snap are open today, said Mr. Haw. Only a few are out of work due to a cut back in production because of the poor weather.

"DRASTIC EFFECT"

Today's wet weather, following last week's cold and snow, is having "a very drastic effect," said Jim Moffat, business agent here for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Roughly 300 carpenters engaged on outside work are unable to work and would remain so "as long as it pours this heavily."

The weather was having the same effect on laborers, although not as many are out of work.

In addition to the 300, there were 75 carpenters and seven apprentices unemployed because of lack of work.

10-50 OUT

Mr. Moffat anticipated a pick-up next month but thought 40 to 50 would be out of work all winter.

Local shipyards reported only a few layoffs—half a dozen at one yard—because of today's wet snow.

STRIPPERS NEARLY GOT THEIR MAN

Four thieves tried to take the clothes off a prominent RCMP figure in Victoria early Sunday morning.

Their victim was helpless. He was only a mannequin on display at the London Wax Museum.

But the caretaker of the place was no dummy. He spotted the thieves—two couples who had attended a dance earlier at the Crystal Garden—and they fled.

They got something for their trouble however. A transistor radio was later found to be missing from behind a counter in the museum.

Another Church Protest

Nearly 100 petitioners today joined in the outcry against proposed liquor sale in McPherson Civic Theatre.

Ninety-eight signatures, representing the congregation of Gordon United Church, appeared on a petition delivered to the city clerk's office.

It is the second United Church body to protest council action in making inquiries about getting a liquor licence for McPherson Playhouse. A third objection was made by members of the session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the WCTU also wrote condemning the idea.

Council is acting on an expression of opinion voiced by a large number of persons who returned copies of 5,000 questionnaires circulated this year.

Petitioners today declared:

"We, the undersigned members of the congregation of Gordon United Church hereby register disapproval of any plans to establish an outlet in the McPherson Playhouse for the sale of alcoholic beverages, on the ground it is normally undesirable, socially unnecessary and may constitute a breach of faith with the late T. S. McPherson, by whose generosity the theatre has been provided."

Family at Party When Blaze Starts

A Langford family was made homeless by a fire that gutted their house while they were at a Christmas party Sunday evening.

Jean Collin said the fire did about $3,000 damage to his $6,000 home at 848 Orono.

Neighbors noticed smoke coming out the roof while the family was out. The neighbors called the fire department and managed to salvage some furniture by dragging it out to the street.

Volunteer firemen saved the house from total destruction but it is uninhabitable. The wall between the furnace room and the living room is burned out and there is a gaping hole in the roof.

Mr. Collin, an employee of Victoria Plywood, said he is staying temporarily with his brother-in-law, Orel Morneau, 2253 Bellamy.

He said his house and furniture was covered by insurance but he is not quite sure if his total loss will be recoverable.

The fire apparently started in the furnace of the one-storey home, he said. There is no basement to the house.

Mr. Collin, his wife, and two children arrived home to find firemen standing around the ruined house.

PRESENTS DAMAGED

Christmas presents bought by the Collins were slightly damaged by the fire but not destroyed. Their main worry is finding accommodation, said Mr. Collin.

"We need a place with furniture because our own stuff will have to be cleaned and repaired before we can use it," he said.

January 7 'Start' On Semi-Metro

Sewer Study Signing Called Breakthrough

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today said a meeting will be held Jan. 7 of all Greater Victoria components to mark a "major breakthrough" towards establishment of a joint services board here.

He said the six municipalities and three unorganized areas involved would sign the documents to launch a $70,000 regional sewer study at the meeting in the Legislative Buildings.

"This will be the start of the joint services board—the first one in the province," he said.

It will be the first formal action taken by representatives of the entire area on a single common project since the new municipal affairs minister proposed his "semi-metro" answer to the problems of metro government or amalgamation.

Last obstacle to the sewer study—which will define the area's needs for the next several decades—was hurdled when central Saanich agreed last week to pay its $5,000 share of the study. It had earlier indicated it could not pay that much.

MEANS A START

The signing of the study documents will mean the region has begun acting on a "semi-metro" basis even before the formal joint services board can be set up.

Mr. Campbell said the Jan. 7 meeting will be held in camera because he will outline various "elements" of the legislation that will be proposed by him to the coming legislative session to establish the statutory machinery for joint services boards in B.C.

He said a third item scheduled for the meeting will be discussion of the next step that should be taken in the Greater Victoria region.

NO SINGLE THREAD

"There have been suggestions from most of the components on what should be tackled next but there is no single thread that runs through them," he said.

"They range all the way from parks and libraries to hospitals."

"The only thing that I can see that is an absolute requirement is a regional planning board. If a joint services board is to be formed here, that is something that must be done."

Mr. Campbell said this undoubtedly would involve expanding the existing Capital Region Planning Board to serve as the planning arm of the joint services board.

Negotiations for purchase and restoration of Craigflower Manor as an historic site are still in the early stages but there is hope that it will be accomplished by next summer.

Both the provincial and federal governments are involved in the proposal and it will require assent of both legislative bodies.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace today said the project would include purchase of some surrounding property to prevent the 110-year-old farmhouse from being hemmed in by commercial development.

A 26-year-old man escaped serious injury when his car went out of control on Douglas Street Sunday evening, crashed into a motel and then went on fire.

Clement Thibault, 210 Olsen, was at first feared to be seriously hurt but he was discharged from hospital after being detained overnight.

Police said his car crashed into the Thunderbird Motel, 600 Douglas, shortly after 7:30 Sunday evening. A small fire that broke out after the accident was quickly extinguished.

Earlier Sunday a 72-year-old man suffered a broken leg when a car driven by his wife was in collision with another vehicle on Dallas Road opposite Beacon Hill Park Look-out.

Hugh McDonald, 1960 Fort, is reported today in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Thirty Grade 5 students at George Jay elementary school have given $32 to Goodwill Enterprises as a Christmas present.

The money was raised through candy and white elephant sales and a self-denial fund.

SPLIT DECISION GIVEN IN RESTAURANT FIGHT

A Vancouver man who said he tried to stop several youths from using bad language in a city restaurant early last Saturday ended up being charged with causing a disturbance.

But Emil Dosen, 2145 East 11th Ave., Vancouver, escaped any punishment when he pleaded guilty today to the offence.

The youths involved were less lucky. Helge Isdahl, 2618 Roseberry, was fined $50. Paul Tucker, 2601 Burdick, was fined $25.

Police found Isdahl and Dosen fighting when they arrived at Paul's Restaurant Drive-In. The fight had been going on for five minutes and, Crown prosecutor Peter Birckett said, it alarmed the patrons in the cafe.

Dosen told Magistrate William Ostler that he had been in the booth next to where Isdahl and Tucker were sitting. He said they were shouting about how much they could drink and using foul language. He told them to stop and was hit several times.

Dosen said Isdahl tried to kick him.

The magistrate asked Isdahl, "What Dosen says is correct, isn't it?"

Isdahl replied, "Not all of it. The language wasn't loud."

The magistrate said he believed "every word" that Dosen said and he suspended sentence on him.

Date Set Jan. 5 For Hankinson Preliminary

A date will be set Jan. 5 for the preliminary hearing of two charges against former city car dealer George K. Hankinson.

He is charged with unlawfully conferring benefits on G. E. P. Jones, suspended chairman of the B.C. purchasing commission.

The charges allege that the benefits were given at a time when Pacific Chrysler, the company at one time operated by Mr. Hankinson, was doing business with the government.

Mr. Jones is charged with accepting the benefits and his trial is under way.

Lawyers for both sides agreed in city court this morning to set the date for Mr. Hankinson's hearing on Jan. 5.

Two Killed
In Storm
Accidents

Accidents attributed to ice and slush claimed two lives on Vancouver Island over the weekend.

Constable Reginald Williams, 21, of Portage La Prairie, Man., died Saturday when his patrol car plunged into the icy waters of Sooke Harbor.

And logger Gordon Wilson, of Cumberland, was killed while changing the wheel on a car about 1½ miles south of Union Bay.

Const. Williams was trapped in his car when it slid off the icy Government Wharf into 10 feet of water.

It was about 10:15 p.m. when he drove on to the wharf on a routine patrol.

He went along the narrow ramp and was turning in a parking area at the end when his car went out of control and fell 18 feet into the water.

Local fisherman Gunnar Jacobsen said he saw the rear of the car disappearing over the side.

GAVE ALARM

After giving the alarm he rowed out in his skiff to the point where the car went down.

Within 10 minutes police had a wrecker on the scene.

Using a hook to fasten on to the sun's car back bumper, the rescue team had the con-

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Victoria continues to be on the fringe of a struggle between warm air from the Pacific and Arctic air from the north and east.

This will cause the mercury to yo-yo as the air masses battle it out.

For example, the temperature early this morning was 38 degrees, but plummeted to freezing at noon.

"Our temperatures are still well below normal. It's milder (than last week), yet it's cool."

Heavier snow crept as close as the northern end of the Saanich peninsula which reported a total of five inches today and the Malahat which received another two inches.

WINTER STARTS

Winter, incidentally, officially began at 11:50 a.m. when the sun reached its farthest point south of the equator.

Today is the shortest day of the year. The sun rose at 8:03 a.m. and sunset was scheduled for 4:21 p.m.

Today's wet snowstorm was caused by moist air from the Pacific bound for the U.S. coast. As it passed over, cooler air was drawn down from the north.

This is expected to continue and temperatures for tonight and Tuesday are forecast to range between 33 and 42 degrees.

GALE-FORCE

Winds will come from the east with gusts up to a gale-force 35 m.p.h.

Road conditions here were regarded as treacherous over the weekend as melting snow glazed pavement on local streets when it re-froze.

Greater Victoria police departments reported 35 minor accidents, mostly due to slipping.

Small Miracles
Brighten Season

By MARGE GILROY

Miracles still happen. And there is probably one woman who has witnessed more miracles than any other single person.

She is Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

On a recent visit here she referred to the rebirth of Europe through the Marshall Plan, the economic expansion of Europe through the Common Market, the Far Eastern revolution in Japan and the improved living standards in India in spite of an increasing number of new mouths to feed each year, all as miracles.

But the miracles were not all of this magnitude.

Another centred around a two-wheeled wooden cart.

A man and a wife in Korea were unemployed. They had no money and no hope of ever earning any money to buy food for their family. In fact they had no hope at all, until one day the USC bought them an ordinary wooden cart.

SELL COAL

Today they push the cart through the streets from dawn to dusk, selling brown coal to those who can afford it. They are earning a living. They are eating, and they have hope.

BULLETINS

Seeks Ouster

EDMONTON (CP)—A retired Edmonton surgeon launched action today to remove Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton from office, claiming the mayor has disqualified himself from office under terms of the City Act.

Dr. Roy L. Anderson filed affidavits in Supreme Court supporting his claim.

'Hustler' Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Edward Manso, 22, was sentenced to four years Monday when he admitted he had helped two men flee from Canada following a $17,116 bank holdup.

Man Committed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 27-year-old man who threatened to kill Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Magistrate Les Bewley of Vancouver was committed to the provincial mental hospital at Essondale today.

The man was arrested in a South Vancouver apartment after making telephone calls to police and a radio station.

$500,000 HAUL

Bandits Raid
Armored Car

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—Three bandits wearing Halloween masks tied up three priests in a church rectory today and then took more than $500,000 from a bank armored truck that stopped to pick up Sunday collections.

It took just about 15 minutes for fast moving bandits to execute the holdup.

F. Raymond Peterson, board chairman of the First National Bank of Passaic County, said $511,000 was taken from the truck and $1,100 from a safe in the rectory.

The robbery, completed minutes before a funeral mass was to begin in the huge church, was pulled off with all the daring of the 1950 Brink's Robbery in Boston in which $12 million in cash was taken and the 1962 Plymouth, Mass., robbery of a mail truck which netted $15 million.

DOUBLE LOAD
A bank spokesman said the amount taken today was about twice as much as the truck normally carries. He said this was because of the short work week brought on by the Christmas holidays, thus necessitating earlier deliveries to branch banks.

The spokesman said the truck had left the bank's main office en route to make three church pickups and three cash deliveries to branch banks.

"The truck makes different runs, at different times to avoid just something like this. But apparently somebody had been pretty smart in this thing," the spokesman said.

The stop at the rectory of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church was the first of the day. It was just 1½ miles from the bank.

A priest in an upstairs room of the rectory said he heard a fellow clergyman screaming while the robbery was in progress, but paid no attention because "I thought he was fooling... he's always singing out loud."

Tot Tests
Car Skill;
Two Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Robert Brooks, 32, was proud of his seven-year-old son's ability to drive a car.

On Sunday, therefore, he took the rest of his family to the Hialeah Race Track parking lot to watch the boy demonstrate. Police Sgt. Robert Frost said.

The boy, whose name was withheld, was driving around the huge parking lot when the car picked up speed sharply, apparently spun out of control and headed toward Brooks and his eight-year-old daughter, Deborah, Frost said.

Brooks jumped toward Deborah, apparently trying to knock her out of the car's path. He was too late.

Carrying Cargo
From Vancouver

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Liberian freighter bound from Vancouver to Japan with 32 men aboard has run aground and all aboard are feared to have perished.

The U.S. Coast Guard station here said today a U.S. Navy plane from Adak sighted the "badly battered" freighter aground on Ulak Island, about 120 miles west of Adak in the Aleutians.

There was no sign of survivors, the aircraft reported during the flight over the smashed ship.

The ship was identified as the San Patrick, a 251-foot converted tanker registered to Minor Investment Company of Liberia. She was carrying a load of wheat and cattle feed to Yokohama.

Winds of 30 to 40 knots and heavy rains lashed the area, kicking up waves 20 to 30 feet tall.

THREE DISTRESS CALLS

The coast guard said the ship sent three SOS calls, the first picked up at 10:40 p.m. PST Thursday.

The call was also heard by a Japanese ore carrier, the Petsoho Maru, which radioed she was in the area and en route to the scene.

The San Patrick reported she was "grounded by the bow" and gave her position as off Amatignak Island, approximately 12 miles south-southwest of Ulak.

The navy search plane located the San Patrick at 2 p.m. Sunday. Despite the high seas and limited visibility, surface and aircraft searched the area principally to the northwest of Ulak, where the lifeboats could have been carried by the seas and wind.

The group of islands around Ulak were scanned but no signs of life were found.

The San Patrick carried four lifeboats, one powered.

(The 10,702-ton vessel arrived off Victoria Dec. 9 to drop pilot and proceeded on her ill-fated voyage.)

Three Ride
Battered
U.S. Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—A cracked and imperilled American freighter wallowed helplessly in the stormy Atlantic today, with the captain and two crew members still aboard.

The 7,600-ton freighter, the Smith Voyager, was listing to starboard at about 35 degrees.

Except for the master, Capt. Frederick W. Mohle, 58, and the other two men, the crew abandoned her Sunday. Another ship picked up 34 men, and bodies of four others who died in the operation.

One man, of the crew of the was unaccounted for.

The rescue ship, the German freighter Mathilde Bolm, steamed toward Puerto Rico reporting that some of the survivors urgently needed medical care.

Meanwhile, the 311-foot coast guard cutter Rockaway radioed that it had reached the stricken vessel, cracked amidships and drifting without power about 780 miles east southeast of Bermuda.

The cutter radioed, "standing by for improvement in the sea with plans to put aboard boarding party if feasible."

High winds and waves of 15 to 20 feet blocked any direct contact with the crippled vessel.

THREE STILL ABOARD

However, signals determined that the three men still were aboard the ship.

There was no radio communication with them.

As to why the captain, a New York veteran of 40 years at sea, had stayed aboard, along with the two others, at the time of the abandon ship, there was no definite explanation.

GUTTY SWEDE WINS . . .

He's a Creampuff Champ, But Unbeaten at Eatin'

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — A local "world champion" was crowned here Sunday after a savage scrap in the ancient and manly Nordic art of feasting on outside holiday meals.

The battle of gluttons at a Goteborg restaurant was fought out by two reputed local gourmands.

The young challenger, Ake Eriksson, 33, stayed at a consumption of 8.90 pounds.

The combatants were weighed before and after the siege of the smorgasbord, under supervision of the Goteborg Professional Eating Commission. Champion Cedehock, weighed in at 233.20 pounds, while the challenger registered 229.68.

The bout lasted two hours, until defending champion Cedehock felled his opponent for a TKO with 2½ ounces of pastepuffs and jam.

As the bell went for round five, the challenger stayed in his corner complaining about stomach pains. Both fighters had passed the 8½ - pound mark.

But the eating game is a tough business and valiant Eriksson ground his teeth and decided to hang on, weakly taking some coffee. The champion saw the opening and moved in for the kill. He delivered a decisive blow by ordering pastepuff twists with jam with his coffee. The challenger turned green and crumpled before this unbeatable combination.

Following is an abbreviated list of the main courses:

Four different kinds of herring (one with mustard); rolled ox meat; salted salmon; smoked eel; halibut; matured raw in the earth; fish mayonnaise; smoked whitefish; whitefish roe eggs; smoked reindeer steak; lightly

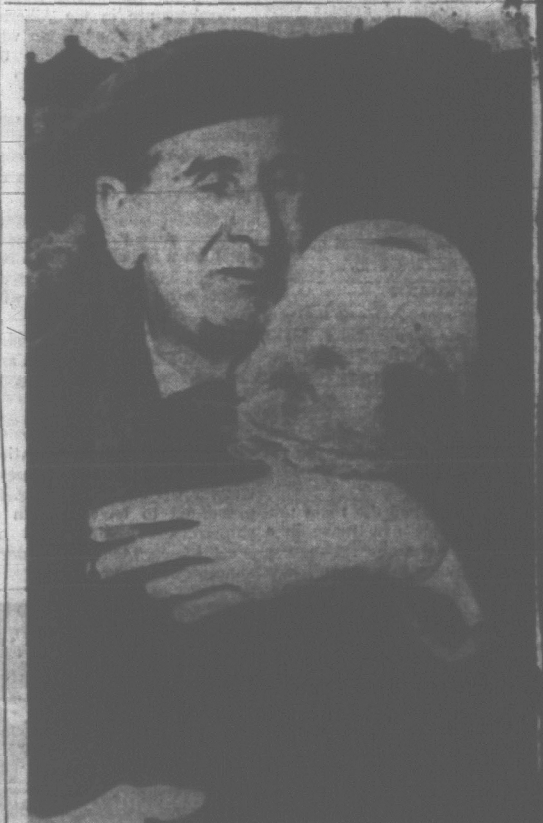

salted spareribs; pork back stuffed with plums; smoked pork loin; cured ham; salted pig's head; pressed calf's brain; baked liverpaste; aspic of shrimps; cold roast beef; German liverwurst; herring salad; cold duck; cold tukey; wood grouse; woodcock; galantine of cock; cold ox fillet; baked game pie; cold reindeer back; chicken chaudiroid; stuffed goose; cold creamed turbot; cold rolls of brill; cold salmon; jellyed trout; mousse of lobster; gratin of herring; "Jansson's temptation" (very salty anchovies with fine-cut potatoes, oven-baked); salmon pudding; "minced lindstrom" (small ham burgers with chopped beets); bread dipped in hot grease; sausage pie; kidney saute; small cocktail sausages with scrambled eggs; meatballs; red cabbage; assorted cheeses and fruits; raisins and nuts.

Seems a lot o' folks will be glad t' drink in th' beauty in McPherson Theatre but not t' drink in th' theatre.
Tain't snow, tain't rain, tain't ours.
If you're driven t' drink, don't drive away from it.

36 Killed As Trains Hit in Fog

VILLAH ERMOSA, Mexico (AP)—A speeding freight train rammed into the back of a halted passenger train in dense fog near here Sunday, killing 36 persons and injuring 75. Three of the injured were American tourists.

Nils Werner of Alhambra, Calif., was reported in critical condition. His right arm had been amputated and he was in danger of losing a leg.

The accident occurred at the mountain village of Tacotalpa, 45 miles south of this capital of Tabasco State in southeastern Mexico. The area is about 600 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Authorities blamed the wreck on the fog and lack of attention on the part of the engineer of the freight train. A member of the freight train crew said the engineer had apparently been dozing and did not see the stopped train until too late. The engineer fled from the scene.

U.S. SHIP

The 459-foot freighter, carrying 10,000 tons of grain, was bound from The Bahamas to Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, when slipping cargo burst her seams.

The break in No. 4 hold, just aft the midship deckhouse, was reported to be taking water, and causing the extreme list in the ship. Her decks were awash.

Her main steam joint also was broken, leaving her without power.

As to whether she would sink, a coast guard spokesman said, "It's hard to say. She's been afloat for 24 hours now."

Four of the survivors taken aboard the German ship were reported injured. Extent of the injuries was not learned. The Mathilde Bolten has no doctor aboard.

Through a vast computer system which keeps track of ships at sea and their complements, the coast guard was attempting to find one with a doctor and set up a rendezvous with the Mathilde Bolten. The latter was expected to reach San Juan by Wednesday evening.

Seas in the area were reported at up to 15 feet with winds at 25 to 30 knots.

The Norwegian vessel Hoegh Fulmar, out of Oslo, stood by the crippled freighter awaiting the cutter Rockaway.

Spring Start Planned For Cowichan Hospital

DUNCAN — Claude Green, chairman of the Cowichan and District Hospital Association, said Saturday it is hoped to start building the new $3,650,000 hospital here in the spring.

Authority to call for tenders was granted Thursday Mr. Green told the annual banquet. He said bids would be in by the end of February.

After that they would be checked by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service before the health minister gave the local board permission to award the contract.

Referring to delays in granting authority to call for tenders, Mr. Green stated: "When we heard last week Health Minister Martin was on vacation we thought we were going to get the run-around again."

SAME NAME

Veteran board member Steve Dougan, Cobble Hill, made a plea for the retention of the name King's Daughters' in the title of the new hospital.

H. J. Bruch, MLA for Esquimalt, said he believed the government had come to recognize there must be some dispersal of hospitals outside the big centres. About the Cowichan appeal for authority to include a chronic care unit at the new hospital, Mr. Bruch said: "You may yet set a lead in this direction."

Remember when Bonded Stock came in that plain old bottle?

Well it doesn't anymore. That fine old bottle has launched its last sip. We've designed a new container for Gooderham's Bonded Stock. Tall and refined with classic lines. (Our whisky's now in the best shape ever). And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. To make every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though, Bonded Stock's smooth lightness won't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock Whisky, so does the rest of the country.

Gooderham's have been distilling fine whiskies since 1832.
